Believe Cigarette Caused Fatal Fire For Jack Cassidy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A smoldering cigarette may have sparked the fire that killed actor-singer Jack Cassidy, sweeping his penthouse apartment after a party and charring his body beyond recognition, a fire official says.

The body was discovered early Sunday in the West Hollywood apartment belonging to the dimpled, silver-haired performer. It was several hours before the coroner's office said that dental charts had confirmed the victim was Cassidy, 49, father of one-time teenage singing idol David Cassidy and ex-husband of actress-singer Shirley Jones.

An autopsy was scheduled for today, but the spokesman said there was no evidence to indicate anything but an accidental death.

Investigators said his fourth-floor apartment was littered with cigarette butts apparently left from a Saturday night party.

County Fire Department Battalion Chief Rod Smith said Cassidy was known to be a heavy smoker and said that the fire might have started from an unextinguished cigarette.

Sheriff's Deputy Stuart Heller, 28, who was trying to evacuate other residents from the apartment complex, was overcome by smoke and was reported in serious condition at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center.

Cassidy, a singer, comedian and dramatic actor, starred on Broadway and in movies and made frequent television appearances. Most recently, he played John Barrymore in the movie "W.C. Fields and Me." In 1964, he won a Tony Award for his performance in the Broadway musical "She Loves Me." Television specials in which he appeared included "The Andersonville Trial," "The Boston Spy Party," "High Button Shoes" and "George M."

David Cassidy, who starred in the television series "The Partridge Family," was his son by actress Evelyn Ward. Jack Cassidy later married and had three children by actress Shirley Jones, who also starred in the series. Their marriage ended in divorce in 1973.

Born in New York City, Cassidy sang as a youth and made his Broadway debut at 16 in the musical "Something for the Boys."

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Says the law: "No person will park a vehicle on public property in a place not normally used for parking." So there it was — a $2 parking ticket, signed by Police Officer No. 118, on the window of a display-model Toyota in the lobby of the Anchorage Westward Hotel. Toyota dealer Richard Silberer called the police to ask whether the hotel lobby was public property or private property to which the public had access. Told the ticket was valid, he became resigned to paying it. "It's only a $2 ticket," he said. "I'm going to pay the fine, take the ticket and frame it." But Police Chief Charles Anderson, who was not amused, had a different view. "The ticket was issued for a joke which has turned sour," he said. "It's been cancelled out. The man doesn't have to pay." Whether Officer 118 will have to pay had not been determined.

Suspected Slayer Found In Florida

Gregory J. Teron, Jr., arrested Friday in Florida on state and federal charges involving stolen property, today was charged with open murder in the October death of Mrs. Norma Granzow MASHAM, Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka announced.

Teron, 23, who had lived at the Fairplain home of the 73-year-old woman before her death, was taken into custody by FBI agents from the Miami, Fla., office Friday afternoon following what Smietanka termed "a nationwide search."

The prosecutor said authorities would learn today whether Teron would waive or fight extradition for his return to Michigan. If Teron waives extradition, he would be returned to Berrien county "in a few days," Smietanka said.

Mrs. MASHAM, a widow and well-known music teacher, died, of strangulation, according to an autopsy report. St. Joseph township police on Oct. 24 found her nude body tied to a bed when they entered her house at 232 Bradford drive after neighbors reported she had not been seen for several days. Smietanka this morning said the date of death has been established as Oct. 17.

Smietanka previously said Teron was a roomer at Mrs. MASHAM's home just prior to her death. Special Agent Dean Phelps of the FBI office in Benton Harbor said Teron most recently has been living in a private residence in Miami with an elderly woman.

Phelps said Teron was arrested Friday at a station in Miami where he had been working, after the Miami office of the FBI received a tip on Teron's whereabouts. Phelps indicated Teron offered no resistance when taken into custody.

He was arrested on a Michigan warrant charging receiving and concealing stolen property — a 1976 Mustang II allegedly stolen from California and found at Mrs. MASHAM's home — and a federal warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution on the state charge.

The murder warrant was authorized by Smietanka and signed by Berrien District Judge Ronald J. Taylor. Smietanka said the receiving and concealing charge will still be pending against Teron "but it will take a back seat to the murder charge."

"Parts of the evidence we cannot comment on," Smietanka said, but he noted Teron was a roomer at Mrs. MASHAM's house up until one week before the body was discovered.

He also noted Mrs. MASHAM was strangled with electrical wire wrapped around her neck.

He said there are "indications some money was missing from Mrs. MASHAM's home" but he declined to say how much. He said no motive has been established for her murder.

Smietanka said Mrs. MASHAM's 1976 Cutlass automobile, missing since her death was located in Miami at

Scent Of A Tree Thief

SOMERVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Potential tree thieves beware, there's going to be a real stink if you chop down a tree in Somerset County to decorate in your home at Christmas. Louis Nickolopoulos, chief of the county park police, said all the trees have been sprayed with deer repellent. The repellent can't be detected by humans in the open air, said Rudolf van der Goot, the county's senior horticulturist, but when the tree is brought into the house, "It stinks."

Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka said this morning he "probably will" attempt to have 15-year-old David Figlus stand trial in adult court in connection with the stabbing death Friday of Dona Armstrong, of St. Joseph.

Smietanka said he will decide later this week whether to file a petition seeking waiver of Figlus from juvenile to circuit court. Once a petition is filed, the decision to waive jurisdiction must be made by a juvenile judge.

Charles J. Kehoe, director of Berrien juvenile court services, said Sunday that juvenile court arraignment may be held tomorrow or Wednesday. Kehoe said Lloyd Williams, chief referee for juvenile court, petitioned Figlus to juvenile court Saturday afternoon on an open charge of murder. Williams ordered Figlus held without bond in the juvenile detention center, Berrien Center, pending arraignment, Kehoe said.

Funeral services were held at St. Joseph Catholic church this morning for Miss Armstrong, who lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Armstrong, 1209 Lane drive, St. Joseph. She was a nurses' assistant at Memorial hospital.

The body of Miss Armstrong was discovered in her bedroom at 12:50 p.m. Friday, by a sister, Mrs. Paula Howard of Kalamazoo, who came to the home.

St. Joseph Det. Lt. William Mihalik said Sunday an autopsy performed by Dr. Charles Boonstra, assistant medical examiner, indicated that death occurred about four or five hours before the body was discovered. Mihalik said the autopsy showed death was from multiple stab wounds in the heart, aorta and lung. Mihalik said there were a total of 32 stab wounds, including 26 about the left breast area and six about the neck.

Figlus became a suspect when it was learned he stayed overnight at the Armstrong home and had skin breaks on his hands Friday, police said earlier. Figlus stayed as a guest and friend of Gregg Armstrong, 15, brother of Miss Armstrong. Both youths are sophomores at St. Joseph high school. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong had left by plane Thursday for a vacation trip to Las Vegas. They were notified of the tragedy on their arrival in Las Vegas and returned to St. Joseph.

Mihalik said Sunday the two youths left the Armstrong home for school at 7:10 a.m. Friday, but parted ways soon afterward and did not walk to classes together. Mihalik said Figlus reportedly said he wanted to go to his home at 912 Botham avenue, before continuing to

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Famous Names Set Famous Prices

Muhammad Ali, nee Cassius Clay, lays claim with considerable foundation to being the world's greatest fighter, past or present.

Unquestionably he's the fastest rhymster to appear on the scene in a long time.

If he pulls off a sale of an 80-acre estate at Berrien Springs overlooking the St. Joseph river for a million more than he paid for the property, he should quit the ring and go into the real estate business.

In fact he has been saying and then reversing himself for the past few months that he would retire a winner and devote himself either to the movies or to a ministry in the Muslim faith.

The other night at Louisville he snapped at a reporters' gathering he thinks one more fight for a $10 million gate is in order.

Ali and his wife are having divorce troubles and seemingly she has her hooks into him for a $2 million property settlement.

This is a sizeable hunk of change to fork over even when the one delivering the cash has won a number of multi-million purses.

Expenses are heavy and the Internal Revenue Service is ever present to pin a 70 per cent income tax rap on the receipts.

Having been badly burned in failing to collect when Joe Louis dominated the ring three decade ago, the IRS is more vigilant these days in keeping tabs on entertainment celebrities. The Service makes it a point to make hay as the sun shines on those hefty gate producers.

Between the divorce settlement and an announced plan to pick up a $3.5 million pad at Houston, Texas, another fight and unloading the Berrien Springs property have an obvious appeal to Ali.

He bought the estate 13 months ago from Myron Hecht for something around $400,000, but never settled into it by way of any kind of a residency.

Jim Kovach, the local realtor handling the deal for Ali, quite correctly points out it is not just another hunk of ground graced by extensive buildings.

"The price ($1,450,000) includes the fact it belongs to Muhammad Ali," he told our reporter.

We wish Jim luck because a 7 per cent commission on that sale will buy a lot of Christmas presents.

Big question: will Ali's signature on the deed inveigle nearly $1.5 million from the purchaser?

All things are possible, but the experience with two famous name properties around here says Ali might have to settle for less.

The Berrien Springs estate was an attraction before Ali was born.

The late Louis (Little New York) Campagna, an Al Capone associate, put it together nearly 50 years ago.

Only the dead gangsters surviving relatives or close friends know what he spent on the place, but it's fair guess that $50,000 did the trick.

Admittedly, the 1926 dollar bought more than its 1976 counterpart, but Campagna's ownership by itself never lifted the price tag to successor buyers. It went up from one transaction to the next because of its riverfront location and the decline in the dollar's purchasing power.

Another Capone associate, Phil D'Andrea, took up part time residency in St. Joseph across the ravine from where Memorial Hospital now stands, about the time Campagna graced Berrien Springs with his presence.

Phil erected a huge brick mansion finished off inside with about as much marble as can be found in Crystal Springs cemetery. He stationed it on what in a city dweller's terms would be regarded as acreage.

Again, cost figures are not known outside the D'Andrea entourage, but $50,000 seems a reasonable guess.

He pedaled it in 1941 to the late Carl E. Schultz for $18,000 who in the 1950s sold off lots carved out of the extensive land area at an average clip of half what he paid for the whole parcel.

What the marble house subsequently sold for, we do not know, though the hunch is the figure could be regarded as respectable.

Once again, though, it was not the D'Andrea label that moved the merchandise.

It was St. Joseph's attraction as a residential community and the dollar's dwindling value.

There are fans who will pay $100 or more to watch Ali demolish the opposition, but it's hard to believe somebody would shell out $1,450,000 for an establishment which a professional appraiser set down at $630,000 four months prior to Ali picking it up for $400,000.

Not even a George Washington or Abe Lincoln autograph brings that kind of money.

Yet who knows?

There just can be somebody out yonder who prizes Ali's signature beyond comparison.

East Germans Put Cash Price On Liberty

but political refugees leaving their homeland for a new life in the West.

They also will become the latest installment in the 15-year program by the West Germans to ransom prisoners, dissidents and others who have proved troublesome to East German authorities. In those 15 years, the West Germans have passed about $250 million — mostly in food and other goods hard to find in the communist zone — in exchange for East German prisoners.

This exchange apparently is picking up as the East Germans attempt to cool seething discontent within their borders by shipping more of their dissidents to the West, for a price. The going rate has been raised this year to $20,000 a head.

In the last two years Bonn has averaged about $42 million each year in its humanitarian effort. This year's total is expected to be considerably higher. The exchange is a pathetic one, marked by humanitarian concern on the free side of the border and callousness beyond description on the communist side.

It also serves as a refutation to those who pretend East Germany is only a few steps behind its western counterpart in human progress.

EDITOR'S MAILBAG

SAYS WRONG PEOPLE BEING PUT IN JAIL

Editor,
Seems they're still putting the wrong people in jail in this country, and for all the wrong reasons.

Rob a bank anywhere in America and you can get from 20 years to life, plus you don't get to keep the money. Come out of prison in 20 years and you can't vote, have a difficult time getting a job, and have to face the admonishments of the community. Ex-cons are not thought of highly.

Some men make a mistake, are convicted of a crime and go through treatments in mental hospitals, besides being institutionalized for a number of years. Politicians can get "caught-up" and take overdoes and the law says "Sir, can we speak to you of a few matters?"

Matters? How come they're "mistakes" for red-necks (on collars), and "matters" to white and blue collar criminals? Seems in a society based on property and gains, the most serious offense, dealt to ending a life of wealth, is ending wealth itself. How many businessmen went to prison in '76? I've been in a prison and haven't seen any. Perhaps the prisons and law are to protect the rich? I've only seen poor people, unfortunate, or just plain crooks! ((No separation system))

How about the more important felonies being exposed, and everyone involved lucked out or got off? Watergate was the first brought to the open and its "third rate burglars" are right now back on the street. The government showed thousands how many led to evasion of punishment. Men who quite consciously tried to eliminate what freedom of choice that existed in this country. (Meanwhile they're back with the pack).

Where is the psychological evaluation and so-called rehabilitation process for the people who actively subverted the workings of surrounding government in this country? What assurance do I have they aren't up to the same shenanigans right now? under a different, more serious technique.

If crime is to be punished, let us have even-handed justice. What is unarmed robbery next to a reciprocal agreement which nets one man a million dollars and an industry for more price increases — and costs every person in the country money out of his/her pocket? What is kidnapping compared to the press-gang of every individual's rights? Whenever is manslaughter compared and balanced against actions which encourage wholesale disregard for life and lean toward fascism? Is punishment really being dictated to fit the crime? What would a $20,000 fine for a felony be to Gulf Oil's sandwich money?

The white collars have been punished as being thrown from the ball park for a few months, told "never do that again" (but, perhaps he earns a fraction of the salary and says — watch your cover-up). Some aren't as lucky? They serve a few months in a minimum security country club!

In conclusion, what same! What demands for penitence! Does crime pay? Would it be permissible for me to hound white and blue collar criminals' history as they have mine and see for myself? I don't know how to abuse power. (because I've never had it), and could not be trusted with it now.

So let all "white and blue" collar criminals be dealt with sanely (as red necks who fail in survival from their results) Let them rot in prison — give them life in prison or death as they would like to face-up on this country.

Is Life Slipping Away From Us?

BALTIMORE — The most bizarre aspect of the depressing Gary Gilmore affair is not the killer himself but those multitudes who have all along wished for the killer to be killed. They include the scores who have from the beginning expressed a desire to be on the firing squad, and the array of ordinary men and women who have told pollsters of their ghoulish versions of justice.

There thus has been a lesson in the convict's macabre theater. It has reminded us of what the social chroniclers have said is our failing reverence for life. Once we sanctified existence, even held this as the greatest of our virtues; now, perhaps because we are overcrowded with one another, the society is changing its outlook.

Nowhere is the change more obvious, and pronounced, than in a small portion of the Maryland medical industry known as the Institute for Emergency Medicine. It is a shock-trauma facility which, under the law, approaches the question of life-death with a near surrealistic detachment. Its mission is to save people's lives, but "where necessary" it sometimes serves to take the lives instead.

The state of Maryland considers a person to be legally dead if the brain has ceased totally to function for a period of 24 hours. Hence in such circumstances doctors at the institute are allowed to withdraw life support systems from their patients. Normally the physicians consult with relatives of the subject, other times this is impossible. In a sense, then, euthanasia here has become common practice.

The doctors who work at emergency medicine say that their responsibilities in these matters sound far more frightening than they are. They explain that the shock-trauma unit receives only the worst of emergency patients, those whom under ordinary circumstances have only hours to live. And so when all the wonders of science fail to revive the victims, the allowance of death is humane.

Such is the rationale of the moment. And not only among physicians wrestling with the morality of euthanasia. Abortionists are others who believe that the prevention of existence is merciful in that it is concerned with the right of women to be in control of themselves. And too, those who favor capital punishment feel philanthropic because they are interested in the safety of the vulnerable community.

Even suicide is no longer considered with negative certainty. Books have been written which suggest that under certain conditions people should not only have the right to take their own lives (it is technically illegal), but may have a responsibility to do so. For instance, a desperately sick person who becomes a financial burden to his family, it's now said suicide may be the most honorable relief.

On trouble with this somber trend is, that in motion, it has often moved beyond the limits of serious discussion and into the grip of ghastly excess. A Florida state legislator, as example, has tried to create a law in that state which would authorize the extermination of people — such as the retarded — who do not live in a productive manner. Shamelessly, the legislator argues that the business would not only be humane, but would save billions in public assistance.

And then there is the district attorney of Gwinnett County in Georgia. His state has executed more people than any other in modern times — more than 400 since the 1920's — but the Gwinnett D.A. lobbies for even larger numbers by wearing a gold-plated hangman's noose on his lapel. At that he is not alone in his sentiment; when a Virginia legislator recently and bemusedly suggested return of the public gallows he was besieged with support from those thinking him serious.

Life no longer seems to be lost merely by dying. It is slipping away from us, perhaps little by little, in a thousand awful ways.

Reforming The Campaign Reform

WASHINGTON — Outgoing Democratic National Committee Chairman Robert Strauss was asked recently how he felt the new Federal campaign finance law had worked during the presidential election.

"I'd give it a C-plus," he replied. Most political leaders would grade the reform higher than that, since it produced what was probably the most financially honest campaign in American history. But all of them also seem to agree that the law could stand some adjustments here and there.

One of the first battles of the new Congress will be over changes to strengthen the great experiment which for the first time financed presidential candidates with public funds and placed a ceiling on their expenses.

There have been no calls to do away with the basic thrust of the new system, which vastly reduced the influence of rich individual givers and special interest groups and brought campaign spending patterns under close public scrutiny. Richard Nixon was the last presidential candidate who could throw millions around willy-nilly for political purposes.

But Vice President-elect Walter Mondale and others since the election have complained that the $1,000 limit on individual contributions which presidential candidates are allowed to accept during the primaries are too restrictive. They have proposed that the ceiling be lifted, perhaps as high as $5,000, arguing that amount is still too small to make any candidate feel blindly obligated to his contributors.

There is also pressure to increase the presidential spending limit in the general election, during which the candidates can take no private money. President Ford and Jimmy Carter were allowed to spend $21.8 million this year.

That tight budget prevented the candidates from paying very many volunteers and from purchasing political paraphernalia such as buttons and other obvious campaign symbols like store fronts, which stimulate public participation. The campaign was almost invisible on the streets this year, which increased television's already dangerously heavy influence.

But some politicians think a more expensive presidential campaign is not really necessary and point out that both Ford and Carter seemed able to reach the voters adequately. These professionals believe the voters were actually relieved to have the traditional political assault upon their senses somewhat subdued.

The most controversial proposal to change the law would expand public subsidies to include Senate and House candidates, conditional on accepting spending limits. Rep. Morris Udall (D-Ariz.) has already begun soliciting support for such a move. But Republicans have objected that this would increase the built-in advantage of incumbents, more than 95 per cent of whom won reelection this year, and guarantee continued huge Democratic majorities.

Famous Names Set Famous Prices

Muhammad Ali, nee Cassius Clay, lays claim with considerable foundation to being the world's greatest fighter, past or present.

Unquestionably he's the fastest rhymster to appear on the scene in a long time.

If he pulls off a sale of an 80-acre estate at Berrien Springs overlooking the St. Joseph river for a million more than he paid for the property, he should quit the ring and go into the real estate business.

In fact he has been saying and then reversing himself for the past few months that he would retire a winner and devote himself either to the movies or to a ministry in the Muslim faith.

The other night at Louisville he snapped at a reporters' gathering he thinks one more fight for a $10 million gate is in order.

Ali and his wife are having divorce troubles and seemingly she has her hooks into him for a $2 million property settlement.

This is a sizeable hunk of change to fork over even when the one delivering the cash has won a number of multi-million purses.

Expenses are heavy and the Internal Revenue Service is ever present to pin a 70 per cent income tax rap on the receipts.

Having been badly loused in failing to collect when Joe Louis dominated the ring three decade ago, the IRS is more vigilant these days in keeping tabs on entertainment celebrities. The Service makes it a point to make hay as the sun shines on those hefty gate producers.

Between the divorce settlement and an announced plan to pick up a $3.5 million pad at Houston, Texas, another fight and unloading the Berrien Springs property have an obvious appeal to Ali.

He bought the estate 13 months ago from Myron Hecht for something around $400,000, but never settled into it by way of any kind of a residency.

Jim Kovach, the local realtor handling the deal for Ali, quite correctly points out it is not just another hunk of ground graced by extensive buildings.

"The price ($1,450,000) includes the fact it belongs to Muhammad Ali," he told our reporter.

We wish Jim luck because a 7 per cent commission on that sale will buy a lot of Christmas presents.

East Germans Put Cash Price On Liberty

Sometime before Christmas, busloads of East German citizens will cross into West Germany at the border station at Herlshausen near Eisenach. They will not be tourists, but political refugees leaving their homeland for a new life in the West.

They also will become the latest installment in the 15-year program by the West Germans to ransom prisoners, dissidents and others who have proved troublesome to East German authorities. In those 15 years, the West Germans have passed about $250 million — mostly in food and other goods hard to find in the communist zone — in exchange for East German prisoners.

This exchange apparently is picking up as the East Germans attempt to cool seething discontent within their borders by shipping more of their dissidents to the West, for a price. The going rate has been raised this year to $20,000 a head.

In the last two years Bonn has averaged about $42 million each year in its humanitarian effort. This year's total is expected to be considerably higher. The exchange is a pathetic one, marked by humanitarian concern on the free side of the border and callousness beyond description on the communist side.

It also serves as a refutation to those who pretend East Germany is only a few steps behind its western counterpart in human progress.

SAYS WRONG PEOPLE BEING PUT IN JAIL

Editor,

Seems they're still putting the wrong people in jail in this country, and for all the wrong reasons.

Rob a bank anywhere in America and you can get from 20 years to life, plus you don't get to keep the money. Come out of prison in 20 years and you can't vote, have a difficult time getting a job, and have to face the admonishments of the community. Ex-cons are not thought of highly.

Some men make a mistake, are convicted of a crime and go through treatments in mental hospitals, besides being institutionalized for a number of years. Politicians can get "caught-up" and take overdoes and the law says "Sir, can we speak to you of a few matters?" Matters? How come they're "mistakes" for red-necks (on collars), and "matters" to white and blue collar criminals? Seems in a society based on property and gains, the most serious offense, dealing to ending a life of wealth, is ending wealth itself. How many businessmen went to prison in '76? I've been in a prison and haven't seen any. Perhaps the prisons and law are to protect the rich? I've only seen poor people, unfortunate, or just plain crooks! (No separation system)

How about the more important felonies being exposed, and everyone involved looked out or got off? Watergate was the first brought to the open and its "third rate burglars" are right now back on the street. The government showed thousands how many led to evasion of punishment. Men who quite consciously tried to eliminate what freedom of choice that existed in this country. (Meanwhile they're back with the pack).

Where is the psychological evaluation and so-called rehabilitation process for the people who actively subverted the workings of surrounding government in this country? What assurance do I have they aren't up to the same shenanigans right now? Under a different, more serious technique.

If crime is to be punished, let us have even-handed justice. What is unarmed robbery next to a reciprocal agreement which nets one man a million dollars and an industry for more price increases — and costs every person in the country money out of his/her pocket? What is kidnapping compared to the press-gang of every individual's rights? Whenever is manslaughter compared and balanced against actions which encourage wholesale disregard for life and lean toward fascism? Is punishment really being dictated to fit the crime? What would a $20,000 fine for a felony be to Gulf Oil's sandwich money?

The white collars have been punished as being thrown from the ball park for a few months, told "never do that again" (but, perhaps he earns a fraction of the salary and says — watch your cover-up). Some aren't as lucky? They serve a few months in a minimum security country club!

In conclusion, what same! What demands for penitence! Does crime pay? Would it be permissible for me to hound white and blue collar criminals' history as they have mine and see for myself? I don't know how to abuse power. (because I've never had it), and could not be trusted with it now.

So let all "white and blue" collar criminals be dealt with sanely (as red necks who fail in survival from their results) Let them rot in prison — give them life in prison or death as they would like to face-up on this country.

Issuance of a $6 million bond issue to finance construction of the new campus of Lake Michigan college was authorized by the board of trustees last night. At the same time, the LMC trustees and a group of visitors to the board meeting heard Architect Harry Weese of Chicago report a major re-champing of the building layout is in progress on the drawing boards. The new college buildings will still remain on a "peninsula" jutting into an artificial 20-acre lake, but the placement of the structures will be drawn back from the lake's edge and resituated.

The weekly edition will be continued under its present name. Editor Merchant, in his how-do-you-do-story tomorrow evening, will say that the paper will be independent in politics. L.J. Merchant, who has been engaged in the newspaper business in St. Joseph since January 1870, will have the editorial management of the new paper. L.E. Fewer Ships Today In Winter Berths

By GEORGE VARGO

Just about this time around mid-December, the ships of the Great Lakes end their season; in other words, begin laying up for the winter.

Outdoor winches are covered over, fires are banked, pilothouses covered and other loose material stored below. These are some of the many chores done before the crews start heading for home.

Other than home, many go to Florida, like the birds, flying to warm climes. But the ships stay in ports around different ports tied up to docks and shipyards for repairs after a hard sailing season.

It is not as it used to be, like during World War I when seventy to a hundred ships served as storage for grain, as wheat, rye, barley and screenings. They were anchored or tied up behind the breakwall at Buffalo. Regular storage space was scarce and the Allies were short of food and ships at coastal ports. And it proved to be one of the coldest winter's on record.

Today only a mere 125 much bigger ships are in the American fleet on the lakes, a big difference from when over 500 sailed the lakes before War II. Many sailors manned those ships firemen, coal passers, deckhands.

When the ships laid up on their last trips of the year, a shipkeeper was always left aboard through the winter. It don't matter whether in Chicago, Duluth or Buffalo.

The shipkeeper saw that everything was shipshape and tarps are battened down so the winds would do no damage to them.

Lake ship operators used to

About The Author

EDITOR'S NOTE: George Vargo, 149 Jennings, Benton Harbor, is a former sailor and hobby historian of the Great Lakes. In the accompanying article, he tells about frigid December sailing, past and present.

like to fill their wintering vessels with storage grain if possible since it brought a minor revenue flow. Storage was of two kinds: standby, which is unloaded during the winter at a mill or elevator; and grain that, in the spring, will continue its journey to the St. Lawrence export elevators.

Operators like to winter ships in certain harbors that provide some protection against extremes of weather. They are especially careful in picking berths where ships could be open to strong winds. At least a dozen liners are strung along the wharves to tie up those monster ships.

Insurance costs mount during the winter months. One big windstorm of gale force can raise havoc by loosening a ship in the harbor.

At Duluth one year a number of vessels were torn loose from their moorings. Scraped bottoms sent many to the shipyards for plates and anchors which were lost. Damage ran into the thousands of dollars.

Today a mere handful of ships are scattered around ports in harbors and rivers.

The Canadian fleets are scattered from the St. Lawrence river to Ft. William on Lake Superior with no less than eight ships in port. Toronto is the leading port with over 50 ships tied up for the winter. And most of those ships in Canadian waters hold storage cargo.

Milwaukee holds the most of American ships in port. As high as 22 bulk freighters berthed there together, but in recent years this has dwindled to a dozen or less.

"Ice Toronto" now keeps ships moving in winter. The name sounds like a soft drink or an exotic concoction dreamed up by an imaginative bartender. But Ice Toronto is actually a key link in a valuable service provided by the Canadian Coast Guard and its U.S. counterpart in the Great Lakes.

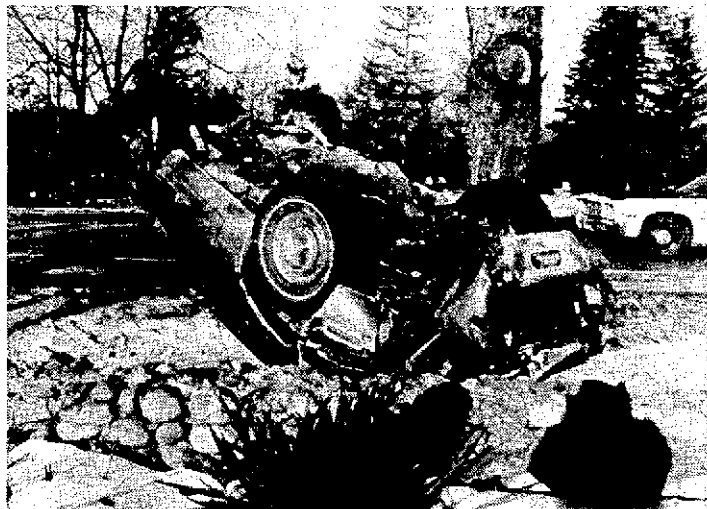

Ice Toronto provides varying degrees of assistance to ships navigating in ice. This assistance ranges from radio of up-to-date information on lake ice conditions to detailed advice on the best routes for ships contending with winter conditions.

A 12-month shipping season would eliminate the need for stockpiling and provide a more even flow of cargo. Studies have shown that locks can be kept open by a bubbler system that slightly heats the water and keeps the ice soft enough for a ship's passage.

Construction of newer and stronger ships, built specially for winter navigation, is another step toward keeping the Seaway and the Great Lakes system open all winter.

Ice Toronto is still something of a mystery. According to Captain John Derry, regional ice operations officer, some owners operating vessels in the Great Lakes do not know that it exists. However, the operation is quickly establishing itself.

What used to get the old crews mad was when the vessel operator wished to operate till after Christmas. The sailors wanted to spend home with loved ones, especially those who had not seen dad in months. While it made the members angry enough to jump ship and call it quits, a bonus would get them to stick it out.

DRIVER ESCAPES: Berrien sheriff's deputies said Robert R. Fodi, 35, Glenshaw, Pa., escaped with cut chin when station wagon he was driving struck tree and stone hedge off South Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph township, about 9:53 a.m. Saturday. Fodi was treated and released from Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, and cited for careless driving. Lt. Ronald Schalton and Deputy Jack Root said Fodi reported he may have fallen asleep. N-Plant Refueling May Boost Bills plant is shut down for reloading on Dec. 23.

Robert Jurgenson, manager of the Cook plant near Bridgman, explained that I&M will have to purchase power from the American Electric Power pool to serve its customers during the seven-week period that plant is shut down to reload the nuclear reactor with uranium dioxide.

"We generate power more cheaply than the rest of the system," Jurgenson said. "Normally, we have to pay more to buy it from the pool than it costs us to generate it."

Any increase would be passed along to customers as a fuel cost adjustment, Jurgenson said.

John Banyon, manager of I&M's Benton Harbor office, said there is no way of telling how much customers' bills will increase "because we don't know now what price we'll have to pay for power we buy."

Banyon also said that because of accounting procedures, any increase would not immediately be reflected on the bills of I&M's customers in southwestern Michigan and northern Indiana.

SJ Firemen Called To School, Hospital

St. Joseph firefighters reported they answered alarms at Lake Michigan Catholic high school and Memorial hospital over the weekend. There was no fire damage in either case.

Firemen said they were called to the high school, 915 Pleasant street, about noon Saturday because of a fire in a boys' restroom on the first floor. A pile of burning toilet tissue in the middle of the floor of the restroom was extinguished. The fire appeared set deliberately and is under investigation, firemen said. The building was closed at the time, and the fire was discovered by a teacher who was inside.

The fire at Memorial hospital, 2811 Morton avenue, was Sunday about 11 p.m. in the laundry room. A large iron for pressing linen caught fire, but flames were extinguished by hospital employees before firemen arrived. Firemen said no one was using the iron at the time of the fire and an investigation into the cause continues.

Nine Donations Boost SJ Fund

"It's a sign people are getting the true spirit of Christmas — the spirit of giving," Santa Claus said after receiving today's nine contributions for $112 for the St. Joseph Area Good Fellow fund.

A total of $1,116.06 has been collected to date with $1,883.94 still to enter the Good Fellow coffers if the goal of $5,000 is to be reached.

An $8 contribution was received from the Webelos Den and Den Leaders of E.P. Clarke school, Pack 607, St. Joseph. Ogata Landscaping, Benton Harbor, joined the mounting list of contributors with a $10 gift.

The St. Joseph Chapter of The Deaf came in with $7.50 and Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Kerhulas, St. Joseph, sent in $5.

Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority sent in $20 and added, "Here's hoping it will make some child's holiday much brighter."

Fruit Belt Post 1137, VFW, sent in $5 and Carolyn Robards contributed $10.

Cub Scout Pack 618, Stewart school, Stevensville, collected $26.50 recently at their annual Christmas party and sent it to the Good Fellow fund. They added, "We know you can put it to good use."

A pretty Christmas card, holiday wishes and a $20 contribution was sent in from The Card Line at Leco Corp. (Christine, Jane, Char, Norma, Beth, Lorine, Lucille and Lillian)

ICE-COVERED SHIP: This is what navigation has been like for decades on the Great Lakes in December. The James H. Hoyt was photographed in the early 1930s in a lock at the Soo on her last trip of the season, downbound with a cargo of wheat.

NOT SO TYPICAL NOW: Fires are banked as two ships are tied to winter quarters in Huron, Ohio. Both ships have been scrapped since this picture was taken in 1931. Such scenes are not nearly as common as they used to be. Great Lakes freighters have grown much larger but far fewer since World War II.

LaSalle Canoeists Still Heading For Twin Cities

By JERRY KRIEGER
Farm and Features Editor
Despite ice and waves on Lake Michigan, the LaSalle Expedition II will stick to its original plans and will come through Berrien county. Growing ice formations on Lake Michigan caused concern whether the 23-member force could canoe on Lake Michigan to St. Joseph. However, the decision was made to canoe to St. Joseph. An alternative would have been for the expedition to divert directly from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

Arrival at New Buffalo is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, and at St. Joseph about 5 p.m. next Sunday.

David Upton, St. Joseph, chairman of a Berrien county welcoming committee, reported the voyageurs were camped on Calumet beach just outside of Gary this morning, and expected to arrive at Crown Point, Ind., later today.

The expedition made a decision to follow its original plans to go from Chicago to St. Joseph via Lake Michigan by canoe while camped at Chicago over the weekend.

In addition to stops in New Buffalo and St. Joseph, the force is scheduled to visit in Berrien Springs on Tuesday, Dec. 21 and in Niles on Wednesday, Dec. 22, on their way up the St. Joseph river.

BH Good Fellow Fund Gets Treat

Santa Claus finished the biggest and best hamburger he had ever had eaten, then took a look at the progress of his Benton Harbor Area Good Fellow fund.

Unlike the temperature, the fund was soaring — all the way to $2,385.17 today. The biggest treat was provided by Henry's Drive-In at Fairplain Plaza which sent a $200 check that St. Nick said was prepared with perfection. "The good folks at Henry's Drive-In are consistent Good Fellows, and they've provided a major boost for the fund to help assure the less fortunate won't go hungry at Christmas," Santa said.

There was a $50 gift from Barentsen Candy Company, headed by former Mayor Lynn Gideon. Barentsen long has been a regular on the Good Fellow roster.

Fruit Belt Post 1137, VFW, gave $5 as today's contributions totaled $255.

False Alarm Diverts Firemen

Benton township firemen said a false alarm cost firefighters about three minutes in reaching a real fire about a mile away in the opposite direction Sunday.

Acting Fire Lt. Steve Knuth said firemen were dispatched to a reported fire on Concord road at 2:31 p.m. They were searching for that fire when the alarm for a real fire was called in for the Robert L. Shelby residence, 2491 Crawford drive.

Knuth said the Crawford drive alarm was turned in at 2:40 p.m. He said a bedroom was completely burned out and the attic roofing and underflooring sustained fire damage. There was also heavy smoke damage throughout the house, he said. No one was injured in the blaze.

Cause of the blaze is undetermined and an investigation is underway today, Knuth said.

Fewer Ships Today In Winter Berths

By GEORGE VARGO

Just about this time around mid-December, the ships of the Great Lakes end their season; in other words, begin laying up for the winter.

Outdoor winches are covered over, fires are banked, pilothouses covered and other loose material stored below. These are some of the many chores done before the crews start heading for home.

Other than home, many go to Florida, like the birds, flying to warm climes. But the ships stay in ports around different ports tied up to docks and shipyards for repairs after a hard sailing season.

It is not as it used to be, like during World War I when seventy to a hundred ships served as storage for grain, as wheat, rye, barley and screenings. They were anchored or tied up behind the breakwall at Buffalo. Regular storage space was scarce and the Allies were short of food and ships at coastal ports. And it proved to be one of the coldest winter's on record.

Today only a mere 125 much bigger ships are in the American fleet on the lakes, a big difference from when over 500 sailed the lakes before War II. Many sailors manned those ships: firemen, coal passers, deckhands.

When the ships laid up on their last trips of the year, a shipkeeper was always left aboard through the winter. It didn't matter whether in Chicago, Duluth or Buffalo.

The shipkeeper saw that everything was shipshape and tarps are battened down so the winds would do no damage to them.

Lake ship operators used to

About The Author

like to fill their wintering vessels with storage grain if possible since it brought a minor revenue flow. Storage was of two kinds: standby, which is unloaded during the winter at a mill or elevator; and grain that, in the spring, will continue its journey to the St. Lawrence export elevators.

Operators like to winter ships in certain harbors that provide some protection against extremes of weather. They are especially careful in picking berths where ships could be open to strong winds. At least a dozen liners are strung along the wharves to tie up those monster ships.

Insurance costs mount during the winter months. One big windstorm of gale force can raise havoc by loosening a ship in the harbor.

At Duluth one year a number of vessels were torn loose from their moorings. Scraped bottoms sent many to the shipyards for plates and anchors which were lost. Damage ran into the thousands of dollars.

Today a mere handful of ships are scattered around ports in harbors and rivers.

The Canadian fleets are scattered from the St. Lawrence river to Ft. William on Lake Superior with no less than eight ships in port. Toronto is the leading port with over 50 ships tied up for the winter. And most of those ships in Canadian waters hold storage cargo.

Milwaukee holds the most of American ships in port. As high as 22 bulk freighters berthed there together, but in recent years this has dwindled to a dozen or less.

"Ice Toronto" now keeps ships moving in winter. The name sounds like a soft drink or an exotic concoction dreamed up by an imaginative bartender. But Ice Toronto is actually a key link in a valuable service provided by the Canadian Coast Guard and its U.S. counterpart in the Great Lakes.

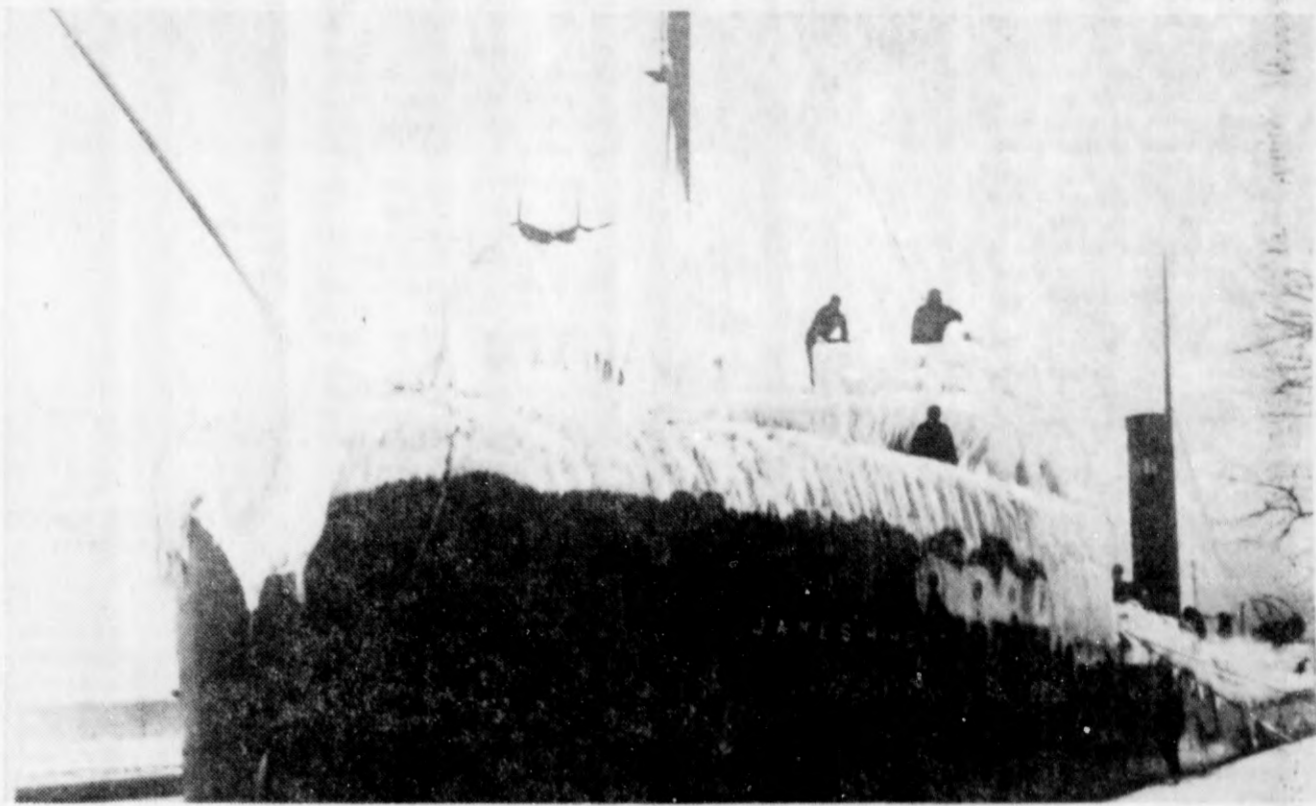

Ice Toronto provides varying degrees of assistance to ships navigating in ice. This assistance ranges from radio of up-to-date information on lake ice conditions to detailed advice on the best routes for ships contending with winter conditions.

A 12-month shipping season would eliminate the need for stockpiling and provide a more even flow of cargo. Studies have shown that locks can be kept open by a bubbler system that slightly heats the water and keeps the ice soft enough for a ship's passage.

Construction of newer and stronger ships, built specially for winter navigation, is another step toward keeping the Seaway and the Great Lakes system open all winter.

Ice Toronto is still something of a mystery. According to Captain John Derry, regional ice operations officer, some owners operating vessels in the Great Lakes do not know that it exists. However, the operation is quickly establishing itself.

What used to get the old crews mad was when the vessel operator wished to operate till after Christmas. The sailors wanted to spend home with loved ones, especially those who had not seen dad in months. While it made the members angry enough to jump ship and call it quits, a bonus would get them to stick it out.

ICE-COVERED SHIP: This is what navigation has been like for decades on the Great Lakes in December. The James H. Hoyt was photographed in the early 1930s in a lock at the Soo on her last trip of the season, downbound with a cargo of wheat.

NOT SO TYPICAL NOW: Fires are banked as two ships are tied to winter quarters in Huron, Ohio. Both ships have been scrapped since this picture was taken in 1931. Such scenes are not nearly as common as they used to be. Great Lakes freighters have grown much larger but far fewer since World War II.

DRIVER ESCAPES: Berrien sheriff's deputies said Robert R. Fodi, 35, Glenshaw, Pa., escaped with cut chin when station wagon he was driving struck tree and stone hedge off South Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph township, about 9:53 a.m. Saturday. Fodi was treated and released from Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, and cited for careless driving. Lt. Ronald Schalon and Deputy Jack Root said Fodi reported he may have fallen asleep. Stonework was broken at home of Edward Woodfin, 3193 South Lake Shore, and mailbox toppled at adjacent property of Warren Sempert, 3215 South Lake Shore. (Photo by Nifodra Krumrie)

N-Plant Refueling May Boost Bills

Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. customers probably will see an increase in the fuel adjustment costs on their bills after the Donald C. Cook nuclear plant is shut down for reloading on Dec. 23.

Robert Jurgenson, manager of the Cook plant near Bridgman, explained that I&M will have to purchase power from the American Electric Power pool to serve its customers during the seven-week period that plant is shut down to reload the nuclear reactor with uranium dioxide.

"We generate power more cheaply than the rest of the system," Jurgenson said. "Normally, we have to pay more to buy it from the pool than it costs us to generate it."

Any increase would be passed along to customers as a fuel cost adjustment, Jurgenson said.

John Banyon, manager of I&M's Benton Harbor office, said there is no way of telling how much customers' bills will increase "because we don't know now what price we'll have to pay for power we buy."

Banyon also said that because of accounting procedures, any increase would not immediately be reflected on the bills of I&M's customers in southwestern Michigan and northern Indiana.

SJ Firemen Called To School, Hospital

St. Joseph firefighters reported they answered alarms at Lake Michigan Catholic high school and Memorial hospital over the weekend. There was no fire damage in either case.

Firemen said they were called to the high school, 915 Pleasant street, about noon Saturday because of a fire in a boys' restroom on the first floor. A pile of burning toilet tissue in the middle of the floor of the restroom was extinguished. The fire appeared set deliberately and is under investigation, firemen said.

The building was closed at the time, and the fire was discovered by a teacher who was inside.

The fire at Memorial hospital, 2611 Morton avenue, was Sunday about 11 p.m. in the laundry room. A large iron for pressing linen caught fire, but flames were extinguished by hospital employees before firemen arrived. Firemen said no one was using the iron at the time of the fire and an investigation into the cause continues.

Nine Donations Boost SJ Fund

"It's a sign people are getting the true spirit of Christmas — the spirit of giving," Santa Claus said after receiving today's nine contributions for $112 for the St. Joseph Area Good Fellow fund.

Lake Michigan caused concern whether the 23-member force could canoe on Lake Michigan to St. Joseph. However, the decision was made to canoe to St. Joseph. An alternative would have been for the expedition to divert directly from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

Arrival at New Buffalo is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, and at St. Joseph about 5 p.m. next Sunday.

David Upton, St. Joseph, chairman of a Berrien county welcoming committee, reported the voyageurs were camped on Calumet beach just outside of Gary this morning, and expected to arrive at Crown Point, Ind. later today.

The expedition made a decision to follow its original plans to go from Chicago to St. Joseph via Lake Michigan by canoe while camped at Chicago over the weekend.

In addition to stops in New Buffalo and St. Joseph, the force is scheduled to visit in Berrien Springs on Tuesday, Dec. 21 and in Niles on Wednesday, Dec. 22, on their way up the St. Joseph river.

BH Good Fellow Fund Gets Treat

Santa Claus finished the biggest and best hamburger he had ever had eaten, then took a look at the progress of his Benton Harbor Area Good Fellow fund.

Unlike the temperature, the fund was soaring — all the way to $2,385.17 today.

The biggest treat was provided by Henry's Drive-In at Fairplain Plaza which sent a $200 check that St. Nick said was prepared with perfection. "The good folks at Henry's Drive-In are consistent Good Fellows, and they've provided a major boost for the fund to help assure the less fortunate won't go hungry at Christmas," Santa said.

There was a $50 gift from Barentsen Candy Company, headed by former Mayor Leon Gideon. Barentsen long has been a regular on the Good Fellow roster.

Fruit Belt Post 1137, VFW, gave $5 as today's contributions totaled $255.

"That's a great way to start the week," Santa exclaimed. The only trouble is there's just one more Monday left before Christmas. So we are going to have to hear from a lot of Good Fellows in a hurry."

Guidelines Endure

By MARYANNE BUTT
Staff Writer

Advice given by Solomon in the Book of Proverbs is as applicable to society today as it was thousands of years ago, according to Dr. William Clyde Donald II of First Congregational church, Benton Harbor.

Dr. Donald spoke at the Dec. 9 meeting of Algonquin Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held at First United Methodist church in St. Joseph.

The national theme for all Daughters of the American Revolution chapters this year is taken from Proverbs 22:28; which says, "Remove not the ancient landmark, which thy fathers have set."

Dr. Donald said the Book of Proverbs represents the best thinking of the best minds of that era. It gives a set of guidelines on living, on man's relationship to his fellow man. He said it gives an excellent insight into people and their relationships with others.

In today's "fast moving, changing society," a set of guidelines by which to live and to relate to others is still necessary, according to Dr. Donald.

"Human behavior is the one thing that remains constant," he said. "There are no perfect people, and without proper guidelines, there cannot be an orderly society."

"Most people, given the chance, are better than they appear to be," he said. "We too easily judge each other on flimsy evidence, therefore not allowing the full potential of an individual to develop."

He said with the proper amount of faith and the ability to "use accidents of history" we can achieve full potential. "Today, we must keep the guidelines received from the past or we'll be left without proper directions, which we need critically," he said.

"If we are to keep the American dream alive in this fast changing world, we have got to work together and pull together." Using a set of guidelines by which to live and to relate to others, similar to those of Solomon, American society can reach its fullest potential, according to Dr. Donald.

When guidelines remain intact, he concluded, then the American dream can be realized. This is as true today as when Solomon wrote the advice to his people. His wise counsel is still not out-of-date.

Real Trees

Save Resources

How can you help save America's petroleum resources during the Christmas holidays?

Well, you can drive 55 when you're on the highway. You could keep the thermostat turned down several degrees. Also, Michigan Department of Agriculture officials says you can buy a real Christmas tree.

Buy a real tree? Definitely! Those artificial trees you see take petroleum for all the plastic needles, and they use metal supplies to make the trunk and limbs.

Real Christmas trees are just as much a crop to Michigan farmers as corn, cabbage or cucumbers. In fact, Michigan is the country's leading producer of plantation-grown Christmas trees and our trees are shipped coast to coast.

This year, why not make selecting the tree a family outing by going to one of the many Christmas tree plantations which allow you to choose and cut your own.

If you get the tree out of the field, you'll know it's fresh and will last in the house until after the holidays. What you do to the tree once you get it home will have the biggest effect on how long it will last.

First, saw off about an inch of the butt to help the tree get necessary water. Keep water in the container or tree stand during its stay. Keep away from sources of heat — fireplaces, radiators, even television sets dry out the tree. Never use lighted candles and don't leave the house with the Christmas tree lights on.

An all-Bach organ concert will be performed by Stephen Fitzgerald Byrns Monday, Dec. 20, at 8 p.m. at Christ Lutheran church, Stevensville.

The concert is open to the public without charge.

For the past four years Byrns has been an organ student under Mrs. Mary Krimmel, professor of music, Westminster Choir college, Princeton, N.J. Prior to that, he had been a student of music with Vincent Marloti at the Hotchkiss school, Lakeville, Conn. He also has studied for many years with Mrs. Carl Fiore of St. Joseph.

The program is comprised of organ compositions by J.S. Bach, including Bach's Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor. Some Christmas pieces will also be performed.

Just prior to the twin cities' performance, Byrns will present the same organ concert to the Princeton university community.

More Women Attend College

EAST LANSING — Women are going to college at any old age, and almost any young age, judging by the student enrollment at Michigan State university.

At MSU, women undergraduate students are in the majority in the ages between 17 and 20 (and younger), and from the age of 31 clear through 50-plus. Even among those undergraduates who didn't report their ages, the women are in the majority.

A majority of the male undergraduates in college are in their 20s. At MSU men currently outnumber the women in the ages of 21 through 30.

MSU has a total enrollment of 43,749, and of these more than 35,000 are undergraduates, with the women increasing by the hundreds as they have in past years. Fall undergraduate enrollment at MSU comprises more than 18,000 men and more than 17,000 women.

"Stopping out" is what the women in their 20s are doing, according to Dr. Mildred B. Erickson, assistant dean of lifelong education at MSU, and co-author of an MSU handbook for older women considering returning to college or the job market.

"The women in their 20s stop out," she said, "because they have college husbands to support by getting jobs, or because they have young children at home. After that they get back to college studies, or start such studies."

Stopping out is different from dropping out, she said, and hasn't the old stigma attached to it. Some men stop out for a while, too, for a variety of reasons, and for them too it is regarded as a hiatus only.

The increasing numbers of college women at all ages, Dr. Erickson said, undoubtedly is due to a number of societal changes, including the women's liberation movement, the changes in lifestyles, the increases in divorces which result in more and more women needed to be self-supporting, the lowered birthrate, the inflationary trends which require additional family incomes, and the national demands for lifelong education.

Guidelines Endure

By MARYANNE BUTT
Staff Writer

Advice given by Solomon in the Book of Proverbs is as applicable to society today as it was thousands of years ago, according to Dr. William Clyde Donald II of First Congregational church, Benton Harbor.

Dr. Donald spoke at the Dec. 9 meeting of Algonquin Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held at First United Methodist church in St. Joseph.

The national theme for all Daughters of the American Revolution chapters this year is taken from Proverbs 22:28; which says, "Remove not the ancient landmark, which thy fathers have set."

Dr. Donald said the Book of Proverbs represents the best thinking of the best minds of that era. It gives a set of guidelines on living, on man's relationship to his fellow man. He said it gives an excellent insight into people and their relationships with others.

In today's "fast moving, changing society," a set of guidelines by which to live and to relate to others is still necessary, according to Dr. Donald.

"Human behavior is the one thing that remains constant," he said. "There are no perfect people, and without proper guidelines, there cannot be an orderly society."

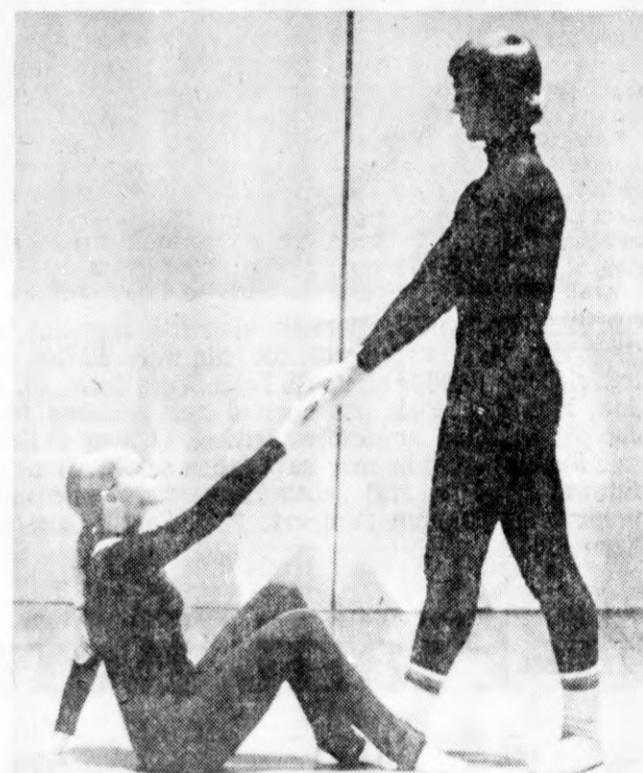

"Most people, given the chance, are better than they appear to be," he said. "We too easily judge each other on flimsy evidence, therefore not allowing the full potential of an individual to develop."

He said with the proper amount of faith and the ability to "use accidents of history" we can achieve full potential. "Today, we must keep the guidelines received from the past or we'll be left without proper directions, which we need critically," he said.

"If we are to keep the American dream alive in this fast changing world, we have got to work together and pull together." Using a set of guidelines by which to live and to relate to others, similar to those of Solomon, American society can reach its fullest potential, according to Dr. Donald.

When guidelines remain intact, he concluded, then the American dream can be realized. This is as true today as when Solomon wrote the advice to his people. His wise counsel is still not out-of-date.

Collect 66 Yule Trees

POMEGRANATES--PERSIMMONS--KUMQUATS

Be Daring -- Try Unusual

Many shoppers are curious and not quite sure what to do with the pomegranates, persimmons, kumquats and fresh coconuts found in produce departments during the holiday season, says Maryann Beckman, District Extension Consumer Marketing Agent.

Mrs. Beckman says: Since they are all in peak supply now, be daring this year and try them.

Pomegranates, one of the oldest fruits known to man, may strike your fancy. They are about the size of a large apple and have tough leathery deep red to purplish skins with a small crown of petal-like projections at the top. Inside you will find segments divided by pulp that hold hundreds of jewel-clear red seeds, coated with a pulpy flesh which is eaten.

These clear, bright red kernels, with a spicy-tart flavor, are used as a garnish for cottage cheese and citrus salads, used in fruit cups, gelatin desserts or eaten as is by the spoonful.

To prepare them, cut off the thin skin, starting at the top.

Then carefully "roll out" the seeds from each segment with fingers or "shell" them with a spoon. Handle carefully and wear an apron for the juice splatters make a dark stain.

If you need only a few seeds at a time, take off only part of the skin, wrap the remaining in plastic wrap and refrigerate the fruit. Or shell out all the seeds and refrigerate in a tightly closed glass jar. Use within a week or freeze the seeds for springtime treats when pomegranates are out of season.

The persimmon is the bright orange colored fruit with a scalloped green leaf at the top that looks like a "tall" tomato.

When fully ripe they are very sweet and have a chocolate-apricot flavor and soft flesh. When very ripe, flesh is jelly-like in texture.

Serve some slices for breakfast with cream, tuck some into citrus salads or ripen further, until the skin is wrinkled, and simply spoon out the jelly-like flesh and eat as is or make a baked persimmon pudding from the soft puree.

Kumquats are decorative little plum-sized citrus fruits that look like miniature oranges. Often tucked into holiday fruit baskets or sold separately in pint boxes with their own greens, they are as good to eat as they are pretty. The skin is the sweet part, so eat it all. They taste like lemons if peeled. If you have never tried it, make some kumquat marmalade.

Fresh coconuts are another treat, though not as unusual. You get a lot of coconut for the money when you buy fresh and the taste cannot compare to other types. Buy one that is heavy for its size and has dry, sunken "eyes." Shake it gently and listen for the milk to "slosh" around inside. If it does not, choose another.

To shell fresh coconuts, make a hole through one of the "eyes" with a clean nail, ice pick and hammer. Drain and save the milk for use as part of the liquid in cakes, cookies or other desserts or as a beverage.

Then either heat the coconut in a 350 degree Fahrenheit oven for 10-20 minutes or freeze for about an hour. Then crack the shell with a hammer and separate the white flesh from the shell. Trim off the thin, inner brown skin and grate, slice or chunk the fresh coconut to fit your needs.

Toast some coconut strips, too, for a nutritious treat. Cut coconut chunks into thin strips with a vegetable peeler and toast in a 300 degree oven until slightly brown. Add a little butter and salt when you remove from the oven.

One medium sized coconut makes about three cups of shredded or chunked coconut. Store coconut meat in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator and use within one to two weeks.

Day-Old Bread Ideas

If you are looking for ways to use day-old bread, consider these:

(1) Toasted and cubed for cereals; (2) crumbled dry for casseroles, toppings, or breadings; (3) dipped in egg and French toasted; (4) crumbled and added to ground meat dishes as an extender; (5) used in a delicious dessert such as bread pudding or apple brown betty.

Millions Ride Taxi Cabs

More than 2.5 million people are carried by cabs in a single year.

According to a leading oil company survey, taxis are the only public transportation available in over 3,000 American communities.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Nice Guy In Hot Water

Dear Ann: Don't tell me I'm a stupid jerk. Just tell me how to get out of this jam.

I'm 24 and engaged to a fine girl. We were planning to be married in April.

Several months ago a blonde who works in this office told me she was in real trouble. The poor kid fell in love with a no-good skunk and he ran out on her. She asked if she could use my name when she went to the hospital to have her baby. I felt sorry for her — alone in town, no friends, etc. — and said OK.

Yesterday I read in the paper that I am the father of a baby boy. Everyone else read it, too, including my fiancée and her family. She phoned me at the office as soon as the first edition came out to tell me she never wants to see me again.

I went to her house the minute I got off work. Her father saw me through the curtains and told me to get off their property or he would call the police.

Ann, I swear I had nothing to do with that blonde except to let her use my name. I never so much as bought her a cup of coffee. This is what I get for trying to be a nice guy. Please help me. — Hot Water

Dear Water: Go to the hospital at once and tell the girl YOU are in a jam and now it's her turn to be a nice guy.

If she has a shred of decency she will contact the hospital chaplain, tell him the truth and ask him to call your fiancée and her family. Good luck to all of

Avid Fan

Dear Ann Landers: I'm in real trouble and it's your fault. I was reading a newspaper in class this morning — one that carries your column. Suddenly, I had the feeling a human being was nearby, just standing there. It wasn't the teacher, as I had feared. It was the principal.

He asked, "What do you think you are doing?" I was so scared my throat was dry but I finally managed to say, "I am reading Ann Landers." He replied, "So I see." Then he took me by the arm to the teacher.

Now I have to write your column out in longhand every day for two weeks straight unless you print this letter and advise students that it is NOT a good idea to read your column during class.

Do you know that your daily column has 706 words in it? My arm is about to fall off. Please hurry. — Hank

ANN LANDERS

Dear Hank: I'm flattered by your loyalty and will do my best.

Hear ye! All students who read Ann Landers in class! Cease and desist! Let not your eye be beguiled by unassigned reading matter. Ye shall be graded by your knowledge of Shakespeare and Kant, not Landers. Chance it not or ye may be banished from the classroom forever. And ME with thee.

Loose Choppers

Dear Ann: Help, please! A very nice gentleman who works in this department has a habit of clicking his dentures when he reads reports or does figuring.

Sometimes when he is waiting for a telephone connection he gets those teeth going and it drives us all batty.

Six of us have discussed the problem several times but no one knows how to deal with it. This is no Yale joke, Miss Landers. We are — Up The Wall In Akron

Dear Ak: That very nice gentleman obviously is unaware of his irksome habit. Write a gentle, well-worded note and place it on his desk. Sign it "All of Us." I'll bet he sees his dentist soon and gets those choppers adjusted.

Okay, you all know how I feel about camping.

A Motel 6 is about as primitive as I want to get. I just cannot understand people who are turned on by swishing their silverware in a mesh bag through a stream where a dog just relieved himself.

That's why it came as a bit of a surprise when Wanda called last week and said, "Before the football game next Saturday, we're going to have a tailgate buffet."

"How far is the tailgate buffet from my all-electric kitchen?"

"Don't start that again," she said. "You have to be the most boring, unimaginative person I know. Don't you ever like to try anything different? We'll pack a lunch, allow ourselves an hour or two before the game and have a fun time eating off the tailgate of the station wagon."

"You're right as usual," I told Wanda later. "This is fun. I don't think I've had so much fun since I slid down the deck of the Titanic without spilling a drop of my iced tea."

"Well, if you're not having a good time," snapped Wanda, "It's your fault... crouching back there behind the spare tire. Why don't you stand around the tailgate like the rest of us?"

"I'm cold! Besides, the sandwich is dry."

"You're eating your glove."

I crawled out of the car and planted my feet firmly in the fresh tar, not daring to believe what I saw. The parking lot was an orgy of campers, folding tables, and tailgates. The entire football field was under siege. One lighted match and the entire place was set to blow.

"Isn't this great?" chirped Wanda. "You know, even the food tastes different out in the air."

"You're right," I said. "This doughnut tastes like if flunked its emissions test."

"One of these days," said Wanda softly, her eyes fixed vacantly, "we're going to go to a football game in a camper. We'll have our own stove where we can cook steaks and a refrigerator where we can store salads. And there'll be big, comfortable chairs and sofas where we can sit down and have a drink. We won't even have to climb into coats or boots and sit on hard bleacher seats. We'll watch the game on a colored television set in comfort."

"Wanda! You have just described your own home!"

"I knew you wouldn't understand. Are you coming?"

"A car just ran over my foot," I grimaced.

"Did anyone ever tell you you're a complainer?"

HARD ON EYES

In the days of hand-made lace it was not unusual for lace-makers to go blind.

Dr. Lester Coleman

Slipped disks and back pain are constantly brought to my attention by readers. The confusion about slipped, or herniated, disks is enormous and needs clarification.

The whole spine is a series of 33 bones or vertebrae, which run from the neck (cervical spine) to the tail bone (coccyx).

The vertebrae are separated from each other by a firm, gel-like band of protective, elastic tissue. These bands are called inter-vertebral disks.

These disks are the cushions that absorb the physical shocks to the spine. They also protect the bony edges of the vertebrae from each other and prevent the wear and tear of the twisting and turning of the body.

An injury to the spine, lifting a heavy weight, long-standing poor posture, and curvatures of the spine may cause the elastic disk to become displaced from its normal position. Back pain then occurs, especially if the displaced disk exerts pressure on any of the nerves that exit from the spine.

The location of the pain depends, of course, on the part of the spinal column that is involved. If the slipped disk is in the neck, the distribution of pain is different from the pain of a slipped disk in the lower part of the spinal column.

It must be emphasized that the layman must not come to his own conclusion that he may have a "slipped disk." There are many other disorders that can be responsible for low back pain. Arthritis of the spine, neuritis, muscular conditions or sciatica may cause pain that resembles the pain of a slipped disk.

The diagnosis of herniated, or slipped, disk is made after a complete examination by an orthopedist and by a neurologist. Their judgment, in combination with special X-ray studies known as "myelograms," can positively pinpoint the site of a herniated disk if it is present.

Many readers want to know if surgery is the only way to treat a slipped disk. No, there are a number of forms of treatment that are first tried before surgery is contemplated.

A traction apparatus which "stretches" the spinal column and takes the pressure off the disk sometimes makes it possible for the disk to return to its proper position.

Special back and neck braces, gentle regulated exercise and rest can be effective in relieving the discomfort.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Nice Guy In Hot Water

Dear Ann: Don't tell me I'm a stupid jerk. Just tell me how to get out of this jam.

I'm 24 and engaged to a fine girl. We were planning to be married in April.

Several months ago a blonde who works in this office told me she was in real trouble. The poor kid fell in love with a no-good skunk and he ran out on her. She asked if she could use my name when she went to the hospital to have her baby. I felt sorry for her — alone in town, no friends, etc. — and said OK.

Yesterday I read in the paper that I am the father of a baby boy. Everyone else read it, too, including my fiancée and her family. She phoned me at the office as soon as the first edition came out to tell me she never wants to see me again.

I went to her house the minute I got off work. Her father saw me through the curtains and told me to get off their property or he would call the police.

Ann, I swear I had nothing to do with that blonde except to let her use my name. I never so much as bought her a cup of coffee. This is what I get for trying to be a nice guy. Please help me. — Hot Water

Dear Water: Go to the hospital at once and tell the girl YOU are in a jam and now it's her turn to be a nice guy.

If she has a shred of decency she will contact the hospital chaplain, tell him the truth and ask him to call your fiancée and her family. Good luck to all of you.

Arid Fan

Dear Ann Landers: I'm in real trouble and it's your fault. I was reading a newspaper in class this morning — one that carries your column. Suddenly, I had the feeling a human being was nearby, just standing there. It wasn't the teacher, as I had feared. It was the principal.

He asked, "What do you think you are doing?" I was so scared my throat was dry but I finally managed to say, "I am reading Ann Landers." He replied, "So I see." Then he took me by the arm to the teacher.

Now I have to write your column out in longhand every day for two weeks straight unless you print this letter and advise students that it is NOT a good idea to read your column during class.

Do you know that your daily column has 706 words in it? My arm is about to fall off. Please hurry. — Hank

ANN LANDERS

Dear Hank: I'm flattered by your loyalty and will do my best.

Hear ye! All students who read Ann Landers in class! Cease and desist! Let not your eye be beguiled by unassigned reading matter. Ye shall be graded by your knowledge of Shakespeare and Kant, not Landers. Chance it not or ye may be banished from the classroom forever. And ME with thee.

Top Policeman's Daughter Sues Officer

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — The daughter of the highest ranking policeman in this Detroit suburb has brought suit against one of her father's patrolmen.

The officer, in turn, claims the girl kicked him, spat in his face and called him "a no good pig."

Kimberlie Groesbeck, 18, the daughter of Senior Inspector Charles Groesbeck, is seeking $120,000 in damages for brutality, defamation and violation of privacy she allegedly suffered at the hands of Patrolman David E. Robinson.

First charged with assaulting a police officer, Miss Groesbeck's charge was reduced from that felony to disorderly conduct, a misdemeanor. She is scheduled for a pre-trial hearing Dec. 27.

Inspector Groesbeck said his daughter had originally considered filing a brutality complaint against Robinson with the police department, but he advised her to seek outside legal counsel.

Groesbeck said it is ordinarily his duty to investigate brutality complaints from citizens.

Miss Groesbeck and two others were arrested in a restaurant parking lot Aug. 31. Robinson's report said he was checking on a large group of teenagers loitering there.

In her lawsuit, Miss Groesbeck said she had just bought food at the restaurant when Robinson confronted her in the parking lot. Robinson said he issued a ticket to one unidentified person. Then, the officer said, Miss Groesbeck began verbally abusing him.

The lawsuit claims Robinson demanded the girl show him identification, and when she asked why the officer grabbed her by the wrists and arrested her.

Robinson's report said he placed the girl under arrest only after she refused to obey his request to leave, and only after she continued using abusive language towards him.

Miss Groesbeck's suit claims Robinson yelled expletives at her and questioned the legitimacy of her birth and her moral character.

"It's obvious your parents don't discipline you so I'll have to give it to you on the streets,"

the suit quotes Robinson as saying.

The officer said she resisted arrest, unsuccessfully tried to kick him in the groin and did kick him in the leg, then spat in his face.

The suit claims Robinson knocked the girl unconscious and then dragged her through the parking lot. She allegedly sustained multiple bruises, scars, cuts and scrapes in the incident.

"From my viewpoint, I hope that they (Miss Groesbeck and Robinson) can get their heads together so they both can learn a lesson," Inspector Groesbeck said.

Religion Costing Cleaver Friends

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver says that his turn from militancy to Christianity has cost him dozens of friends.

Speaking at an evangelical rally at Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum on Sunday, Cleaver, who lived in exile seven years to avoid trial for attempted murder in the United States, said he and his wife, Kathleen, had been baptized in Southern California Oct. 10.

Top Policeman's Daughter Sues Officer

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — The daughter of the highest ranking policeman in this Detroit suburb has brought suit against one of her father's patrolmen.

The officer, in turn, claims the girl kicked him, spat in his face and called him "a no good pig."

Kimberlie Groesbeck, 18, the daughter of Senior Inspector Charles Groesbeck, is seeking $120,000 in damages for brutality, defamation and violation of privacy she allegedly suffered at the hands of Patrolman David E. Robinson.

First charged with assaulting a police officer, Miss Groesbeck's charge was reduced from that felony to disorderly conduct, a misdemeanor. She is scheduled for a pre-trial hearing Dec. 27.

Inspector Groesbeck said his daughter had originally considered filing a brutality complaint against Robinson.

AVALANCHE KILLS FOUR

with the police department, but he advised her to seek outside legal counsel.

Groesbeck said it is ordinarily his duty to investigate brutality complaints from citizens.

Miss Groesbeck and two others were arrested in a restaurant parking lot Aug. 31. Robinson's report said he was checking on a large group of teenagers loitering there.

In her lawsuit, Miss Groesbeck said she had just bought food at the restaurant when Robinson confronted her in the parking lot.

Robinson said he issued a ticket to one unidentified person. Then, the officer said, Miss Groesbeck began verbally abusing him.

The lawsuit claims Robinson demanded the girl show him identification, and when she asked why the officer grabbed her by the wrists and arrested her.

Robinson's report said he placed the girl under arrest only after she refused to obey his request to leave, and only after she continued using abusive language towards him.

Miss Groesbeck's suit claims Robinson yelled expletives at her and questioned the legitimacy of her birth and her moral character.

"It's obvious your parents don't discipline you so I'll have to give it to you on the streets,"

the suit quotes Robinson as saying.

The officer said she resisted arrest, unsuccessfully tried to kick him in the groin and did kick him in the leg, then spat in his face.

The suit claims Robinson knocked the girl unconscious and then dragged her through the parking lot. She allegedly sustained multiple bruises, scars, cuts and scrapes in the incident.

"From my viewpoint, I hope that they (Miss Groesbeck and Robinson) can get their heads together so they both can learn a lesson," Inspector Groesbeck said.

Ships Moving At Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — Shipping traffic was expected to be back to normal today after the 716-foot "Cliff's Victory" was freed from the shoals of the St. Mary River over the weekend.

Coast Guard officials said traffic was moving smoothly through the Soo Locks on Sunday.

The Cliff's Victory went aground Thursday and caused about 60 ships to back up at the locks — the worst shipping jam on the river in half a century.

The Coast Guard said by Sunday evening all upbound boats had cleared the locks and 17 vessels awaited downstream passage in Whitefish Bay.

Three cutters were clearing the ice out of several turns, authorities said, and other ships stuck in the ice had been freed.

The Cliff's Victory, owned by Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., was moved off the underwater shoal by three tugs and an icebreaker after part of its 13,000 toncargo of taconite pellets was removed.

The ship then went to the deeper waters of Lake Munising, about 20 miles south of Sault Ste. Marie, where the cargo was reloaded. However, the ship sustained rudder damage in the grounding, and was forced to await repairs in Lake Munising.

The last such tie-up on the river came in 1926, when a sudden ice shift trapped 100 boats in the river for several days.

Edison's Tax Deferrals Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detroit Edison is among 150 of the nation's largest private utilities to come under fire from a pair of citizens groups for deferring payment of federal taxes collected from customers.

The groups are criticizing tax provisions that allowed the utilities to defer payment of almost $1.5 billion in federal taxes collected in 1975.

Detroit Edison had a gap of almost $40 million between taxes it collected and paid last

In the past 21 years the utilities collected but deferred payment of more than $7 billion in federal taxes, the Environmental Action Foundation and the National Consumer Information Center charged.

The two private organizations said 134 of the largest 150 utilities collected more federal taxes than they paid last year.

The groups said the tax breaks include accelerated depreciation, which allows a utility to postpone the payment of certain taxes, and the investment tax credit, which will rise from 10 per cent to 11.5 per cent in 1977 for utilities.

The two groups, in a report entitled "Phantom Taxes in Your Electric Bill," said the utilities "insist that all the taxes they collect will eventually be paid."

But the report contends that as long as the utilities' total investments keep growing, some deferred taxes will never be paid.

The report said that Chicago's Commonwealth Edison Co. had the largest gap between the taxes it collected and paid last year — $110 million.

The Environmental Action Foundation said it serves as a clearinghouse for more than 1,000 local citizens' groups concerned about electric utilities.

The National Consumer Information Center said it specializes in consumer issues affecting low and moderate-income citizens.

Bettors Furious Over Delaware Lottery Washout

By KRISTIN GOFF
Associated Press Writer

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Delaware lottery agents expect to hear from lots of angry bettors after the state canceled all bets on its football lottery over the weekend from fear it might come out on the losing end. One agent said the state was acting like a bookmaker who closes up shop when he's made too many bad bets.

Plane Crash Kills 2

CAPE MAY, N.J. (AP) — A crew member and a passenger on an Allegheny Airlines commuter flight were killed Sunday night when the plane fell short of the runway at Cape May Airport, an airline spokesman said. Allegheny's Flight 977 from Philadelphia and Atlantic City carried two crew members and eight passengers when the crash occurred at about 11:30 p.m., the spokesman said. Several passengers were injured and were taken to Burdette Tominlin Hospital here, the spokesman said. The victims' identities were withheld, but the spokesman said the dead passenger was a female. Rescue crews and police reportedly had to use a bulldozer to reach the wreckage in a heavily wooded area.

ACTIVE FIRST LADY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rosalynn Carter plans to be "a very active First Lady" and she will need a larger staff than her predecessor, Betty Ford, says Mrs. Carter's press secretary.

Columbus, Really, Is That You?

Members of the Italian American Hall of Seattle, Wash., came up with $75,000 for this bronze statue of Christopher Columbus to be installed at Seattle's waterfront park. Unfortunately, the city fathers are less than enthusiastic about the plan. (AP Wirephoto)

Las Vegas. Bets for Touchdown II last week amounted to almost $86,000 on about 26,000 football cards, Simmons said. That was close to triple the $33,000 bet the week before.

One bettor, Charles Wilson of Claymont, said Sunday he would refuse to accept a refund and would sue the state if his bets were winners.

"If I lose, as far as I'm concerned Delaware's got my five bucks and I'm not going to take it back," he said. "It's just that simple. If I win, I expect Delaware to pay."

The betting was most lopsided on the Green Bay Packers-Atlanta Falcons game, Simmons said. The state had made Green Bay a 6 1/2-point favorite. The Las Vegas line favored Atlanta by three, and 88 per cent of the bettors on that game picked Atlanta. As it turned out, Green Bay won by four points, 24-20, and the majority of bettors would have lost.

Similarly, when San Francisco beat New Orleans by 20 points, it crossed up 79 per cent of the bettors on that line. Although the state favored the 49ers by 6 1/2, Las Vegas picked the Saints by three.

Simmons said in an interview Sunday night after the NFL games were over that he would have a computer analysis done later this week to determine how much the state would have paid out had it not canceled the game. But the lottery director said he believed it would actually show a lower-than-normal payout.

An appeals court is expected to rule soon on an NFL suit to stop the lottery.

Small Car Rush Is On

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. may join General Motors Corp. in trimming their full-sized cars in order to meet federally mandated gasoline mileage requirements. Chrysler President Eugene A. Caferio says his firm may discontinue its full-sized Plymouth and Dodge models after the current model-year because of tough 1978 fuel-economy standards, the Detroit News reported Sunday. The News also reported Ford is in the process of shrinking its standard-sized cars, with the final results to be unveiled possibly in the 1979 model year. GM has already down-sized its full-sized models for 1977. Under the 1978 fuel-economy standards, cars would be required to average 18 miles per gallon.

Pipe Weld Coverup Charged

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The trans-Alaska pipeline may not open on schedule next year, and its cost may rise by "hundreds of millions of dollars" because of repair work necessary on defective welds that allegedly were deliberately hidden, a House subcommittee staff says.

X-ray inspectors have told the House energy and power subcommittee that they took part in a scheme to falsify as many as 200 X-rays of defective double welds on the 809-mile line, the staff said.

In a memo to subcommittee chairman John Dingell, D-Mich., the staff also charged that the Departments of Interior and Transportation may have conspired with the builders of the pipeline "to cover up or at the very least actively ignore another serious welding problem on the pipeline."

The subcommittee plans to hold a public hearing in Washington on Tuesday, and representatives from Interior and Transportation are scheduled to testify.

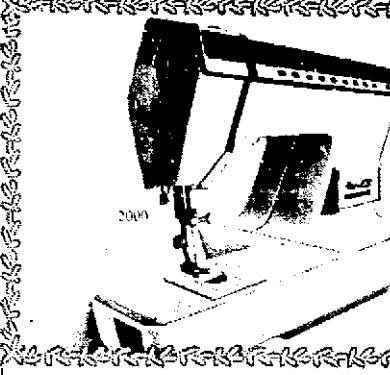

The staff recommended that the subcommittee consider asking the Justice Department to investigate whether there was a conspiracy to ignore the defective welds. It also recommended that the Department of Transportation and Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., the consortium building the pipeline, admit all the double joint X-rays. The staff memo, made public on Saturday, maintains that Alyeska and the Interior Department became aware of problems with the double joint welding system about 10 months ago.

A spokesman for Alyeska told the Anchorage Daily News, "We categorically deny a conspiracy with anyone."

Bettors Furious Over Delaware Lottery Washout

By KRISTIN GOFF
Associated Press Writer

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Delaware lottery agents expect to hear from lots of angry bettors after the state canceled all bets on its football lottery over the weekend from fear it might come out on the losing end. One agent said the state was acting like a bookmaker who closes up shop when he's made too many bad bets.

"Only the state can't leave town," said Charles O'Connor, who sells lottery tickets at his Wilmington pharmacy.

Plane Crash Kills 2

CAPE MAY, N.J. (AP) — A crew member and a passenger on an Allegheny Airlines commuter flight were killed Sunday night when the plane fell short of the runway at Cape May Airport, an airline spokesman said.

Allegheny's Flight 977 from Philadelphia and Atlantic City carried two crew members and eight passengers when the crash occurred at about 11:30 p.m., the spokesman said.

Several passengers were injured and were taken to Burdette Tomlin Hospital here, the spokesman said.

The victims' identities were withheld, but the spokesman said the dead passenger was a female.

Rescue crews and police reportedly had to use a bulldozer to reach the wreckage in a heavily wooded area.

Las Vegas.

Bets for Touchdown II last week amounted to almost $96,000 on about 26,000 football cards, Simmons said. That was close to triple the $33,000 bet the week before.

One bettor, Charles Wilson of Claymont, said Sunday he would refuse to accept a refund and would sue the state if his bets were winners.

"If I lose, as far as I'm concerned Delaware's got my five bucks and I'm not going to take it back," he said. "It's just that simple. If I win, I expect Delaware to pay."

The betting was most lopsided on the Green Bay Packers-Atlanta Falcons game, Simmons said. The state had made Green Bay a 6½-point favorite. The Las Vegas line favored Atlanta by three, and 88 per cent of the bettors on that game

Mackinac Island Lays In Supplies

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — Startled by winter's early onslaught, residents of this popular resort island have rushed to put in supplies from the mainland before ice stops ferry transportation.

"This is the earliest I've seen the ice in all the 20 years I've been sailing to the island," said Capt. Paul Allers while piloting his boat around the bigger chunks dotting the Straits of Mackinac.

The ice has arrived about five weeks ahead of schedule, and many islanders were caught off guard.

"I'm just operating on a day-to-day basis now," Capt. Allers said Sunday. "A shift in the wind could bring that ice into the harbor here, and we'd be out of business."

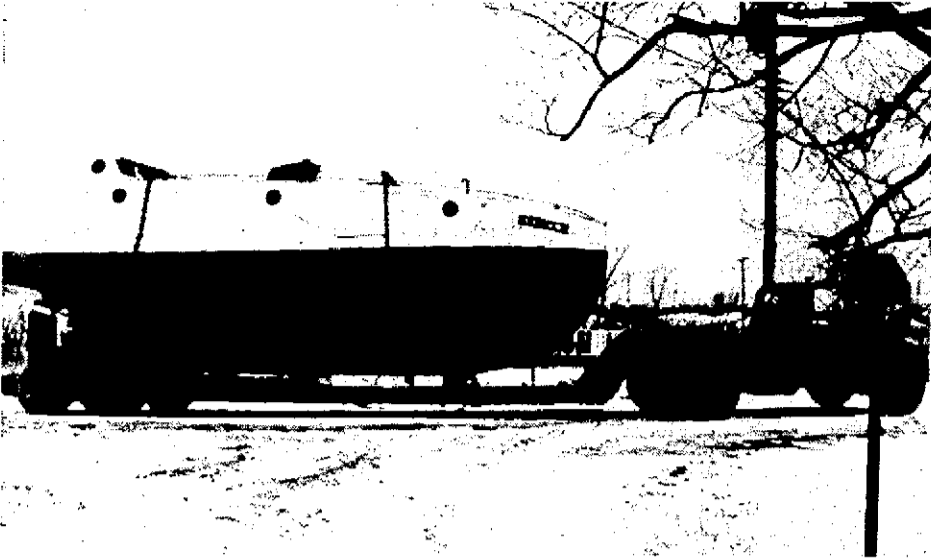

So Mackinac Island's men, women and children hurried along the dock Sunday, helping the ferry's crew unload toilets, gas cylinders, canned goods, Christmas stockings, sleds of beef and other winter staples.

Dennis Brodeur shepherded 2,500 cases of beer to the island over the weekend, to add to about 7,500 cases he already has stashed away in the attic over Brodeur's Mustang Bar — the only place where islanders can get a drink until spring.

"It's a real headache," Brodeur said. "You get all stocked up and then, all of a sudden in the middle of the winter, one of your best Palast drinkers will switch to Strohs. Then what do you do?"

Four to six weeks after the ferry stops running, the ice is usually strong enough to support islanders — on snowmobile, horseback, or foot — on a trip to the mainland. A trail of old Christmas trees marks the path to St. Ignace.

But the end of ferry service usually marks the beginning of "rock fever," a feeling of claustrophobia the 800 to 800 year-round islanders consider their own.

WINTRY LAUNCH: Duane Seaman, a Chippewa Indian from Oscoda, Mich., has won a skirmish in his long court battle with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. His 18-ton, 35-foot fishing boat was returned Friday to the AuSable River dock from where it was taken by the DNR in August, 1972. A court ordered the boat returned after ruling the craft was seized illegally. (AP Wirephoto)

CRIMINAL SEXUAL CONDUCT CHARGED

Michigan Boys' Camp Has Closed

ST. CLAIR, Mich. (AP) — A northern Michigan boys' camp has closed after the director went to jail and warrants were issued for two members of its governing board on charges of criminal sexual conduct, police said.

The camp, Brother Paul's Children's Mission, was located on North Fox Island, owned by wealthy Ann Arbor businessman Francis D. Sheldon.

State Police Sgt. Joel Gorzen of the St. Clair post said a warrant for Sheldon's arrest was issued several weeks ago. Gorzen said the warrant was in connection with a homosexual incident involving a 14-year-old youth in Port Huron.

Gorzen said a warrant had also been issued for Dyer Grossman of New York on charges stemming from an incident with another Port Huron youth. The warrants were issued by the St. Clair County prosecutor's office.

Both men were on the board of directors of the non-profit organization which ran the camp, Gorzen said. Police have been unable to locate either of them.

None of the charges are related to the camp, Gorzen said. But he added the 14-year-old boy has also alleged he participated in similar homosexual activities on the island, located in Lake Michigan near Charlevoix.

State police in Traverse City said they intended to ask the Leelanau County prosecutor for additional warrants based on allegations from young boys who live in the Detroit-Ann Arbor area.

Gorzen said the camp was not presently in operation.

Sheldon's father, Alger Sheldon of Grosse Pointe Farms, said Saturday his son was "out of the country."

Sheldon's neighbors in Ann Arbor said they had not seen the 48-year-old investor in nearly a month.

Neighbors said his house had been sold and they had been forwarding his mail to California for a while. The mail was now being sent to his parents, they said.

The state police investigation began with the arrest of Gerald Richards of Port Huron. Richards pleaded guilty last July to a charge of criminal sexual conduct with a 10-year-old boy and is now serving a two-to-20 year prison term in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Sgt. Gorzen said Richards was the director of the camp. He said it was Richards who first told police about Sheldon.

Photographs and films found in Richards' possession at the time of his arrest also led police to raid a boys' farm in Alto, Tenn., last month, Gorzen said.

The operator of that camp, Rev. Bud Vermilye, an Episcopal priest, has been indicted on 18 counts of criminal sexual conduct by a Franklin County, Tenn., grand jury.

Pikeville District Attorney William Pope said Vermilye's records included a list of about 200 sponsors.

A source close to the investigation said Sheldon's name was on that list.

Sheldon is a Yale graduate, who's family has been prominent in Detroit for 125 years. His father is a developer. Sheldon bought North Fox Island in 1960.

Drug Payoffs Taboo

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit police department is drafting tough rules to prohibit police from paying off informants with narcotics, according to newspaper reports today. The Detroit Free Press said the rule will be in the form of a general order stating that officers found guilty of giving narcotics to informants will lose their jobs. Unofficially, the department has had such a rule for years. But police have been providing informants with narcotics, department officials say.

Midwest Republican Chiefs Agree Not To Do Anything

By BILL DENSMORE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Seven of 13 Midwest chairmen of the Republican party got together in Chicago but the only thing they decided to agree on was that they should keep in touch, their leader says.

"We discussed strategy to the point of deciding whether we want to do anything as a group," said William F. McLaughlin, who has headed the Michigan GOP for eight years and is leader of the Midwest group — one of four nationwide. "We decided not to."

On the minds of the Midwest leaders is the choice of a new chairman for the party at its national committee meeting in Washington on Jan. 14-15.

"Individually we'll have votes on the matter," said

said Saturday his son was "out of the country." Sheldon's neighbors in Ann Arbor said they had not seen the 48-year-old investor in nearly a month.

Neighbors said his house had been sold and they had been forwarding his mail to California for a while. The mail was now being sent to his parents, they said.

The state police investigation began with the arrest of Gerald Richards of Port Huron. Richards pleaded guilty last July to a charge of criminal sexual conduct with a 10-year-old boy and is now serving a two-to-20 year prison term in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Sgt. Gorzen said Richards was the director of the camp. He said it was Richards who first told police about Sheldon.

Photographs and films found in Richards possession at the time of his arrest also led police to raid a boys' farm in Alto, Tenn., last month, Gorzen said. The operator of that camp, Rev. Bud Vermilye, an Episcopal priest, has been indicted on 16 counts of criminal sexual conduct by a Franklin County, Tenn., grand jury.

Pikeville District Attorney William Pope said Vermilye's records included a list of about 300 sponsors.

A source close to the investigation said Sheldon's name was on that list.

Sheldon is a Yale graduate, who's family has been prominent in Detroit for 125 years. His father is a developer. Sheldon bought North Fox Island in 1960.

Drug Payoffs Taboo

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit police department is drafting tough rules to prohibit police from paying off informants with narcotics, according to newspaper reports today. The Detroit Free Press said the rule will be in the form of a general order stating that officers found guilty of giving narcotics to informants will be lose their jobs. Unofficially, the department has had such a rule for years. But police have been providing informants with narcotics, department officials say.

Midwest Republican Chiefs Agree Not To Do Anything

By BILL DENSMORE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Seven of 13 Midwest chairmen of the Republican party got together in Chicago but the only thing they decided to agree on was that they should keep in touch, their leader says.

"We discussed strategy to the point of deciding whether we want to do anything as a group," said William F. McLaughlin, who has headed the Michigan GOP for eight years and is leader of the Midwest group — one of four nationwide. "We decided not to."

On the minds of the Midwest leaders is the choice of a new chairman for the party at its national committee meeting in Washington on Jan. 14-15.

"Individually we'll have votes on the matter," said

McLaughlin, adding he doubted the region would try and block vote any candidate. The group, meeting privately for three hours Sunday at an O'Hare International Airport hotel, did lend support to two candidates from their midst.

Snowy Joyride Costly

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — A 17-year-old high school student has been freed on personal bond after he drove his snowmobile to school and allegedly smiled at a police helicopter pilot who ordered him to halt.

Tony Giangrande became the subject of the Warren police manhunt last week after making the run from home to school. He was arrested, locked up without bail in the city jail and released 26 hours later after Municipal Court Judge Donald Benkowski gave him personal bond.

The police in this suburb north of Detroit returned his snowmobile late Friday. But now Giangrande says he's hanging up his snowmobile joyride suit forever.

"I don't want to go through this again," he said. "Hey, I didn't realize I was such a menace to society."

The youth disagreed with the police claim that he grinned at the helicopter police.

Giangrande said he was staying at home Tuesday with a cold when he got a "bright idea." He drove his snowmobile to Mott High School, about six blocks away, intending to swirl around in the snow for the benefit of his classmates inside the school.

As he was breezing over to the school, he caught the attention of a Warren police officer in a helicopter. The officer noted Giangrande was violating a city ordinance forbidding snowmobiling on public thoroughfares.

The youth headed toward home.

Once there, the voice from the sky told him to "hold it right there. You are under arrest."

"They came to the door and just dragged me away," Giangrande said.

FINAL MISSION: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is warmly welcomed by State Department workers and their wives on his arrival at Andrews AFB, Md., Sunday from London. After some 564,000 miles of travel to 57 countries, Kissinger has completed his final official overseas mission. (AP Wirephoto)

Kissinger Travels Come To End

By BARRY SCHWED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A diplomatic era is at an end: After traveling some 564,000 miles to 57 countries as secretary of state, Henry A. Kissinger is home to stay.

"There are no more foreign trips," he said with finality as he flew Sunday from London after exploring with British officials for ways to form a transition government in Rhodesia.

Kissinger, aboard his plane, seemed at ease in gray sweater, blue slacks and black traveling slippers. As always, his trousers slid below the paunch at times, the white of his shorts showing. Ordering champagne for the dozen reporters aboard, he had a diet soft drink for himself.

During his 39 months as secretary of state, the champagne had become a custom on the last legs of Kissinger's trips as he flew abroad — to the Middle East to separate Israel and the Arabs, to the Kremlin and Peking for negotiations, to countries ranging from Afghanistan to Zambia.

There were no special touches this last time aboard U.S. Air Force 86970, Kissinger's four-engine jet, although a few more personal photographs than usual were taken.

At Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington, some two dozen staff aides, their wives and children stood in a drizzle to welcome him back for the last time. The Kissinger family dog, a retriever named Tyler, also was there, tugging at the leash to greet his master.

Training Center Inmate Is Dead

PAW PAW — Scott Lee Austin, 31, of 6293 Ibis court, Portage, Mich., died Saturday in the Oakland Medical Center, Portage, Mich. He was born June 22, 1945, in Paw Paw.

Hospital officials said Austin died after being treated eight days for inhalation of a paint thinner material. An autopsy has been scheduled to determine the exact cause of death.

Austin, an inmate at the Michigan Training Center in Ionia, was taken to the medical center Dec. 3 after he and three other inmates were found violently ill.

Training center Supt. Richard Hamilton said an investigation by state police showed that the four had attempted to get high by inhaling fumes from a paint thinner substance stolen from a locker. One other inmate is still in serious condition at the medical center and the other two are expected to recover, Hamilton said.

Austin was serving a five-to-10 year sentence for an armed robbery conviction in Kalamazoo county, Hamilton said.

Surviving are his father, Marvin Austin, owner and operator of the Southern Inn Restaurant, Hartford; his mother, Mrs. Shirley Carroll, Portage; two sisters and a step brother.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday in Truesdale Chapel of the Pines, Westside at Milliken, Portage. Burial will be at 4:30 p.m. in Evergreen cemetery, Bloomhillsdale township.

Memorials may be made to Griffin Place, Kalamazoo.

members "a lot of rope" to carry out their duties.

"He's going to give them a lot of rope. If they don't perform, he's going to change them," Kirby said.

Carter "wants somebody that's bold, competent, independent and frank with him. He's not going to want to be talking to his department heads all the time. He's going to want them to run the thing and talk to him about meaningful things," declared Kirby in an interview with U.S. News and World Report.

Kirby also said that Carter's reputed stubbornness stood him in good stead when he was governor of Georgia.

"I was one of the early critics of him being stubborn. But I found out that there's a time to be stubborn," Kirby said.

As governor, Carter resisted legislative compromises until "the eleventh hour," when he could work out "a little better trade" with the legislators, Kirby related.

"He's a tough trader, real tough. And that's one thing that's going to be a shock to some people about money. He's going to be careful how he goes about spending money," Kirby predicted.

Discussing Carter's style, he said: "He'll continue to smile, and he'll continue to be gentle with people. But when he gets in a fight and it's something he wants passed, he'll stand there in the pocket and slug it out with you."

Kirby, who acknowledged that he was a conservative influence on Carter, said he would continue to advise Carter, but would not serve in the administration.

"Whenever I felt like it was a matter of the national interest, I would come. But Jimmy has grown out of my area of competence. He's on a national and international scene now. There's just a growing number of things that I don't know anything about," he said.

With wife Rosalynn and daughter Amy, Carter attended Sunday services at the Plains Baptist church where the Rev. Clemon King, a black nondenominational preacher from Albany, Ga., has turned down two invitations to worship.

The Rev. Mr. King's application for membership in the church stirred a controversy that ended with the congregation revoking a 1965 policy against admission of blacks.

A committee later was formed to pass on membership applications. It is not expected to act in the Rev. Mr. King's case until January. He told the pastor, the Rev. Bruce Edwards, Sunday: "I'm going to stay out here until you accept me as a member. My goal is not to attend church services. My goal is to become a member of the church."

The meeting Nov. 23, also included a progress report from outgoing president Harry Ball, retired director of consumer affairs for Whirlpool Corp., who resides at 2903 Villa drive, St. Joseph township.

Dr. Beck, who practices at Sawyer, was honored for efforts in strengthening membership of the association.

The meeting Nov. 23, also included a progress report from outgoing president Harry Ball, retired director of consumer affairs for Whirlpool Corp., who resides at 2903 Villa drive, St. Joseph township.

The association issued other awards, including Distinguished Woman of the Year to Michigan Supreme Court Justice Mary Coleman of Battle Creek.

It Could Be 'Disastrous'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Three state department heads contend a recommended 6 per cent hike for state employees, without adequate funding from the legislature, would be "disastrous." "The fat's long since gone and we're crying for help at this stage of the game," state health director Maurice Reizen said Friday at a hearing before the state Civil Service Commission. Unless a pay raise is fully funded by the state, health services would be cut back and state-funded nutrition programs could be "wiped out," he said. The officials complained two other pay raises awarded in the last two years to Michigan's 58,000 classified employees have not been fully funded by the legislature on the assumption that departments can swallow the extra cost by eliminating fat and waste. But, said Department of Social Services Director John Dempsey, "If we go to a layoff policy, we don't lay off the fat, we lay off the newest people." Department of Corrections Director Perry Johnson echoed the remarks.

Treeless In Plains

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — A plastic Christmas tree that irked some residents of Jimmy Carter's hometown has been hauled down by vandals. Police say there are no suspects because "nobody saw it." The tree was erected Dec. 4 as Plains' official Christmas tree. Jimmy's brother Billy was among more than 100 Plains residents who signed a petition asking that it be replaced with a real tree. Billy was even quoted as saying he'd take it down himself. The tree was in the town park, across the street from the police station and Billy's gas station. On Sunday night, Larry August and Philip Sage said they were standing on the main street when "a beat-up blue car backed up in front of the tree." A few moments later, they reported, "Suddenly we heard a crash, and the car literally drag races out." Someone apparently had tied a rope from the car to the upper part of the tree, they said. When the car took off, tires screaming, the tree dragged along behind, sending sparks all over the street. Police officer Denny Terry gave chase and found the tree's remains lying in the road about a mile away. He said it looked like "when the rope broke, they just kept going." The tree was destroyed and the ornaments broken. "I don't think there's no fixing for it," Terry said.

A check with school officials showed that Figlus missed the first period that began at 8 a.m. and arrived late at the second period, Mihalik said. Figlus remained in school until the end of regular sessions at 2 p.m. Mihalik said he and another officer went to the Figlus home at 2:30 p.m. and the arrest was made after questioning that continued at the police station after the youth's mother was advised to seek legal counsel for her son.

So far, the weapon has not been found, Mihalik said, adding that police hope any citizens with information or finding a knife will contact the department. Mihalik said a ground search for a knife included about a mile from the Arneson home to the high school and about three-quarters of a mile from the Figlus home to the school.

Mihalik said the murder weapon may be a hunting knife with a blade of about four or five inches.

Juvenile Court Services Director Kehoe said a petition to waive Figlus into Berrien District court would be considered only after juvenile court arraignment before a probate judge and before an adjudicatory hearing, which is the equivalent to a trial in juvenile court.

Kehoe said such a request could be delayed by defense motions and a formal charge at the arraignment could be altered from the present charge.

Age 15 is the youngest permissible for waiver consideration, Kehoe said. He said even in felony cases, waivers to adult court are not granted for anyone age 14 or younger. People arrested automatically enter court as adults if they are 17 or older.

In considering waivers of jurisdiction, probate judges weigh several factors, Kehoe said. He said these include the seriousness of the crime, past criminal record, results of state training programs, if any, and consideration of the best interest for public safety.

Man Faces New Break-In Charge

HARBERT — A man on bond on a charge of breaking and entering in Coloma township was arrested early today on a charge of breaking and entering a Harbert grocery, according to state police.

Trooper Donald Beck said Eugene Crawford, 49, was booked at Berrien county jail on a charge of breaking and entering Mr. Dee's market, Harbert. Beck said Crawford was on bond and awaiting circuit appearance on a charge of breaking and entering Ed's Cafe, Coloma township, Aug. 26.

When arrested in August, Crawford's address was listed as 963 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, and his occupation as Berrien county road commission employee. The commission office said this morning Crawford is no longer employed there. Crawford's address today on the booking sheet at the jail was given as 1605 Pearl street, Fairplain.

Beck and Trooper Charles Bohm reported they investigated a car parked near Mr. Dee's Market on Red Arrow highway. They then discovered a break-in at the store, but when they returned to the car it was gone.

A car was stopped about 20 minutes later on I-94 in Lincoln township by Troopers Gary Truszkowski and William Cahill and Chikaming township Police Chief Ivan Zimmerman. Troopers said Crawford was then booked at the county jail.

Beck reported apparently nothing was taken from the market, but several cartons of cigarettes had been stacked near the door.

Training Center Inmate Is Dead

PAW PAW — Scott Lee Austin, 21, of 6203 Ibis court, Portage, Mich., died Saturday in the Oakland Medical Center, Pontiac, Mich. He was born June 22, 1955, in Paw Paw.

Hospital officials said Austin died after being treated eight days for inhalation of a paint thinner material. An autopsy has been scheduled to determine the exact cause of death.

Austin, an inmate at the Michigan Training Center in Ionia, was taken to the medical center Dec. 3 after he and three other inmates were found violently ill.

Training center Supt. Richard Handlon said an investigation by state police showed that the four had attempted to get high by inhaling fumes from a paint thinner substance stolen from a locker. One other inmate is still in serious condition at the medical center and the other two are expected to recover, Handlon said.

Austin was serving a five to 10 year sentence for an armed robbery conviction in Kalamazoo county, Handlon said.

Surviving are his father, Marvin Austin, owner and operator of the Southern Inn Restaurant, Hartford; his mother, Mrs. Shirley Carroll, Portage; two sisters and a step brother.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday in Truesdale Chapel of the Pines, Westnedge at Milham, Portage. Burial will be at 4:30 p.m. in Evergreen cemetery, Bloomingdale township.

Memorials may be made to Griffin Place, Kalamazoo.

members "a lot of rope" to carry out their duties.

"He's going to give them a lot of rope. If they don't perform, he's going to change them," Kirby said.

Carter "wants somebody that's bold, competent, independent and frank with him. He's not going to want to be talking to his department heads all the time. He's going to want them to run the thing and talk to him about meaningful things," declared Kirby in an interview with U.S. News and World Report.

Kirby also said that Carter's reputed stubbornness stood him in good stead when he was governor of Georgia.

"I was one of the early critics of him being stubborn. But I found out that there's a time to be stubborn," Kirby said.

Berrien Dentist Honored

The Michigan Association of Professions during a recent directors meeting at East Lansing awarded its Booster-of-the-Year award to Raymond Reek, DDS, of 1883 North Valley View drive, St. Joseph township.

Dr. Reek, who practices at Sawyer, was honored for efforts in strengthening membership of the association.

The meeting Nov. 23, also included a progress report from outgoing president Harry Ball, retired director of consumer affairs for Whirlpool Corp., who resides at 2903 Willa drive, St. Joseph. Ball told of significant growth of the association and introduced new directors.

Ball is currently executive director of Michigan Society of Professional Engineers.

The association issued other awards, including Distinguished Woman of the Year to Michigan Supreme Court Justice Mary Coleman of Battle Creek.

It Could Be 'Disastrous'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Three state department heads contend a recommended 6 per cent hike for state employees, without adequate funding from the legislature, would be "disastrous." "The fat's long since gone and we're trying for help at this stage of the game," state health director Maurice Reizen said Friday at a hearing before the state Civil Service Commission. Unless a pay raise is fully funded by the state, health services would be cut back and state-funded nutrition programs could be "wiped out," he said. The officials complained two other pay raises awarded in the last two years to Michigan's 58,000 classified employees have not been fully funded by the legislature on the assumption that departments can swallow the extra cost by eliminating fat and waste. But, said Department of Social Services Director John Dempsey, "If we go to a layoff policy, we don't lay off the fat, we lay off the newest people." Department of Corrections Director Perry Johnson echoed the remarks.

Treeless In Plains

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — A plastic Christmas tree that irked some residents of Jimmy Carter's hometown has been hauled down by vandals. Police say there are no suspects because "nobody saw it." The tree was erected Dec. 4 as Plains' official Christmas tree. Jimmy's brother Billy was among more than 100 Plains residents who signed a petition asking that it be replaced with a real tree. Billy was even quoted as saying he'd take it down himself. The tree was in the town park, across the street from the police station and Billy's gas station. On Sunday night, Larry August and Philip Sage said they were standing on the main street when "a beat-up blue car backed up in front of the tree." A few moments later, they reported, "Suddenly we heard a crash, and 'the car literally drag races out.' Someone apparently had tied a rope from the car to the upper part of the tree, they said. When the car took off, tires screaming, the tree dragged along behind, sending sparks all over the street. Police officer Denny Terry gave chase and found the tree's remains lying in the road about a mile away. He said it looked like "when the rope broke, they just kept going." The tree was destroyed and the ornaments broken. "I don't think there's no fixing for it," Terry said.

Michigan Senate Majority Leader Facing Challenge

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — "The only way Bill Fitzgerald will win the election is because of outside pressures from the union, the Catholic Church and his uncle."

Such a blunt statement seems out of keeping from easy-going Bill Faust. But then it also

SEN. BILL FAUST Challenges Fitzgerald

seems unlikely that Faust would be the main challenger to William Fitzgerald for Senate Majority Leader.

Senate Democrats go behind closed doors later this week to decide whether Fitzgerald, elected leader two years ago before he served a day in the Senate, will continue as head of the 24-member majority caucus. Although William Faust of Westland has not committed himself irrevocably to run against him, he is judged the only lawmaker with a chance to upset the Detroit.

"There isn't a stampede to make Bill Faust leader," Faust admitted. "The stampede is a negative one against Fitz's leadership."

The two men could hardly be more dissimilar. Fitzgerald, 34, is a beefy, outgoing ex-high school basketball star with a habit of offending his colleagues with a heavyhanded lack of tact and respect for their position as state senators. A rising star of the Democratic party, he is seen as a likely gubernatorial candidate.

Faust, 47, is wheelchair-bound from a 1966 auto accident. Small and mild and popular with his colleagues, he is winding up his 10th year in the Senate with no aspirations of higher office.

Those qualities, however, have pushed him forward as the "compromise" candidate. Many senators resent Fitzgerald's use of the leadership post to further his political ambitions, others find his personality grating, and others chafe under what restrictions he has been able to impose on furniture, spending, traveling and other benefits of office. Continuing clashes in Democratic caucuses led to the members to vote to hold new elections this week, instead of letting Fitzgerald serve out the full four-year term.

Some lawmakers suggest that Faust has some support because he is seen unlikely to ride herd on the personal desires of his colleagues. Others note with pleasure he will pay more attention to the wishes of the caucus.

With less than a week to go, both men judged themselves in good shape for the contest, although there was little evidence either had it locked up. Sen. Earl Nelson of East Lansing, one of the chamber's four blacks, has also proclaimed his candidacy, but is given little chance to win it. "If any of us has 13 votes (the needed majority), we don't know it," Nelson said.

Faust feels he has a good chance at the post if senators don't bow to the pressures of the United Auto Workers. The UAW was instrumental in Fitzgerald getting the job two years ago and is urging his reelection. Also influencing the election is the Michigan Catholic Conference, which backs Fitzgerald, and his uncle, George Fitzgerald, a highly respected former majority leader.

If elected, Faust says, he would pay more attention to the caucus and abide by its wishes. "All authority belongs to the caucus," he said. And he promised to do away with "favoritism" in the Senate's inner workings — the use of money, staff and committee assignments in return for votes and support.

Faust makes no claim he can "lead" the Senate in the sense of controlling it or dictating policy as Fitzgerald has tried to do. "There are 38 prima donnas there," he noted ruefully.

Other lawmakers call him a "compromiser," "low-keyed," and a man who listens to both sides and keeps his temper while seeking harmony.

He would urge the adoption of formal rules to give the Senate majority leader official duties. Unlike the Speaker of the House, who has specific powers in committee assignments and other matters, he is mainly a figurehead who can wield power only with his own personality and the permission of the members.

Faust says he would present a new set of rules to define the leader's power, and recommend the establishment of subcommittees in the caucus to administer personnel, the referral of bills and other routine business which has caused so much divisiveness.

"The office is there for the smooth running of the Senate," he said. "I think it is wrong it should be used as a tool."

Michigan Senate Majority Leader Facing Challenge

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — "The only way Bill Fitzgerald will win the election is because of outside pressures from the union, the Catholic Church and his uncle."

Such a blunt statement seems out of keeping from easy-going Bill Faust. But then it also seems unlikely that Faust would be the main challenger to William Fitzgerald for Senate Majority Leader.

SEN. BILL FAUST Challenges Fitzgerald

Senate Democrats go behind closed doors later this week to decide whether Fitzgerald, elected leader two years ago before he served a day in the Senate, will continue as head of the 24-member majority caucus. Although William Faust of Westland has not committed himself irrevocably to run against him, he is judged the only lawmaker with a chance to unseat the Detroit.

"There isn't a stampede to make Bill Faust leader," Faust admitted. "The stampede is a negative one against Fitz's leadership."

The two men could hardly be more dissimilar. Fitzgerald, 34, is a beefy, outgoing ex-high school basketball star with a habit of offending his colleagues with a heavyhanded lack of tact and respect for their position as state senators. A rising star of the Democratic party, he is seen as a likely gubernatorial candidate.

Faust, 47, is wheelchair-bound from a 1966 auto accident. Small and mild and popular with his colleagues, he is winding up his 10th year in the Senate with no aspirations of higher office.

Those qualities, however, have pushed him forward as the "compromise" candidate. Many senators resent Fitzgerald's use of the leadership post to further his political ambitions, others find his personality grating, and others chafe under what restrictions he has been able to impose on furniture, spending, traveling and other benefits of office. Continuing clashes in Democratic caucuses led to the members to vote to hold new elections this week, instead of letting Fitzgerald serve out the full four-year term.

Some lawmakers suggest that Faust has some support because he is seen unlikely to ride herd on the personal desires of his colleagues. Others note with pleasure he will pay more attention to the wishes of the caucus.

With less than a week to go, both men judged themselves in good shape for the contest, although there was little evidence either had it locked up. Sen. Earl Nelson of East Lansing, one of the chamber's four blacks, has also proclaimed his candidacy, but is given little chance to win it. "If any of us has 13 votes (the needed majority), we don't know it," Nelson said.

Electoral College Unknowns Elect President Today

By ROBERT E. CULLEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the day that Walter Minch of Parma, Ohio, and 537 other relatively unknown Americans are going to elect a president of the United States.

Minch and his colleagues are members of one of the nation's oldest and most exclusive colleges — the electoral college. Under the Constitution, the electoral college, and not the 79 million persons who voted last month, selects the next president.

Minch is one of the majority of electors pledged to Jimmy Carter, who has been acting as President-elect since the Nov. 2 election in anticipation of today's formality.

In 50 state capitals and the District of Columbia, 538 presidential electors will meet to cast their ballots. A state's electoral total is equal to the number of congressmen and senators from the state. The District of Columbia gets three electoral votes. The man who gets 270 or more votes wins.

If all goes predictably, Carter will get 297 votes and President Ford will get 241. The results will be sent to Washington and announced Jan. 6 by Vice President Nelson Rockefeller.

Only then will Carter officially be declared the president-elect. The drawn out schedule is a relic of the slower pace of travel and communications in 1787, when the plan was written.

But all does not always go predictably. In Ohio, a group of Republicans sought a ruling from a federal judge that would block Minch and Ohio's other 21

Carter electors from voting in Columbus. They claim vote fraud tainted Carter's 11,000-vote victory there last month.

Even if their suit succeeded, Carter would stand a good chance to be elected, since he would expect to receive 272 votes, two more than the necessary majority.

There is no constitutional requirement that the electors vote for the candidate to whom they are pledged. In 1822, for example, Virginia elector Roger Taney, pledged to Richard Nixon, voted instead for John Quincy Adams, that year's Libertarian party presidential candidate. MacBride himself was the Libertarian candidate this year.

Actions like MacBride's are rare. But it is custom and political party discipline, not the force of law, that prevent electors from voting in Columbus. They claim vote fraud tainted Carter's 11,000-vote victory there last month.

Ind., who has tried several times to get Congress to pass an amendment providing for direct presidential election.

He recently noted that the switch of just 8,000 votes from Carter to Ford in close states like Ohio and Hawaii could have given Ford an electoral college victory without a majority of the popular vote.

Direct election, he said, would help restore the confidence of the people in their government. He promised a renewed effort to pass the amendment in 1977.

Meanwhile, Walter Minch was preparing to play his small role in the election of Jimmy Carter. If he was entertaining any maverick ideas, he did not say so.

"Perhaps if something drastic happened to the presidentelect's background, I could change my vote," he said, but he added that he has not seen anything to change his favorable estimate of Carter. "I'm rather excited by the opportunity to cast a vote for president of the United States."

Carter Vows To Announce Energy Policy By April 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The departing Ford administration is handing the incoming Carter team a raft of unfinished energy business, ranging from fuel taxes to the fate of the nuclear breeder reactor.

President-elect Carter promised Northeastern governors last week that he would develop a unified energy policy by April 1.

A group of Carter's transition staffers got their first full-scale briefing in a recent marathon session at the Interior Department, where Ford administration officials sketched through major issues facing the new administration.

Summarizing the briefing in an interview, Stanley Doremus, deputy assistant interior secretary for program development and budget, said offshore oil and Western coal development pose major policy questions for the Carter administration.

He said the Carter administration will have to decide whether to keep the present schedule of offshore petroleum leasing and will face other, more substantive issues dealing with the Outer Continental Shelf.

Even if their suit succeeded, Carter would stand a good chance to be elected, since he would expect to receive 272 votes, two more than the necessary majority.

There is no constitutional requirement that the electors vote for the candidate to whom they are pledged. In 1972, for example, Virginia elector Roger MaBride, pledged to Richard Nixon, voted instead for John Hospers, that year's Libertarian party presidential candidate. MacBride himself was the Libertarian candidate this year.

Actions like MacBride's are rare. But it is custom and political party discipline, not the force of law, that prevent maverick votes from negating the will of the people as expressed in the popular vote.

The framers of the Constitution, in fact, did not envision direct election by the people of the president. In an age of monarchies, direct election smacked too much of anarchy.

As Alexander Hamilton wrote in "The Federalist," it was "peculiarly desirable to afford as little opportunity as possible to tumult and disorder."

So the electoral college was invented as an intermediary group. Choosing electors, Hamilton thought, "will be much less apt to convulse the community... than the choice of one who was himself to be the final object of the public wishes."

The Hamiltonians felt that the election of a president was too important to leave directly to the people. They envisioned the college as an elite group of wise men who would select a leader in the best interests of the nation.

Such elitist notions died soon after the rise of political parties, which also were not envisioned by the Founding Fathers. They soon learned to put up full slates of reliable loyalists pledged to their nominees. The electors rarely strayed from their pledges.

The system has given the nation three presidents who lost in the popular vote: John Quincy Adams in 1824; Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876; and Benjamin Harrison in 1888.

Adams, the second-place finisher in a four-way race, was elected by the House of Representatives, which chooses the president in case no one wins a majority of the electoral vote. Hayes and Harrison finished second in the popular vote, but they carried enough big states, although by narrow margins, to win a majority in the college.

The possibility that the college might again thwart the popular will has concerned some contemporary lawmakers, such as Sen. Birch Bayh, D-

Ind., who has tried several times to get Congress to pass an amendment providing for direct presidential election.

He recently noted that the switch of just 8,000 votes from Carter to Ford in close states like Ohio and Hawaii could have given Ford an electoral college victory without a majority of the popular vote.

Direct election, he said, would help restore the confidence of the people in their government. He promised a renewed effort to pass the amendment in 1977.

elect's) background, I could change my vote," he said, but he added that he has not seen anything to change his favorable estimate of Carter. "I'm rather excited by the opportunity to cast a vote for president of the United States."

St. Joseph police at 11:39 a.m. Saturday investigated vandalism in the lobby of Lakeview Estates apartments, 2700 Lakeshore drive, where three 12 by 12-inch panels had been pried off a wall.

Thieves Keep Berrien Police Hopping Over Weekend

Eight thefts in Benton Harbor and the reported theft of more than $800 in cash from a service station safe in St. Joseph township were among 11 larcenies investigated by Twin Cities area police over the weekend.

St. Joseph township police said $807 was reported stolen from a safe at the Owens Oil service station, 300 West Empire avenue, Saturday. Police reported Alfred Wade, station supervisor, discovered the cash missing when he opened the station Saturday morning.

In Benton Harbor, city police said Roy B. Fries, 675 Broadway, reported he found his home ransacked late Sunday and his cockatoo bird missing. Police said the top of the bird cage was removed and the bird either stolen or allowed to fly away. It was not determined immediately if anything else was missing.

Benton Harbor police said the home of William Tisdell, 785 Buss avenue, was also reported ransacked with $7 in cash and an unknown amount of food stolen.

Other thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

—A tape player and bed spread valued at $244 from the home of Rosie Clay, 410 Summit street.

—Six rugs valued at $40, owned by Carolyn Yates, 562 Broadway, and stolen from the Wash Bowl automatic laundry, Second and Main streets.

—Stereo and citizens' band radio equipment valued at $547 from the home of Floyd Campbell, 739 Superior.

—A tape player and clock radio totaling $115 from the home of Lafayette Rockette, 824 Monroe street.

—A $100 television set from the home of Gertrude Maggett, 895 Pavone street.

—A $25 watch from the home of Willie Sanders, 141 North Seeley street.

Two thefts reported to Benton township police were:

—Bowling equipment and a tape player, all valued at $220, from the pickup of Eula Tarantino, Watervliet, parked at Blossom bowling lanes, 2305 M-139.

—A CB radio, valued at $191, from the car of Floyd Meyers, 1363 St. James street, Benton township, parked at Fairplain Plaza.

The theft of a wallet containing $99 in a Benton Harbor bar was reported Saturday afternoon by Acie Gilmore, 39, of 1803 Council drive, Benton township, who told police a woman grabbed the wallet from his hand after a man draped a coat over his head.

Police said no arrests have been made but an investigation is continuing into the complaint filed by Gilmore at 1:45 p.m. from the Brooklyn tavern, 379 Territorial road. Gilmore told police he had purchased a pack of cigarettes when the incident occurred and added that by the time he pulled off the blindfolding coat, the woman disappeared.

Police questioned a man who said the coat was draped over Gilmore's head to prevent the possibility of a fight.

A Benton township man was arrested in Benton Harbor Saturday night when police responded to a burglar alarm installed in the home of Annie Sheffield, 621 East Main street.

Booked on a charge of breaking and entering was Larry Porter, 25, 1090 Highland avenue.

The electronic alarm was sounded in a private security firm office at 9:38 p.m.

Police said on responding a man was found under a bed in the basement of the home. Annie Sheffield was away at the time, police said. Seized by police were a pocket calculator, woman's watch, ring and two combs.

Benton township police said Donald Alan Crowder, 17, of 710 South Fair avenue, Benton township, was arrested Sunday on a charge of breaking and entering. He was booked at the Berrien county jail.

Police said they found a young man inside the Larry Mix home, 1048 East Empire avenue, shortly before 6 p.m. Mix called police when he returned home and found the rear door of the home smashed in.

State police of the Benton Harbor post said two Illinois men were arrested Sunday afternoon on charges of carrying concealed weapons as a result of separate traffic stops.

Troopers said a car was stopped on I-94 in Benton township with amber headlights, illegal in Michigan. An allegedly loaded .38 caliber revolver was seized. Booked at the Berrien county jail was Richard Lewis Reese, 28, Joliet, Ill.

Troopers reported Tommy Green, 26, Chicago, was booked at the Berrien jail after his car was stopped for speeding on I-94 near Napier avenue, Benton township. A .22 caliber pistol was seized, troopers said.

Three incidents of vandalism to autos were reported Sunday to Benton Harbor police.

Eddie Randolph, 468 North Winans street, told police all four tires on his 1971 Mustang were slashed while it was parked in the 300 block of North Hull avenue.

James Parker, 407 Clay street, said the rear side window of his 1969 Buick was smashed out. Police said an unknown object was used.

Police said a BB-gun apparently was used to break the drivers' side window of the 1966 Chevrolet of Fred Stahl, 933 Bishop avenue.

St. Joseph police at 11:39 a.m. Saturday investigated vandalism in the lobby of Lakeview Estates apartments, 2700 Lakeshore drive, where three 12 by 12-inch panels had been pried off a wall.

Health News . . .

HE SAID HE WAS WALKING ON A PIT FULL OF STRAW

A woman recently wrote, "What is dizziness? Every time I tell my husband I'm dizzy he wants me to describe it. I can't, can you?"

That is a recent challenge we've submitted to Dr. Ackerman of the Ackerman Chiropractic Center.

"Dizziness has many meanings and the manifestations vary with the cause," says the good doctor. "I've heard the term used to describe reeling, light-headedness, faintness, giddiness, weakness, hazy vision or confusion. Others," Dr. Ackerman continued, "are more articulate in their description. They say it's like 'walking on a pit full of straw,' 'going down an elevator,' 'uneasy,' or 'something in front of my eyes.'"

"My best try at describing true vertigo," says Dr. Ackerman, "is to say the sensation resembles the dizziness we develop as children when rolling downhill or turning around and around while, in a standing position. The world turns about when the eyes are open, but when closed we would whirl about in space like an astronaut."

Dr. Ackerman does explain that dizziness is not an uncommon symptom, but the manner in which an individual experiences it is important to the Doctor's diagnosis. For instance, the childish sensation described above is a type of vertigo that stems from a disturbance of the centers of equilibrium in the ears or brain.

"A person with high blood pressure is more likely to complain of light-headedness than of true vertigo," says Dr. Ackerman.

You can help the Doctor by telling him when the dizziness occurs. An example, notes Dr. Ackerman, is the "olderster who almost falls when he jumps out of bed or stands up too quickly. He could well have a circulatory problem."

"Of course," says Dr. Ackerman, "the most meaningful thing about dizziness is that, it is a symptom, and one that should not be ignored. Only recently I heard of a patient who complained of dizziness when he turned his head to the side or upwards. On examination it was found that he was suffering from an arthritic spine. Needless to say, had it not been for his dizziness he would have not sought treatment for a very serious and often eventually crippling problem."

Dr. Ackerman maintains offices at 3918 Red Arrow Hwy. St. Joseph (Telephone 429-1700) ADV. (C) 1974

FIRE'S AFTERMATH: Garage at Richard Witucki home north of Bridgman was gutted by Saturday morning fire that also destroyed vehicle in garage and claimed life of a cat. Fire broke out again about noon Saturday in attic of attached Witucki home on Poplar lane in Wildwood Estates subdivision. Second fire caused damage to home's kitchen, bathroom and a bedroom, according to Lake township Fire Chief Norman Zelmer. He said no cause for original fire has been determined, but said second blaze may have been caused by sparks from first fire. There has been no estimate of damage to the all-brick home, he said. No Stalling, He Says

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — William Marshall, state president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, has denied charges that labor unions have stalled reform of worker's compensation. He said organized labor has been "leading the fight" to rewrite the compensation law. "We have offered compromises, granted concessions, served on commissions and task forces to get this done," said Marshall. "I am sorry to say that the Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan Manufacturers Association have consistently opposed any bill that had a chance to pass the legislature." Marshall said both organizations have made remarks that implied labor was dragging its feet.

SECOND RITE OF RECONCILIATION: The Most Rev. Carroll T. Dozier, bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Memphis (center) is flanked by priests of the diocese at Jackson (Tenn.) Civic Center as he conducts second Rite of Reconciliation, a general forgiveness of sin for active and inactive members of the church. About 2,000 people attended. (AP Wirephoto)

Catholic Bishop Conducts Second Absolution Rite

By JERRY GRAY
Associated Press Writer
JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — Despite criticism, Bishop Carroll T. Dozier has performed a "Rite of Reconciliation" for the second straight Sunday, granting mass forgiveness of sins to thousands of Roman Catholics.

"In times past, all of us have been hurt and all of us have hurt. Now we ask forgiveness, we forgive each other," Bishop Dozier said in giving general absolution to about 2,000 Catholics here.

The first such rite, attended by 12,000 people in Memphis last week, was unprecedented in the United States and brought criticism from some Catholic leaders. They felt the forgiveness without individual confession of sins should be administered only in emergency situations, such as to soldiers entering battle.

In opening remarks before his brief sermon, Bishop Dozier —

Chides Authors

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — In his Nobel prize lecture, American novelist Saul Bellow said contemporary writers do not understand contemporary man.

Writers fail to see that people are yearning for the "simple and true," he said, adding that a "group of nummies, the most respectable leaders of the intellectual community" have "laid down the law" and their accepted wisdom is not questioned enough.

who heads the Memphis diocese — acknowledged the criticism. "There are those who view what we are doing as outside the concept of Jesus Christ," the bishop said. "But you are the light of the nation. The good news of the Gospel is reflected here and I ask that through your good faith, the good news be spread."

Bishop Dozier said the Mass was a personal appeal to Catholics who over the years had stopped attending church for reasons of apathy, cultural changes or changes in the church itself.

After last week's ceremony, some bishops said general absolution might be helpful in bringing some Catholics back to active participation, such as those who had been excluded from communion for remarrying after being divorced.

A sampling of those attending the bishop's Mass on Sunday found few who said they had long been absent from church. But all were happy about the service.

"I think it's good," said Austin Brown, 72, of Paris, Tenn. "I have been with the Catholic church all my life and I think it was wonderful. I was glad to come, and I think it will bring about a sense of unity in the church."

Many persons cried openly during the 90-minute service at the Jackson Civic Center.

"I looked across the aisle and saw this lady with tears streaming from her eyes," said one woman. "then I realized that I was crying too."

Exchange Students Out In Cold?

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The director of an international student exchange program says his organization is broke and 150 students could be stranded without return plane tickets next month unless the group gets some money.

Frederick Luddy said Sunday the Ann Arbor-based International Cultural Exchange Corp. (ICX) is so broke he has been working as an unpaid volunteer since August and closed the ICX office and moved its headquarters into his home.

Luddy estimated it will take between $50,000 and $75,000 to return all the high school-age students now living abroad to their homes Jan. 10, when they are scheduled to come back.

The students include Americans, South and Central Americans and Japanese, who are studying in this country, Europe and the rest of the Americas.

Luddy said the group is contemplating legal action against the state department, which he said has placed "blocks in the road" of a possible merger between the ICX and other exchange groups. The ICX board of directors recently authorized Luddy to seek a merger with any other exchange program that would assume control of it.

He said a possible merger with the Experiment in International Living was blocked because state department officials refused to approve the special visa status needed for exchange programs.

"The visa program is a driver's license for student exchanges," Luddy said. "If you don't get that, you're in real difficulty." He accused state department officials of showing "a policy of planned inattention" and of "leaving ICX free to suffer privately." Luddy said the group's lawyers met this weekend to discuss possible legal action.

Luddy, 47, a former director of Gov. William Milliken's volunteer programs office and once dean of admissions for Brandeis University, said 2,400 students participated in the ICX program in 1974-75, compared to fewer than 1,000 this year. He said he had reduced the ICX debt by half a million dollars in the 14 months he has been executive director.

Hubbard Picks...Hubbard

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Orville L. Hubbard, mayor of Dearborn for the past 34 years, has named his heir-apparent — 48-year-old Frank Hubbard, his eldest son. A real estate-right of way agent for the Wayne County Road Commission, Frank Hubbard confirmed reports Friday that he was selected at a family meeting to run for the mayor's office next year. "My father has released his campaign material to me and has given us his blessing," he said. "He is endorsing my candidacy. My father will serve out the remainder of his term to January, 1979." Mayor Hubbard, 73, was paralyzed by the first of two strokes in November, 1974. But city council members voted to retain him in office with Mayor Pro Tem Thomas D. Dolan handling day-to-day operation of the city. Frank Hubbard said his brother, 42-year-old John Jay Hubbard, Dearborn's city clerk, will file petitions seeking reelection to that post. Frank Hubbard has never run for political office.

Takes Panax Job

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — David Hayhow, the former executive assistant to Lt. Gov. James Dammann, has been named assistant to the president of Panax Corp., a newspaper publisher. Hayhow, a former newspaperman, resigned as Dammann's top staff aide earlier this month. In his new job, Hayhow will work for Panax president John McGuff as an aide and as director of public affairs.

Multi-Million Deficit

DETROIT (AP) — The City of Detroit faces a multi-million-dollar budget deficit next July 1, and may seek a tax increase, according Mayor Coleman Young. In an interview with the Detroit News, Young said he favors having the legislature enact a statewide nuisance tax. It would provide up to $50 million for Detroit and a proportionate amount for other Michigan cities, he said. Young said another method would be to ask lawmakers to increase the city's income tax both on residents and nonresidents who work in Detroit. The last time Detroit sought a nonresident income tax hike, it was rejected by the legislature, but Young said he thought the measure would have a better chance this year.

Hart Scholarship Fund

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken and former Gov. G. Mennen Williams announced they are creating a Philip A. Hart Scholarship Fund in honor of the retiring U.S. senator from Michigan. Milliken said a steering committee including politicians, media people and business executives would meet next week to plan ways to raise funds for the scholarship fund and draft guidelines for distribution. Hart, whose 64th birthday was Friday, will retire at the end of this month. He is dying from cancer. Before his election to the Senate in 1968, Hart served two terms as lieutenant governor of Michigan under Williams. Contributions to the fund can be sent to the Philip A. Hart Scholarship Fund, Lake Superior State College, Sault Ste. Marie.

Flap Over Invitations

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state public information officer has been transferred to another department after inviting fellow workers to a Christmas luncheon and "drink-in." James LaRoue said he distributed what he called tongue-in-cheek invitations last week. He said he suggested "in jest" on the invitation that participants might like to "arrange to be sick that afternoon." The Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems obtained a copy of the private invitation and criticized LaRoue publicly. LaRoue was transferred immediately to the Michigan Department of State's Bureau of Department Services. He later said the group had overreacted to what he described as a flippant invitation. Norman Berkowitz, deputy secretary of state, said the transfer had been under consideration for some time for "budgetary reasons." But he said the party invitation flap "speeded things up."

FIRE DAMAGES TRAILER: Bangor fireman looks at remains of trailer home heavily damaged by fire yesterday morning. Trailer was home of LeRoy Johnson, 63rd street, Bangor township. Firemen said trailer was engulfed in flames when they arrived shortly after 10 a.m. Trailer is on site where a house owned by Johnson was destroyed by fire about two years ago, firemen said. No one was home yesterday when fire was discovered and reported by a neighbor. Cause has not been determined. Loss was estimated $11,500. (Tom Renner photo)

Abortion Is 'Real Issue'

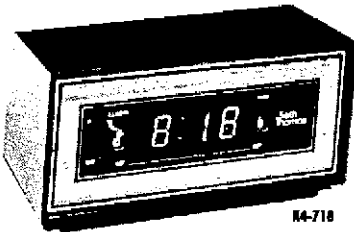

DETROIT (AP) — A controversial women's health facility here may be forced to shut its doors or find a new home by next Thursday. The Detroit Zoning Board of Appeals has issued an order to close the Feminist Women's Health Center, claiming the center has failed to meet building, yard, lot and parking requirements. But there's more to it than that, says Chris Hennel, center director. "In our own meetings with the women of the neighborhood, they admitted parking was not the issue, but that the real issue was abortion, even though some of these same people have had abortions in our clinic," she said.

Hubbard Picks...Hubbard

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Orville L. Hubbard, mayor of Dearborn for the past 34 years, has named his heir-apparent — 46-year-old Frank Hubbard, his eldest son. A real estate-right of way agent for the Wayne County Road Commission, Frank Hubbard confirmed reports Friday that he was selected at a family meeting to run for the mayor's office next year. "My father has released his campaign material to me and has given us his blessing," he said. "He is endorsing my candidacy. My father will serve out the remainder of his term to January, 1978." Mayor Hubbard, 73, was paralyzed by the first of two strokes in November, 1974. But city council members voted to retain him in office with Mayor Pro Tem Thomas D. Dolan handling day-to-day operation of the city. Frank Hubbard said his brother, 42-year-old John Jay Hubbard, Dearborn's city clerk, will file petitions seeking reelection to that post. Frank Hubbard has never run for political office.

Takes Panax Job

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — David Hayhow, the former executive assistant to Lt. Gov. James Damman, has been named assistant to the president of Panax Corp., a newspaper publisher. Hayhow, a former newspaperman, resigned as Damman's top staff aide earlier this month. In his new job, Hayhow will work for Panax president John McGoff as an aide and as director of public affairs.

Multi-Million Deficit

DETROIT (AP) — The City of Detroit faces a multi-million-dollar budget deficit next July 1, and may seek a tax increase, according to Mayor Coleman Young. In an interview with the Detroit News, Young said he favors having the legislature enact a statewide nuisance tax. It would provide up to $50 million for Detroit and a proportionate amount for other Michigan cities, he said. Young said another method would be to ask lawmakers to increase the city's income tax both on residents and nonresidents who work in Detroit. The last time Detroit sought a nonresident income tax hike, it was rejected by the legislature, but Young said he thought the measure would have a better chance this year.

Hart Scholarship Fund

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken and former Gov. G. Mennen Williams announced they are creating a Philip A. Hart Scholarship Fund in honor of the retiring U.S. senator from Michigan. Milliken said a steering committee including politicians, media people and business executives would meet next week to plan ways to raise funds for the scholarship fund and draft guidelines for distribution. Hart, whose 64th birthday was Friday, will retire at the end of this month. He is dying from cancer. Before his election to the Senate in 1958, Hart served two terms as lieutenant governor of Michigan under Williams. Contributions to the fund can be sent to the Philip A. Hart Scholarship Fund, Lake Superior State College, Sault Ste. Marie.

Flap Over Invitations

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state public information officer has been transferred to another department after inviting fellow workers to a Christmas luncheon and "drink-in." James LaRoue said he distributed what he called tongue-in-cheek invitations last week. He said he suggested "in jest" on the invitation that participants might like to "arrange to be sick that afternoon." The Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems obtained a copy of the private invitation and criticized LaRoue publicly. LaRoue was transferred immediately to the Michigan Department of State's Bureau of Department Services. He later said the group had overreacted to what he described as a flippant invitation. Norman Berkowitz, deputy secretary of state, said the transfer had been under consideration for some time for "budgetary reasons." But he said the party invitation flap "speeded things up."

FIRE DAMAGES TRAILER: Bangor fireman looks at remains of trailer home heavily damaged by fire yesterday morning. Trailer was home of LeRoy Johnson, 63rd street, Bangor township. Firemen said trailer was engulfed in flames when they arrived shortly after 10 a.m. Trailer is on site where a house owned by Johnson was destroyed by fire about two years ago, firemen said. No one was home yesterday when fire was discovered and reported by a neighbor. Cause has not been determined. Loss was estimated $11,500. (Tom Renner photo)

Abortion Is 'Real Issue'

DETROIT (AP) — A controversial women's health facility here may be forced to shut its doors or find a new home by next Thursday. The Detroit Zoning Board of Appeals has issued an order to close the Feminist Women's Health Center, claiming the center has failed to meet building, yard, lot and parking requirements. But there's more to it than that, says Chris Hennel, center director. "In our own meetings with the women of the neighborhood, they admitted parking was not the issue, but that the real issue was abortion, even though some of these same people have had abortions in our clinic," she said.

NO 'CHOPSTICKS' FOR CHUNGS

Koreans Musical Family

By DOLORES BARCLAY
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The sound of strings blending with piano flowed through the apartment in one rich swell. The Chungs were warming up.

The Chungs — two sisters and brother — finished the exercise. A photographer was there, and the clicking of his still camera added a curious note to the sweet music.

They left their instruments — violin, cello and piano — and burst out laughing. It was all for the camera.

"Oh, we haven't begun to rehearse. That was just a warm-up," said Myung-Wha Chung, a cellist and the eldest member of the talented Korean family.

Even in their brief warmup there was that technical precision and musical passion that is so apparent in live performance and on record. "Music is a part of our lives. It's almost like breathing," said

Kyung-Wha, the petite violinist. Kyung and Myung are on a tour of the Northeast with their pianist brother, Myung-Whun, for the American-Korean Cultural Society. A concert tour for the Chungs is rare, they seldom perform together in this country.

"We had to find the time when all three of us could do this," said Myung-Whun. "It might be the only time we will do it. Something like a group, especially a family, is attractive in this country."

"But there's the danger of being over-publicized and always being identified as a trio."

They want to be known individually — they scoff at being called "The Chung Trio" when they do appear together. "We love making music together, we really do," said Myung-Whun, and there were nods of assent. "But we each strongly pursue individual careers."

Kyung-Wha was the first to get international attention. At 19, she shared first place in the 1967 Edgar M. Leventritt International Competition.

Four years later, Myung-Wha, then 26, won first prize in the Geneva International Music Competition. Myung-Whun, 23, placed second in the 1974 Tchaikovsky International Piano Competition in Moscow.

Individually, they have captivated audiences all over the world, playing with orchestras in London, New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Cleveland and Berlin.

Their secret? They respond with "devotion," "intensity," "passion."

"Our inspiration comes only from music," said Myung-Whun. "It was a part of our education."

"Mother was a wonderful influence," Myung-Wha said. "She had such a wonderful wisdom."

"Yes," said Kyung-Wha. "Our parents strongly encouraged us. Father did not have a classical background."

"In fact," the brother added, "most people are surprised to find neither mother or father were musicians. But they are some of the most musically oriented people I know."

The Chungs began their musical training early in life in Korea. The Chung household had a rich collection of records, and the parents considered music lessons a matter of course in growing up.

"Classical music was introduced late in Korea," Kyung-Wha said. "But Koreans took the music like fresh air. We accepted classical music with no hangups, with no preconditions."

The classical form was so new, said Myung-Wha, that as a child she rarely saw a cellist older than 30 with the Seoul Philharmonic.

The sisters first learned voice and piano. Myung-Wha also studied ballet and a third sister, Myung-So, studied flute. Piano didn't hold their interest.

"I never really felt close to that instrument," Kyung-Wha said. "I never felt freedom with the piano. The violin and I clicked. It became a total obsession."

She was two when she made her first public appearance, singing on a Korean children's program. She took up the violin at six, winning a national music competition by the time she was nine.

Myung-Wha won the same honor when she was 12, playing

Lutherans Airing Holiday Special

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Approximately 3,400 radio stations in the United States, Canada and around the world, including several major overseas outlets, will carry the 1976 Lutheran Hour Christmas special, "Christmas in Brazil — A Son for Everyone," during this holiday season.

The number of stations airing the program this year exceeds the record of 3,200 set in 1975. In addition to the 1,100 stations in the U.S. and Canada which regularly carry The Lutheran Hour, another 900 stations, including NBC and Mutual affiliates, have agreed to carry the holiday special.

The largest overseas outlet to carry the program will be the American Forces Network with 958 outlets on U.S. military installations and U.S. Navy ships. Also carrying the program will be the British Broadcasting Corporation's Radio 2, a domestic network, and the BBC World Service, the shortwave network. Other major overseas outlets include Vatican Radio; Downtown Radio in Belfast, Northern Ireland; Deutscher Demokratischer Radio in East Germany; Radio Ecclesia in Angola; Radio Afghanistan; Cyprus Broadcasting Corporation; and the Rhodesia Broadcasting Corporation.

In this year's special Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, speaker on The Lutheran Hour since 1955, explores the varied culture and Christmas customs of South America's largest country. Guests on the program include a Lutheran missionary and Brazilian teenagers from various cultural and ethnic backgrounds who talk about how their families celebrate Christmas.

The International Lutheran Laymen's League, a 145,000-member auxiliary of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, has sponsored The Lutheran Hour for more than 40 years.

NO 'CHOPSTICKS' FOR CHUNGS

Koreans Musical Family

By DOLORES BARCLAY
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The sound of strings blending with piano flowed through the apartment in one rich swell. The Chungs were warming up.

The Chungs — two sisters and brother — finished the exercise. A photographer was there, and the clicking of his still camera added a curious note to the sweet music.

They left their instruments — violin, cello and piano — and burst out laughing. It was all for the camera.

"Oh, we haven't begun to rehearse. That was just a warm-up," said Myung-Wha Chung, a cellist and the eldest member of the talented Korean family.

Even in their brief warmup there was that technical precision and musical passion that is so apparent in live performance and on record. "Music is a part of our lives. It's almost like breathing," said

Kyung-Wha, the petite violinist. Kyung and Myung are on a tour of the Northeast with their pianist brother, Myung-Whun, for the American-Korean Cultural Society. A concert tour for the Chungs is rare, they seldom perform together in this country.

"We had to find the time when all three of us could do this," said Myung-Whun. "It might be the only time we will do it. Something like a group, especially a family, is attractive in this country."

"But there's the danger of being over-publicized and always being identified as a trio."

They want to be known individually — they scoff at being called "The Chung Trio" when they do appear together. "We love making music together, we really do," said Myung-Whun, and there were nods of assent. "But we each strongly pursue individual careers."

Kyung-Wha was the first to get international attention. At 19, she shared first place in the 1967 Edgar M. Leventritt International Competition.

Four years later, Myung-Wha, then 26, won first prize in the Geneva International Music Competition. Myung-Whun, 23, placed second in the 1974 Tchaikovsky International Piano Competition in Moscow.

Individually, they have captivated audiences all over the world, playing with orchestras in London, New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Cleveland and Berlin.

Their secret? They respond with "devotion," "intensity," "passion."

"Our inspiration comes only from music," said Myung-Whun. "It was a part of our education."

"Mother was a wonderful influence," Myung-Wha said. "She had such a wonderful wisdom."

"Yes," said Kyung-Wha. "Our parents strongly encouraged us. Father did not have a classical background."

"In fact," the brother added, "most people are surprised to find neither mother or father were musicians. But they are some of the most musically oriented people I know."

The Chungs began their musical training early in life in Korea. The Chung household had a rich collection of records, and the parents considered music lessons a matter of course in growing up.

"Classical music was introduced late in Korea," Kyung-Wha said. "But Koreans took the music like fresh air. We accepted classical music with no hangups, with no preconditions."

The classical form was so new, said Myung-Wha, that as a child she rarely saw a cellist older than 30 with the Seoul Philharmonic.

The sisters first learned voice and piano. Myung-Wha also studied ballet and a third sister, Myung-So, studied flute. Piano didn't hold their interest.

"I never really felt close to that instrument," Kyung-Wha said. "I never felt freedom with the piano. The violin and I clicked. It became a total obsession."

She was two when she made her first public appearance, singing on a Korean children's program. She took up the violin at six, winning a national music competition by the time she was nine.

Myung-Wha won the same honor when she was 12, playing

WYOMING: Coal Boom Heralds New Era

By JAMES FLINCHUM
CHEYENNE, Wyo. (NEA) — In west central Wyoming, 50 miles southwest of Casper, a granite dome rises some 130 feet above the surrounding prairie.

Three-quarters of a mile in size, this boulder is Independence Rock, one of the historic landmarks on the Oregon Trail. Thousands of pioneers poured over the trail in long wagon trains in the 1840s and 1850s, bound for new homes in Oregon and California.

Historians aren't sure about the origin of the rock's name but it was popular as early as the 1830s. One pioneer, Rufus Sage, wrote in 1841 that the rock's name was derived from a party of Oregon Trail travelers who celebrated Independence Day there sometime in the past.

If the wagon trains of the Oregon Trail, as represented by Independence Rock, were yesterday, coal is today, for Wyoming, the second most lightly populated state in the nation and the eighth largest in size, is on the verge of an industrial development boom that may take it from its largely agrarian tourist economy into a new era.

Wyoming has long been an oil-producing state, and last year yielded 140 million barrels of conventional petroleum. But it is coal, which was discovered by some of the earliest settlers, but left unused until the Union Pacific built west across the future state in 1867, that promises the brightest glow in Wyoming's economic future — until now it has been left mainly to grazing cattle and sheep.

Union Pacific began using coal to fuel its locomotives in the early 1870s mainly because on coal were moribund.

Today, thanks to the revived demand for coal, especially the mainly low-sulfur coal available in Wyoming, this mineral is enjoying a revival and offers the promise of an economic boom of unparalleled proportions. Long strings of "unit" coal trains — those which haul 90 to 100 gondolas loaded with coal — are headed to Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and elsewhere.

In northeastern Wyoming a company called Energy Transportation Systems Inc. (ETSI) is launching a $730 million, 1,036-mile pipeline which will move 25 million tons of coal a year in slurry form from the strip mines of Campbell County to the vicinity of Pine Bluff, Ark. Co. If it is built it will be the longest slurry pipeline in the world.

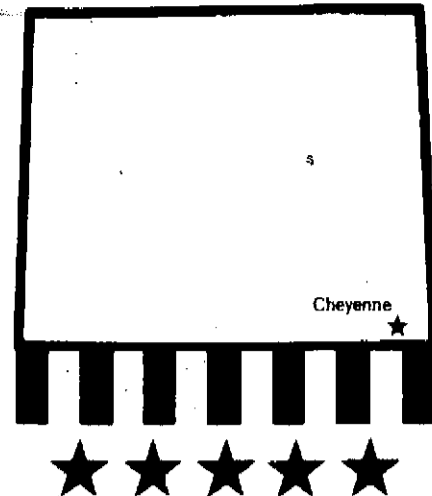

Estimates vary but between

$2.5 billion and $6 billion in projects are either in the formative stage or being envisioned for Wyoming in the next six to eight years, most of them related to coal.

A major power generating facility is planned at Wheatland in southeastern Wyoming where the Missouri Basin Power Project, a consortium of six public power concerns in the upper great plains states, plans to build the $700 million Grey Rocks plant on the Big Laramie River using coal from the Powder River Basin.

Its generating capacity also will be 1.5 million kilowatts, and will serve public power consumers, including rural electric cooperatives and municipal power plants, in North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Montana, Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado as well as Wyoming.

So, as Independence Rock symbolizes the past, the 319-foot boom of Medicine Bow Coal Company's $8 million dragline which protrudes above the barren gullies north of Hanna, may symbolize the wave of the future.

Song: Wyoming State Song. Entered Union: July 10, 1890; rank, 40th. Nickname: Equality State.

The French explorers, Francois and Louis Verendrye, were the first European visitors, 1743. John Colter, American, was first to traverse Yellowstone Park, 1807-08. Trappers and fur traders followed in the 1820s. Forts Laramie and Bridger became important stops on the pioneer trail to the West Coast. Indian wars followed massacres of army detachments in 1854 and 1866. Population grew after the Union Pacific crossed the state, 1869.

Mining is the largest industry but the state ranks second in wool production. Women won the right to vote, for the first time in the U.S., from the Territorial Legislature, 1869.

Dancers Stilled

NEW YORK (AP) — A musician's strike has forced the New York City Ballet, one of the world's foremost dance companies, to suspend the remainder of its 1976 season.

The traditional, popular Christmas presentation of the "Nutcracker Suite" is among the casualties.

MIKE MANSFIELD

Mansfield Is Changing Some Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retiring Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has had second thoughts about proposals for breaking up the big oil companies and starting a national health care system.

Mansfield, interviewed Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," said he would like to reconsider the vote he once cast in favor of a resolution calling for the splitting of the oil companies. He did not elaborate.

He also said he has come around to President-elect Carter's view that the country cannot afford to create a health care system all at once. He now would like to see a system phased in over a period of years, he said.

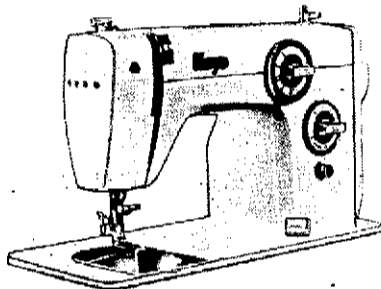

"When I looked at the cost of putting it into operation immediately — $50 billion-$60 billion — I had some second thoughts," he said.

The Montana Democrat also talked about American policy toward Korea, from which he has advocated that U.S. troops be withdrawn. He said he favored a gradual withdrawal, coupled with a continuing American "aerial umbrella" against aggression.

WYOMING: Coal Boom Heralds New Era

By JAMES FLINCHUM
CHEYENNE, Wyo. (NEA) — In west central Wyoming, 50 miles southwest of Casper, a granite dome rises some 130 feet above the surrounding prairie.

Three-quarters of a mile in size, this boulder is Independence Rock, one of the historic landmarks on the Oregon Trail. Thousands of pioneers poured over the trail in long wagon trains in the 1840s and 1850s, bound for new homes in Oregon and California.

Historians aren't sure about the origin of the rock's name but it was popular as early as the 1830s. One pioneer, Rufus Sage, wrote in 1841 that the rock's name was derived from a party of Oregon Trail travelers who celebrated Independence Day there sometime in the past.

If the wagon trains of the Oregon Trail, as represented by Independence Rock, were yesterday, coal is today, for Wyoming, the second most lightly populated state in the nation and the eighth largest in size, is on the verge of an industrial development boom that may take it from its largely agrarian tourist economy into a new era.

Wyoming has long been an oil-producing state, and last year yielded 140 million barrels of conventional petroleum. But it is coal, which was discovered by some of the earliest settlers, but left unused until the Union Pacific built west across the future state in 1867, that promises the brightest glow in Wyoming's economic future — until now it has been left mainly to grazing cattle and sheep.

Union Pacific began using coal to fuel its locomotives in the early 1870s mainly because on coal were moribund.

Today, thanks to the revived demand for coal, especially the mainly low-sulfur coal available in Wyoming, this mineral is enjoying a revival and offers the promise of an economic boom of unparalleled proportions. Long strings of "unit" coal trains — those which haul 90 to 100 gondolas loaded with coal — are headed to Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and elsewhere.

In northeastern Wyoming a company called Energy Transportation Systems Inc. (ETSI) is launching a $750 million, 1,036-mile pipeline which will move 25 million tons of coal a year in slurry form from the strip mines of Campbell County to the vicinity of Pine Bluff, Ark. Co. If it is built it will be the longest slurry pipeline in the world.

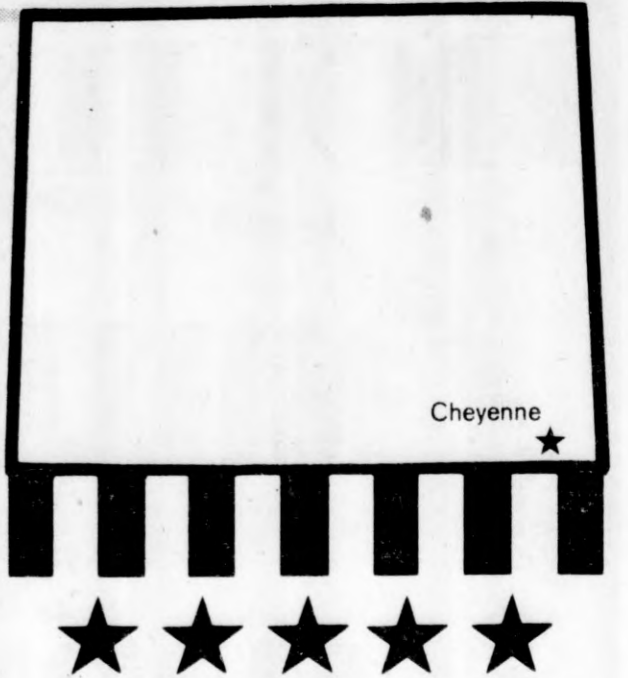

Estimates vary but between

$2.5 billion and $6 billion in projects are either in the formative stage or being envisioned for Wyoming in the next six to eight years, most of them related to coal.

A major power generating facility is planned at Wheatland in southeastern Wyoming where the Missouri Basin Power Project, a consortium of six public power concerns in the upper great plains states, plans to build the $700 million Grey Rocks plant on the Big Laramie River using coal from the Powder River Basin.

Its generating capacity also will be 1.5 million kilowatts, and will serve public power consumers, including rural electric cooperatives and municipal power plants, in North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Montana, Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado as well as Wyoming.

So, as Independence Rock which protrudes above the barren gullies north of Hanna, may symbolize the wave of the future.

River Valley Girl Cagers 'Win' Hearts

Big Turnout Greet State Runners-Up

BY JOHN DYE
Staff Writer

THREE OAKS — River Valley high school's girls basketball team lost the Class B state championship contest Saturday night, but they remained winners in the hearts of some 400 people who welcomed the team home yesterday afternoon. A noisy caravan, led by police and fire department sirens, took the team on a tour of the school district that ended with a pep rally at the high school gym. Ivan Zimmerman, Chikaming township police chief, estimated the automotive snake dance was two miles long.

James White, school athletic director, pointed to the gleaming runner-up trophy, and told the team "you're always gonna be number one with us." White's statement brought a standing ovation response, the first of several times the crowd rose to applaud the team and head coach Fred Knutel.

The Mustangs' season ended on a 52-38 defeat at the hands of Marine City Saturday night in suburban Grand Rapids. The team, first ever in the history of the high school to reach state finals, ended the season with a 23-1 mark. Carl Anderson, school board president, expressed the board's "appreciation" for the team, and praised them for the "positive focus" their efforts made for the school district.

Dr. Charles Williams, superintendent, told the girls the team presented a challenge to the school district to "meet the highest standards." Donald Bussler, high school principal, noted the girls basketball program at the school began only four years ago, and dubbed the team the "ten River Valley 'Wonder Women.'"

Coach Knutel told the team and the audience, "I'm proud not only because of their athletic achievement, but also their conduct on and off the court." Each of the 10 girls on the team also addressed the crowd, praising their coach, teammates and fans. Several cried and were unable to finish their remarks.

The rally was followed by a reception for the team members and their parents. White also announced that a special dinner would be held to honor the girls basketball program at the school on Dec. 20, at 6 p.m.

But of all announcements made, the one drawing the greatest response was one from Dr. Williams that amounted to a day off for high school students. Williams said that today would be an "independent study day" for high schoolers, with teachers on duty to help students. He added that high school buses "will be idle and no lunch will be served!"

State's Lawmakers Pushing Campaign Bill

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan lawmakers aim to wind up the two-year legislative session this week with passage of a campaign regulation bill. Other last-minute business is jammed into a hectic three days.

The legislature is scheduled to adjourn by Thursday, with all bills short of the governor's desk dying at the end of the month. There are few battles expected, since most legislation has been cleared for passage or been given up for dead long ago.

That will leave such controversial issues as worker's compensation, land use, further political reform and several environmental measures for next year.

The main goal this week is enactment of a major bill to regulate campaign contributions and provide partial public funding of gubernatorial campaigns. The bill cleared the House last week, and is expected to win Senate agreement by mid-week.

The bill is a combination of two key elements of the sweeping 1975 political ethics law, which also regulated lobbying and required financial disclosure by public officials. The law was overturned by the Supreme Court on a technicality.

Gov. William Milliken vetoed a gubernatorial funding bill earlier this fall in a dispute with majority Democrats in the legislature over the campaign financing bill. He said it left too many donations unreported and gave labor an advantage over industry.

But last-gasp bargaining sessions produced a compromise as Democrats agreed to require more extensive reporting of donations and to permit businesses to establish political action groups and spend money on ballot issues.

The stalemate broken, the bill was rewritten in a House committee to include both major provisions and hustled through the chamber. It also would provide revenues for gubernatorial campaigns through an income-tax checkoff on tax returns.

Both chambers have other major legislation waiting for final action, however. The House is slated to act on pay raises for top state officials and bills to bar the discriminatory use of zoning to exclude foster care facilities in residential neighborhoods.

The Senate, meanwhile, will tackle two major bills approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee late last week. One would compile all the state's anti-discrimination laws into a new civil rights act. The other would make it easier to examine and copy public records.

Other bills may produce disagreements which will require quick appointment of House-Senate conference committees to hammer out differences by the end of the week. They include legislation setting up a mobile home commission and providing funds for school districts with declining enrollments.

March Of Dimes Volunteers Sought

The Berrien county chapter of the March of Dimes is calling on volunteers to help in the Mothers' March Against Birth Defects, Jan. 23 through 30. Mrs. Valerie Grimes, executive secretary of the Berrien chapter, said volunteers from all over the county are needed to go door-to-door collecting money during the annual campaign.

Berrien Sheriff Forrest (Nick) Jewell, county March of Dimes campaign chairman, said: "The March of Dimes funds research may one day erase birth defects from the face of the earth. Until that time, the March of Dimes supports medical service programs aimed at upgrading maternal and infant care." Interested volunteers should contact the county office in Coloma at 468-8346, Mrs. Grimes said.

Coloma Schools Have 3rd Break-In

COLOMA — Coloma police said they are investigating a break-in at the Coloma junior high school Saturday night in which an undetermined amount of change was taken from a pop machine and several interior windows were broken.

The break-in was discovered Sunday afternoon, police said.

It was the third school break-in in Coloma within the past 16 days. Officers said break-ins were reported at the high school Nov. 26 and Dec. 5.

Entry was gained to the junior high building by prying open a door to the school's electrical room on the south side of the building. The key to the pop machine was then taken from an adjoining custodian's room, police said.

Inside the building, the windows of three doors had been smashed to gain entry to a teachers' conference room, the library and the library office.

Police said lunch tickets may have been taken from the school office which adjoins the teachers' conference room.

Troopers Vs. Teachers At 7:30 Tonight

LAWRENCE — A team made up of state police officers from the Paw Paw post will play the Lawrence high school faculty in a benefit basketball game tonight at 7:30 in the high school gym. Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students. Proceeds will go to the Lawrence high school athletic fund.

Bomb Disarmed

NEEDHAM, Mass. (AP) — Demolition experts disarmed a dynamite bomb found early today at the entrance to a Union Carbide administration building, state police said.

Police said the bomb consisted of 20 sticks of dynamite, a

Roofing Tar Fire Doused In Coloma

COLOMA — Coloma firemen were called to the Donald McAnelly residence, 7261 Sylvester street, Coloma township, about 2:40 p.m. yesterday to extinguish a blaze in hot tar McAnelly was spreading on the roof.

Firemen said the rooftop fire was doused before any structural damage occurred. The blaze was believed to have started in a tar bucket McAnelly was using, firemen said.

New Buffalo Twp. Slates New Hours

NEW BUFFALO — New hours for the New Buffalo township office will go into effect Wednesday, Dec. 15, according to Mrs. Jeannine Dalton, township clerk. Under the new hours, the office will be open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Wednesday; 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday; closed Friday; and 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Dalton said that in addition to the announced new hours, township Treasurer Joann Fleck will be in the office Fridays to accept property tax payments during tax season. Mrs. Dalton said the office hours were changed so it would be open at times convenient for working residents, particularly those working out-of-state in a different time zone.

South African Riots Spur Big Spree Of Gun-Buying

By MATT FRANJOLA
Associated Press Writer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — White South Africans have gone on a gun-buying spree since rioting erupted in a number of black townships around the country last June.

Police and arms dealers say that 90 per cent of those buying arms are people who have never owned or fired a gun.

"Some people come in and wave their guns like bananas," said Sam Kamber, a Rhodesian who operates an indoor shooting range called Gun City. "They are dangerous."

Officials say that on almost every application for a gun license the reasons given for wanting to own a gun are "self-defense" or "self-protection."

One Cape Town arms dealer, W. M. Rawbone, said that in a six-week period in August-September his firm sold out what normally would be a year's supply of guns.

Mervyn Ullman of Johannesburg's Combat Gun Shop said, "Demand has outstripped supply. They're buying anything that goes bang. We'll be selling sling shots soon."

South Africa has about 1.5 million licensed gun owners among its white population of 4.5 million. There are estimated 250,000 unlicensed weapons in the country. By contrast, the United States has about 25 million licensed guns in a population of 213 million.

The rush for arms, primarily pistols, reached fever pitch on Oct. 15 — a day when black militant pamphlets in the Johannesburg area called upon blacks to "kill whites and abduct white children." The day passed uneventfully but the pamphlets terrified large numbers of whites.

Black organizations in and out of South Africa denounced the pamphlets. The Soweto township's Students Representative Council said, "Black people are not butchers but responsible fighters for our liberation." They insisted their struggle was nonviolent.

Most of the rioting and violence has occurred in nonwhite townships on the outskirts of white cities, beginning with June's student uprising in Soweto, outside Johannesburg.

At least 370 persons, all but three black, have been killed and more than 2,000 wounded in the violence. Most casualties were caused by police bullets, according to official reports.

The weapons craze, although countrywide, is centered in Johannesburg.

Men and women of all ages now carry pistols in quick-draw holsters, shoulder holsters, in brief cases and purses or tucked in their belts.

The proliferation of guns in the hands of untrained persons frightens some police and professional shooting instructors, who argue for a proficiency test before a license is given. To get a license, a white must be 21 (18 with parents' permission) and not convicted of a crime of violence.

Police Col. Willem van der Merwe in Johannesburg's Hillbrow Precinct, a fashionable white residential apartment area similar to New York's Upper East Side, said, "The extent of irresponsibility with firearms needs to be seen to be believed. In my job, I see it. Some whites I meet who are licensed to carry guns should have their license revoked."

Gun City's Kamber said "90 per cent of the people who use the range are new shooters."

Kamber, who advocates stricter gun licensing, added: We get husbands who don't know where their gun's safety is located trying to teach their wives how to shoot.

"We use hundreds of Band Aids on people who get their thumbs jammed by the hammer or pinched by the slide on an automatic pistol."

"The women are more sensible than the men. They admit they know nothing about guns,

GUN CITY: Wives of white South Africans take aim during class recently at indoor shooting range in Johannesburg called Gun City where they are learning to use their husbands' weapons. Business has been booming at range, first of its kind in city, since rioting last June in black townships around Johannesburg stimulated a gun-buying spree. (AP Wirephoto) that they are scared of guns and that they want to learn properly."

According to the law a person can aim to kill only in the last resort, when lives are in danger. A number of people interviewed said they were not sure they would have the courage to shoot someone, even in an emergency.

Guns and ammunition in South Africa are expensive because of United Nations arms embargo imposed in 1963.

American citizens are prohibited from shipping arms to South Africa under the U.S. Neutrality Act. Earlier this year, the export manager of Colt Industries of Hartford, Conn., was sentenced to a year in jail for illegal sales to South Africa and Winchester-Western International, the arms manufacturer in New Haven, Conn., acknowledged that sales employees had been making illegal sales averaging $301,000 a year to South Africa against company policy.

Firearms experts say many weapons getting into South Africa are made in the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet Baikal semiautomatic shotgun and the Czechoslovak 22-caliber Brno semi-automatic rifle are available for sale here. These weapons are believed to be shipped via the free port at Hamburg, West Germany, officials said.

France, Brazil, Spain, Italy and Finland also supply guns through cloak-and-dagger gunrunners in Europe, experts say. American arms find their way to South Africa through intermediaries, which raises the price of a Colt .45 Commander from about $225 in the United States to over $600 in South Africa.

Few blacks are licensed to carry guns in South Africa. A police official said any black who has a license has a record 10 times cleaner than a white.

The World, a black newspaper in Johannesburg, wrote in an editorial, "What worries us is the fact there may be psychopaths roaming the streets itching to shoot some blacks... Problems which could be solved without resorting to arms, may become shooting incidents... Every bullet that falls a black person makes it more difficult for people to talk..."

South African Riots Spur Big Spree Of Gun-Buying

By MATT FRANJOLA
Associated Press Writer
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — White South Africans have gone on a gun-buying spree since rioting erupted in a number of black townships around the country last June.

Police and arms dealers say that 90 per cent of those buying guns are people who have never owned or fired a gun.

'Victory At Entebbe' First-Rate

JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Last July 4, Israeli commandos stunned the world with their daring raid at Uganda's Entebbe Airport and their rescue of 103 persons, mostly Jewish, held hostage by Palestinian terrorists.

It was an incredibly dramatic story. Predictably, two networks — ABC and NBC — scrambled to have it recreated as a TV movie. ABC was determined to show its version first. It'll achieve its goal tonight.

And its three-hour "Victory at Entebbe" is generally a first-rate production, even though made against a brutal deadline that had producer Bob Guenette still working on the program last weekend.

The cast is quite good, although two "name" stars — Kirk Douglas and Elizabeth Taylor — have roles so brief I suspect they were installed only for publicity reasons and to aid overseas theater sales.

Written by Ernest Kinoy, this well-paced, tightly-edited show starts with the terrorists' June 27 hijacking of an Air France jumbo jet with more than 250 persons aboard.

The Tel Aviv-to-Paris flight makes a brief stop in Athens, Greece, where lax airport security permits the hijackers, two of them German nationals, to board the ship with hidden guns and grenades.

And the terror starts moments after take off as the German leader of the terrorists, brilliantly played by Helmut Berger, dashes into the cockpit and sets into motion the events that led to the Entebbe raid.

"We're not blood-thirsty murderers, no matter what the world Zionist propagandists say," he tells the passengers over the intercom of the plane when it lands at Entebbe after a refueling stop in Libya.

He says the hijacking aims at calling world attention to the Palestinian cause. He haltingly adds: "I don't want to kill you. But I'm a little tired and very confused ... and now, you have a little inkling of a lunatic's mind at work."

The tension builds in scene after scene, be it the cabinet meetings of Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin (Anthony Hopkins), the planning of the raid by Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres (Burt Lancaster) or the bizarre, unreal posturings of Uganda President Idi Amin.

(Amin was to have been played by Godfrey Cambridge. The actor died of a heart ailment last Nov. 29 after completing only two scenes. Julius Harris, a relatively unknown, was rushed in to replace him.)

Harris does a superb, Emmy-caliber job, likewise Bibi Besch, frighteningly real as a screaming, Nazi-like member of the terrorist gang.

Other standout performers — Theodore Bikel as a passenger who survived Hitler's concentration camps; Richard Dreyfuss as the young American-born commando officer killed in the raid, and Hopkins.

The show has its flaws, particularly the dialogue assigned Helen Hayes, cast as an elderly passenger given to spunky quips. Her role is too reminiscent of the lady she played in "Airport."

But from what I've read of the hijacking and raid, Kinoy's script, containing some good character studies, seems remarkably faithful to the real events. The show bears watching ... and remembering.

MARTINEZ, Ga. (AP) — One member of the Georgia Motorcycle Rights Organization plans to use her political connections in an upcoming lobbying effort for repeal of motorcycle safety laws.

'SCHOOL'S OUT'

On the way south, when they crossed the Pit River bridge across Shasta lake, Hank Baum and Bud Overby saw another trucker who'd blown a tire and whose rig had hit the curb, stopping short of the steel rails. "It would be a hell of a note," they agreed, "to go through these rails and out into the lake."

And now, on this sunny May 3, 1953, they are on their way back north, hauling radishes and carrots and the first watermelons of the season from Los Angeles to Portland. They reach Bailey hill, about 10 miles north of Redding, Calif., and Bud Overby, who has just relieved Hank Baum at the wheel, eases the green and aluminum Sterling diesel down toward the same Pit River bridge. As Baum gets ready to climb into the sleeper behind the cab, he hears Overby mutter, "Uh oh."

"What's the matter?" "We just lost our steering."

Then, all they can see are the steel rails, and all they can feel is the front wheels hitting the curb, and all they can hear is the sound of tearing metal, and all Hank Baum can think is "School's out."

There's a sickening plunge. And then it stops. They are practically standing on the windshield. Forty feet straight down are the rocks at the edge of the water. "Well," suggests Hank Baum, "let's get out of this thing."

"Wait, cautions Bud Overby, still not quite believing. "Let's just sit a minute and try to figure what's holding us."

"Hey down there," comes a voice from the bridge. "Yeah!" "Are you all right?" "Yeah!"

"We got a rope up here and we'll try to pull you up."

The rope comes down, and smoke from burning diesel fuel sifts into the cab, and Bud Overby climbs out the window on the driver's side and says, "Good luck, Hank. I'll get the rope back down to you just as soon as I can."

Smoke fills the cab and Hank Baum hears Overby yell as he reaches the roadway and sees the rear wheels of the cab caught under the trailer, "It's well anchored, Hank." The smoke gets thicker Hank Baum climbs half way out the window for air.

The rope returns and Baum is pulled up. Then Bud Overby is holding him and they are saying how lucky they are and how "the man upstairs really has his arm around us," and then the cab and trailer burn and fall to the rocks.

Walter and Virginia Schau of San Anselmo, Calif., went fishing that opening day of the season and followed the green and aluminum diesel up Bailey hill and down onto the bridge. They watched it swerve and plunge. Walter Schau stopped his car and yelled for a rope. The man in the car behind him had one. While they dropped it over the side and hauled Bud Overby and Hank Baum to safety, Virginia Schau ran to a knoll across the bridge, and with the exposures left on the film which had been in her Brownie for more than a year, she took pictures of the rescue, and won a Pulitzer Prize.

Lawmaker Hits Lame-Duck Junkets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Pat Schroeder, D-Col., says she will ask the Internal Revenue Service to decide whether to tax lame-duck members of Congress for the cost of foreign travel.

Mrs. Schroeder accused the Democratic caucus of stalling on the issue. She proposed that the cost of foreign travel for a member of Congress who is serving out a term and has not been reelected be treated by the IRS as taxable individual income.

Ex-Official Indicted

DETROIT (AP) — A former deputy director of the Michigan Housing Authority has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge he extorted $2,000 from a builder in exchange for influence with the state. The indictment charged Philip Rhodes with accepting the payment in December 1971 from a Detroit builder. Rhodes, now a lawyer in private practice in Detroit, worked for the state from 1969 to last July. He refused to comment on the case. Asst. U.S. Atty. Harold Gurewitz said conviction under the indictment is punishable by 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — It would be premature to tear up the next tax bill that comes in the mail, but elimination of Wisconsin's property tax system has been proposed to a study commission.

Although the idea didn't catch on like wildfire, Robert Birnbaum at least persuaded the Wallace Commission on State-Local Relations and Financing Policy last week to call for further study of his idea that a "total state tax" be substituted for property and income taxes.

Is Modest

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — It would be premature to tear up the next tax bill that comes in the mail, but elimination of Wisconsin's property tax system has been proposed in a study commission.

Best-Selling Book Puts Small Publisher On Map

By ANTHONY POLK
Associated Press Writer
COVINGTON, Ga. (AP) — One day recently, the telephone rang in the two-room office of Mockingbird Books, a tiny publishing firm on one of the oak-lined side streets in this small, central Georgia town.

"Somebody wants the subsidiary rights division," Mary Eggle told her husband, John. "Do you want to take it or me?"

The Egles, owners and only employees of Mockingbird, grinned.

They had good reason. Mockingbird Books, situated in an old Southern colonial house replete with classic porch and rockers, is in the improbable position of publishing the book the New York Times says was until recently the No. 1 best-selling paperback in the country.

The book, "Life After Life," by Dr. Raymond Moody Jr., a Ph.D. in philosophy and a recent graduate of the University of Georgia School of Medicine at Augusta, has changed their lives.

Three-and-a-half years ago, the Egles were in the swim of what he describes as the "high pressure," tumultuous world of New York publishing — he as a sales manager with Ballantine Books; she as an editor-copy reader at Walker Inc.

But they got a chance to set up a small publishing company that would republish old, out-of-print Southern classics, and they "more than jumped at the chance ... for a more human living and working situation," says Eggle (pronounced Eagle).

They traded their small midtown Manhattan walkup apartment for an old clapboard house in the rolling countryside near here, and earned a modest living producing paperbacks with only limited sales — too small to interest large publishers, Eggle said.

But their quiet, slow life began to change when Eggle read a newspaper account of a Moody lecture about certain after-life phenomena reported by persons who died and then were brought back to life.

Eggle saw "an obvious book there," visited Moody, offered him a $1,000 advance and signed him to write the book.

The book, ignored by book reviewers, did not start fast. But then the news departments of newspapers began writing about it, and sales soared.

Those sales made Eggle revert to his old, New York ways of doing things. There were movie rights and foreign rights, and Eggle forgot about his other books and focused on No. 1.

"We were right back in it. The book was controlling us," Eggle said. "We used to debate whether we could get on the best-seller list, and then when it appeared on it, we forgot that and wanted to be No. 1."

But those pressures are off now. Mockingbird — for a "figure advance" — has licensed Bantam to issue the book, and in less than a month Bantam has produced more copies — 925,000 — than Mockingbird produced in the first 10 months — 180,000.

Now Eggle must repair the disarray of the rest of Mockingbird's line, and edit Moody's sequel to "Life After Life," — the publication of which could start it all over again.

SOUTHERN STYLE: Having had it with high pressure publishing world of New York, John Eggle moved south. Now he and wife Mary run their small publishing firm "Mockingbird Books" from two rooms in their southern colonial house in Covington, Ga. (AP Wirephoto)

Computer Can Forecast Your Chances Of Dying

By TIMOTHY HARPER
Associated Press Writer
MADISON, Wis. (AP) — What are your chances of dying in the next 10 years? How would certain changes in your habits affect your odds?

The University of Wisconsin Center for Health Sciences has a computer that can answer those questions and more.

It is programmed to allow a patient to type out answers to medical history and health pattern questions which the computer flashes on a small television screen.

After a 20-minute interview, the computer spews out a printout detailing "risk factors" in the patient's life, including how each factor increases or decreases the patient's chances of dying of various diseases and accidents.

The printout also indicates the patient's "health age" and how much younger it could be if the patient cut down on his bad habits and reduced his risk factors. For instance, a white male in his 20s with a normal 1.6 per cent chance of dying in the next 10 years increases his chances of dying in an auto accident tenfold if he drinks.

"It's preventative medicine," says Dr. Norman Jensen, who helped develop the computer setup. "We call it prospective health care. These risk factors show people what is more likely to happen to them and why. Knowing why gives them more of a chance to make a choice about taking care of themselves."

He says people want this type of statistical information. For instance, he said, everybody knows it's not good to smoke, but few people know that even moderate smoking makes them twice as likely to die of pneumonia.

"The information gives people priorities so that they can decide what, if anything, they want to change," Jensen says. He and Larry Van Cura, a computer specialist who helped set up the program, say its most significant impact will be on young people who really don't need annual physical exams.

"A routine checkup is very unlikely to turn up anything wrong in somebody who is feeling healthy," Jensen says. "A checkup is a waste of time and money."

Van Cura says the computer service is available to anyone for $5 but may soon drop to $1 or less. He says he hopes this type of do-it-yourself health care will lead people to assume more responsibility for their well being.

Van Cura, who hopes to keep including more data to find the effects of other risk factors, says he believes such computer systems will someday completely replace the traditional physical exams.

Better Rabies Vaccine Found

CHICAGO (AP) — A new vaccine produced in France is a "major breakthrough" in the treatment of humans exposed to rabies from the bite of an infected animal, a Philadelphia physician reports.

The number of shots has been reduced to about half that required with existing vaccines, according to Dr. Hilary Koprowski.

And the new vaccine produces virtually no side effects, he said.

HUGE LIMESTONE SCULPTURE OF HEREFORD BULL TAKES SHAPE IN KANSAS

Kansan Discovers Joy In Sculpture

HAYS, Kan. (AP) — Fritz Felten has been spending his time recently with a massive Hereford bull. And he says that sometimes he just can't tear himself away.

Felten sculpted the 10-foot-long, 6-foot-high, 4-foot-wide bull out of a 22-ton chunk of Indiana limestone at the Kansas State University Experiment Station in Hays.

"I don't know why but I can work on the thing every day for 10 months and not get sick of it," he says. "It just fascinates me. It's the perfect combination of physical activity and mental activity—always the challenge of something new."

Felten, a tall, thin, bearded resident of Hays for nearly all of his 43 years, has been sculpting for 19 of them. "I've got my life so under control it's just amazing. I know that sounds a little strange but I just don't have any limits, except mentally," he says.

"Oh, they say that only an idiot is completely happy, but I just really don't have any problems. I just don't get any static," he adds. Felten's father remembers him as quiet, an avid reader and "quite a runner in junior college. He used to draw sketches when we had company. He'd sit in a chair over in the corner, never did talk much. But when they left, he had sketches of them," his father says.

Felten, who is single, lives with his parents and takes in stray cats, says he dropped out of school after he discovered he could sculpt. Now his art often commands his attention.

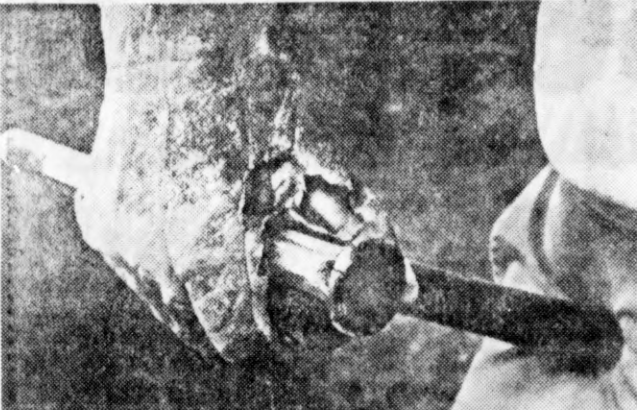

"If I'm not doing it I'm thinking about it," he says. "It sort of takes over your mind...no matter what you're doing. It's continually intriguing to me."

Besides the bull, Felten has sculpted a bison for Fort Hays' centennial, a pioneer family for the city of Oberlin and other creations.

"I suppose I hit my peak about 10 years ago with my buffalo. I'm on my way down," he says.

Barbara Walters Could Be Back On Morning TV

Q: What will ABC do if Barbara Walters doesn't work out as a newscaster with Harry Reasoner? One million dollars is a lot of money to throw away. — G.K., Bath, O.

A: It won't be a loss by any means. What ABC would do is switch Barbara to their very successful "Good Morning America" show. Barbara would not replace Nancy Dussault, upset over a recent Esquire magazine profile. The article had him as a pretentious, difficult perfectionist who has a very low tolerance point for his fellow performers.

Q: Having seen Margaux and Mariel Hemingway in "Lipstick" and then Mariel on her own in the TV movie, "I Want to Keep My Baby," I'm wondering if the junior Hemingway is going to steal the acting honors from her older, more famous sister? — R.Z., Duluth, Minn.

A: She already has. "Lipstick" was a disastrous debut for Margaux, who hasn't had another film offer, but Mariel, at 14, is not only a fine natural performer but has offers coming her way out in Idaho. Her TV producer, Joanna Lee, now wants to star her in another film called "The Colorado Kids" and believes that Mariel "could be the finest actress in the country if she wanted that."

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: What's causing the great storm over the usually staid and placid New Yorker magazine? The younger folks are trying to get the publication unionized, much to the horror of the upper echelon. The old guard maintains that the magazine has always been generous to its employees, but the unionizers say the goodness has always been limited to those special people in the inner circle.

Q: You've mentioned how Olympic Decathlon champ Bruce Jenner wants a big TV

WALTERS: She'd do a switch

ASTAIRE: A movie in Ireland

MARIEL: Could be the finest . . .

and movie career. But is it also true that his wife is ambitious as a would-be actress? — R.M., Hanover, N.H.

A: Christie Jenner is dying to be a big actress and makes her debut in an ABC-TV movie co-starring with Lorne Greene and George Maharis. Some Hollywood execs think ex-airline stewardess Mrs. Jenner may have a bigger show biz career than her husband. Q: True or false: Do those big round-the-world luxury liners stow a few coffins aboard just in case a passenger passes on while at sea? — S.P., Wilmington, N.C.

A: Alas, it's true. The ships usually carry around five caskets, and on one long trip recently, seven passengers died of natural causes. Usually the body is shipped home from the next port of call, although sometimes the surviving mate will ask for burial at sea. Not long ago an elderly widow insisted on finishing her trip, deciding that she'd give her husband a nice funeral when they got back to the States.

Q: I miss Richard Schaal on Cloris Leachman's TV show this season. What's he doing with his own career, and is he still happily married to Valerie Harper, since she's the bigger name? — V.L., Pasadena, Calif.

A: No problems here. Schaal and Valerie are a perfect couple, despite her shining stardom. Schaal, a serious actor and teacher, is currently co-starring with Colleen Dewhurst in a new play headed for Broadway.

Q: I keep reading that Bette Midler's going to break into the movies, but when? — J.L., Des Moines, Iowa.

A: Bette and her lover-manager Aaron Russo have a big movie deal signed and set, but coming up with the right property has proved challenging. Now Bette's signed funny lady Joan Rivers to help write a screenplay about a far-out performer who gets mixed up with her producer — in other words, a bit of autobiography from Midler's own erratic love life.

Q: Is Fred Astaire really starring in one of those sexy European movies? — P.W., Bayside, N.Y.

A: Fred's never going to retire and has been playing a kindly country doctor in a French movie, "The Purple Taxi," being filmed in Ireland. He's co-starring with sexy Charlotte Rampling, but early reports don't sound like it's a "dirty" movie of any type. Fred, in the meantime, is talking to no one because he's and movie career. But is it also true that his wife is ambitious as a would-be actress? — E.M., Hanover, N.H.

WALTERS: She'd do a switch

ASTAIRE: A movie in Ireland

MARIEL: Could be the finest...

A: Christie Jenner is dying to be a big actress and makes her debut in an ABC-TV movie co-starring with Lorne Greene and George Maharis. Some Hollywood execs think ex-airline stewardess Mrs. Jenner may have a bigger show biz career than her husband.

Q: True or false: Do those big round-the-world luxury liners slow a few coffins aboard just in case a passenger passes on while at sea? — S.P., Wilmington, N.C.

A: Alas, it's true. The ships usually carry around five caskets, and on one long trip recently, seven passengers died of natural causes. Usually the body is shipped home from the next port of call, although sometimes the surviving mate will ask for burial at sea. Not long ago an elderly widow insisted on finishing her trip, dreading that she'd give her husband a nice funeral when they got back to the States.

Q: I miss Richard Schaal on Cloris Leachman's TV show this season. What's he doing with his own career, and is he still happily married to Valerie Harper, since she's the bigger name? — V.L., Pasadena, Calif.

A: No problems here. Schaal and Valerie are a perfect couple, despite her shining stardom. Schaal, a serious actor and teacher, is currently co-starring with Colleen Dewhurst in a new play headed for Broadway.

Q: I keep reading that Bette Midler's going to break into the movies, but when? — J.L., Des Moines, Iowa.

A: Bette and her lover-manager Aaron Russo have a big movie deal signed and set, but coming up with the right property has proved challenging. Now Bette's signed funny lady Joan Rivers to help write a screenplay about a far-out performer who gets mixed up with her producer — in other words, a bit of autobiography from Midler's own erratic love life. + + +

Rodeo Riding Is Great, Says Wyandotte Woman

DETROIT (AP) — Wendy Orstadius of Wyandotte, Mich., has been horsing around since she was 19.

Now 25, 5-feet-4 and 90 pounds, the rodeo stunt rider risks her life in every performance — and loves it.

"When I started out doing this work I was a little frightened," Miss Orstadius said. "But once I had tried it and lived it I knew there was nothing else I wanted to do with my life."

Physically Ill?

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A study suggests that as many as 60,000 Americans may be falsely labeled as victims of psychological depression, when they actually have physical disorders that make them dejected.

A trick rider with the Mid-States Rodeo, she performed before her parents at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum in Detroit on Thursday.

"I never thought when she was born she'd end up doing this," sighed her father, music teacher Sigfried Orstadius. "She's happy and I'm losing my hair worrying about her."

"I'm glad she's happy," said her mother, Mary, "but it does worry me. It gives me gray hairs, let me tell you."

Wendy travels with the rodeo in her own trailer. She and 11-year-old cowboy Ray Garner are billed as the show's only two trick riders.

Garner started trick riding with Wendy about four years ago. He and other performers live on a ranch in Williamsburg, Mo., where they receive room and board.

Cowboy Ray's big act is called a "death drag." He hangs by one foot from the saddlehorn of his painted pony and rides around the arena with his head inches from the turf.

"It's a dangerous act," Garner admitted. "One slip and I end up under the horse's hooves."

Wendy said her most dangerous stunt involves hanging on her horse's neck as it gallops around the ring.

She said she's suffered only one bad fall, and a resulting kick in the face from her horse.

"The blood spoiled my fancy duds but I couldn't wait to climb back up again," she recalled.

Wendy's three sisters lead more serene lives. One is a coordinator for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, one works in a jewelry store and the third is just out of school.

"I'm definitely the oddball in the family," Wendy said, climbing down from the back of a Brahma bull.

Wendy, like most of the others in the show, gets room and board at the Missouri ranch. She also receives a salary for traveling with the rodeo.

"She's a good little gal with plenty of nerve," said Sonny Leger, who explained his job as a clown and bull fighter involves protecting the performers from "the raging bulls."

"This is a tough life," Leger said, spitting out a stream of tobacco juice. "I've had my neck broke three different times, had my lung punctured and several ribs broken."

"Part of the hazards of the job," Leger added.

WENDY ORSTADIUS DOING HER THING

Saginaw School Shows Students How Aging Feel

By NANCY A. KONESKO

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Four junior high students acted toward people for a day to see how they felt and how others acted toward them. "I found myself getting very irritable because I couldn't get around as well as I normally do," said 13-year-old Mike Russell of Zilwaukee. He and the others are students at Saginaw North Intermediate School. Their health education teacher, Albert Garcia, helped apply the bandages, earplugs, splints, and other items that simulated physical aging.

The experiment was similar to those conducted at the University of Michigan by Dr. Tamerla Moeller's students in her class on the psychology of aging.

"We tend to forget all of the adjustments a person must make as a result of the physical processes of aging," Dr. Moeller said. "Declining vision or hearing, chronic illness, memory loss—these processes are painful and unnerving." Armed with this information, the students and their teacher devised ways to experience for a few hours some of those same physical ailments.

They used earplugs to reduce hearing, noseplugs to stifle smell, gloves to make hands slow and awkward, as they might be with arthritis, and bandages or splints to make arm and leg movements difficult. A couple of them also put patches on one eye. They had first tried to use crinkled plastic wrap to get the impression of eyesight blurred by cataracts, but the paper kept slipping. "The eyepatch was the biggest problem," said Mike. "I kept misjudging distance. The first surprise was that I couldn't catch a table tennis ball. Then I tried to pick up a pencil and missed. I even misjudged steps."

Terry Colby, 13, said, "When I went home at noon my mother said, 'You're not coming to the table with those gloves on.'"

"I told her I had to, it was part of an experiment for health class. The gloves really cut down on movement, and even though I was slow and careful, I still spilled my glass of Kool-Aid."

Thirteen-year-old Holly Neuman had a plastic bag over her right hand and a bandage on the left. "I couldn't turn the pages of my books," she said. "I also found the eye that wasn't covered got tired."

Ray Lucas, 13, spent the day with tape across his nose, and that helped him discover how closely the sense of taste is linked to the sense of smell. "At noon, I had a deviled egg sandwich that tasted blah," he said. "Even the water tasted funny. My candy bar wasn't too good, either."

Dr. Moeller said aged and handicapped people, and students who imitate them, often don't participate in activities like group discussions. They are self-conscious about their slower speech and hearing difficulties, she said, and mistakenly interpret these signs as a decline in intellect rather than the normal sensory changes that accompany old age.

Her class in aging and the experiment at North School were not just to find out that it is painful or awkward to be arthritic, crippled, partially deaf or half-blind. "It is to feel the sense of incompetence and vulnerability that many older people feel, and to notice that people treat you differently when you are handicapped," she said.

OLD AND FEEBLE: Mike Russell, 13-year-old student at a junior high school in Saginaw, said he found himself growing irritable under the stress of being "old and feeble," done as a class project, in this case with glove and eyepatch. (AP Wirephoto)

JOHN P. ROCHE
A Word Edgewise

I have suggested that the goal of "affirmative action" programs cannot be a quick fix. Problems that have been ignored for decades, if not centuries, cannot be remedied by ignoring their bases. Requiring schools to admit a quota of the "unqualified" is, in fact, a cheap way of ducking the structural issue; namely, that the pool of qualified applicants must be enlarged.

Once this has been accomplished — and we have been moving towards it more rapidly than many realize — another question comes up: assuming there are three candidates, equally qualified, for an opening in graduate or professional school, or an academic post, is it legitimate to choose the woman or the black in preference to the white male?

My answer to this, one on which I have acted over the years, is, "Of course." First, it seems to me thoroughly in keeping with the American tradition that accords certain benefits on the basis of experience. Veterans, for example, have been given certain breaks over non-veterans, though most were drafted and never fired a shot. There is no reason why women or members of minority groups should not — assuming full qualifications — go to the head of the line.

Second, I believe this sort of affirmative action is important in developing diversity, a particularly significant value in the educational context. I suspect one of the reasons I got my first job as an instructor at Harvard college grew from such an unarticulated form of affirmative action.

I became vaguely aware of this possibility when, in the fall of 1949, the political science departments at Haverford, Swarthmore and Bryn Mawr held a joint dinner. I felt a bit like a cat at a dog show. All evening the discussion centered on "Carl," "Bill," "Arthur" and other luminaries of the Harvard government department. I appeared to be the only person present who had not received his doctorate on the Charles!

In short, it seems to me essential to a healthy educational environment that all the peas don't come from the same pod. This applies even more forcefully to women against whom discrimination has (with rare exceptions) been utterly irrational. Thirty years ago, for example, women who attended law school were expected to go forth in the world and be — law librarians!

In short, it seems to me essential to a healthy educational environment that all the peas don't come from the same pod. This applies even more forcefully to women against whom discrimination has (with rare exceptions) been utterly irrational. Thirty years ago, for example, women who attended law school were expected to go forth in the world and be — law librarians!

'Real Thing' Making Comeback As Christmas Trees

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer

Artificial Christmas trees are on the way out and the real thing is making a comeback, says one of Michigan's largest tree farmers.

"There was a time when people wanted artificial trees because they felt they were protecting the environment by not buying a live tree," said Fred Beguin, manager of the Emerald Tree Co. in Cadillac. The farm has annual sales of $1.5 million.

Trees are planted each year to replace those harvested. "It's a farm. We plant and harvest. It's that simple," Beguin said.

But it's not quite as simple as Beguin makes it sound. Someone enjoying the warm climate of Florida while selecting their holiday tree probably doesn't realize that Beguin's crews must fight the insects after planting, nurture the trees to maturity and then tromp through heavy snow to cut them.

The farm already has sold 300,000 Christmas trees this year. Most of them were shipped to other states from coast to coast. Emerald plants about 400,000 trees annually. New plantings are harvested 6 to 10 years later.

Another 100,000 trees will be cut before the holiday season ends, Beguin said.

"Demand for the natural tree really is up this year," he said. "Almost every dealer I've talked with has sold out, and many of them are calling us wanting more trees."

Michigan is the nation's largest producer of plantation grown Christmas trees, with shipments traveling as far as Hawaii.

The state has more than 13,000 growers who produce about eight million trees each year. Of the state's 36.4 million acres of land, more than half is covered with different types of trees.

Many of the smaller farms, like that of brothers Kenneth and Leon Low in Lake City, permit individual cuttings.

"We've sold about 8,500 trees so far, and we'll sell the remainder of the 10,000 we've grown before Christmas," said Kenneth Low. "Most of those we've sold were shipped out, and the bulk went to Ohio."

The remaining two weeks before Christmas bring the peak of the individual cutting season.

"We've been pretty busy the last two weekends, but that was mostly people getting an early start. The weekend just before Christmas should wipe us out," Low added. Some people select their trees a year in advance, placing a marker on them and returning to cut their selection just before Christmas.

The 5,000-acre Emerald farm, like both large and small growers, sells more Scotch pine than any other Christmas tree, but there is a shortage of that variety this season.

"I guess you could call the Scotch pine the economical tree. It looks good and doesn't cost as much as the prettier trees," Beguin said. The shortage, he added, apparently was caused because growers failed to anticipate this year's increased demand.

After the Scotch pine, the other most popular Christmas trees are White spruce, Blue spruce, Douglas fir and Norway spruce.

"Maybe people are getting into the Christmas spirit more, or maybe they just want a live tree, or maybe they have more money to spend. But the demand is really up, and we're happy about that," Beguin said.

GOOD ADVICE: John Koch, president of National Christmas Tree Association, advises tree buyers to cut off a couple of inches of trunk and put trunk in water to keep it healthy longer inside homes. Koch is shown on his tree farm at Birdsboro, Pa. (AP Wirephoto)

Washington Completes NFL Playoff Field

Steelers Cap Comeback By Blanking Oilers

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
And now it is on to the National Football League's second season.

The Washington Redskins, left for dead earlier in the year, completed the field for the post-season playoffs by scoring an impressive 27-14 victory over the Dallas Cowboys Sunday in a must-win situation.

"We were written off, pronounced dead and buried, but we've got some gutsy guys who just kept coming back," said Washington Coach George Allen, whose Redskins came back one last time with two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to defeat Dallas.

The victory, which gave Washington the National Conference wild card berth in the playoffs, was especially sweet for Allen, who came under heavy criticism when the Redskins failed to make the playoffs last year.

"We were supposed to be too old, too slow and over the hill," he said. "But if you have the right kind of veterans, age doesn't mean a thing."

Former Cowboy Calvin Hill, who has had a rather quiet year since signing a seven-figure contract with Washington, scored the go-ahead touchdown with 4:34 to play, circling the right side from 15 yards out.

After Washington regained the ball on the Dallas three on a Dennis Johnson interception, Hill helped clinch the victory and the playoff spot with a crushing blocked that cleared the way for John Riggins' scoring run.

So the playoffs shape up this way, with game times in EST:

Saturday Dec. 18
Washington (10-4) at Minnesota (11-2-1), 1 p.m.

New England (11-3) at Oakland (13-1), 4 p.m.

Sunday Dec. 19
Pittsburgh (10-4) at Baltimore (11-3), 2 p.m.

Los Angeles (10-3-1) at Dallas (11-3), 5:30 p.m.

Washington's upset knocked St. Louis out of a playoff spot. The Cards edged the New York Giants 17-14 earlier Sunday and would have gotten the NFC wild card bid had Dallas defeated Washington.

Baltimore, meanwhile, clinched the home field advantage by routing Buffalo 58-20. That gave them the spot as AFC East winner and made New England, a 31-14 winner over Tampa Bay, the AFC wild card club.

In other games Sunday, the Cincinnati Bengals whipped the New York Jets 42-3, the Philadelphia Eagles beat the Seattle Seahawks 27-10, the Green Bay Packers trimmed the Atlanta Falcons 24-20, the Denver Broncos beat the Chicago Bears 28-14, the Kansas City Chiefs topped the Cleveland Browns 39-14, the San Francisco 49ers defeated the New Orleans Saints 27-7 and the Oakland Raiders blanked the San Diego Chargers 24-0.

On Saturday, Pittsburgh clinched a playoff berth with its ninth straight win, a 21-0 shutout of Houston. In other Saturday games, the Minnesota Vikings whipped the Miami Dolphins 29-7 and the Los Angeles Rams slipped past the Detroit Lions 20-17.

The Washington defense completely throttled Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, sacking him five times and limiting him to five completions in 22 attempts for 91 yards.

Billy Kilmer, arrested Saturday near his Virginia home on a charge of driving while intoxicated, completed 14 of 30 passes for 199 yards including a six-yard scoring pass to Jean Fugett.

The Cards did what they had to do, beating the Giants, but it was not enough to make the playoffs. The running of Jim Otis and Steve Jones keyed the victory, Otis rambling for 119 yards and Jones scoring two touchdowns, including the game-winner in the fourth quarter.

Bert Jones passed for three touchdowns to lead Baltimore's offensive show, which came following four lackluster efforts.

The loss was the 10th straight for the Bills, but there was one bright spot: O.J. Simpson rambled for 171 yards on 28 carries to capture his fourth rushing title in five years.

Simpson, who started the game nine yards behind Walter Payton of the Chicago Bears, finished with 1,503, including 647 in his last three games.

Oakland closed out a 13-1 season with its first shutout and will try to avenge its only regular season loss, to New England, in the first round of the playoffs.

Passing ace Ken Stabler took the weekend off, so reserve Mike Rae threw three touchdown passes for the Raiders, and Mark van Eeghen rushed for 95 yards to finish with 1,012 for the season.

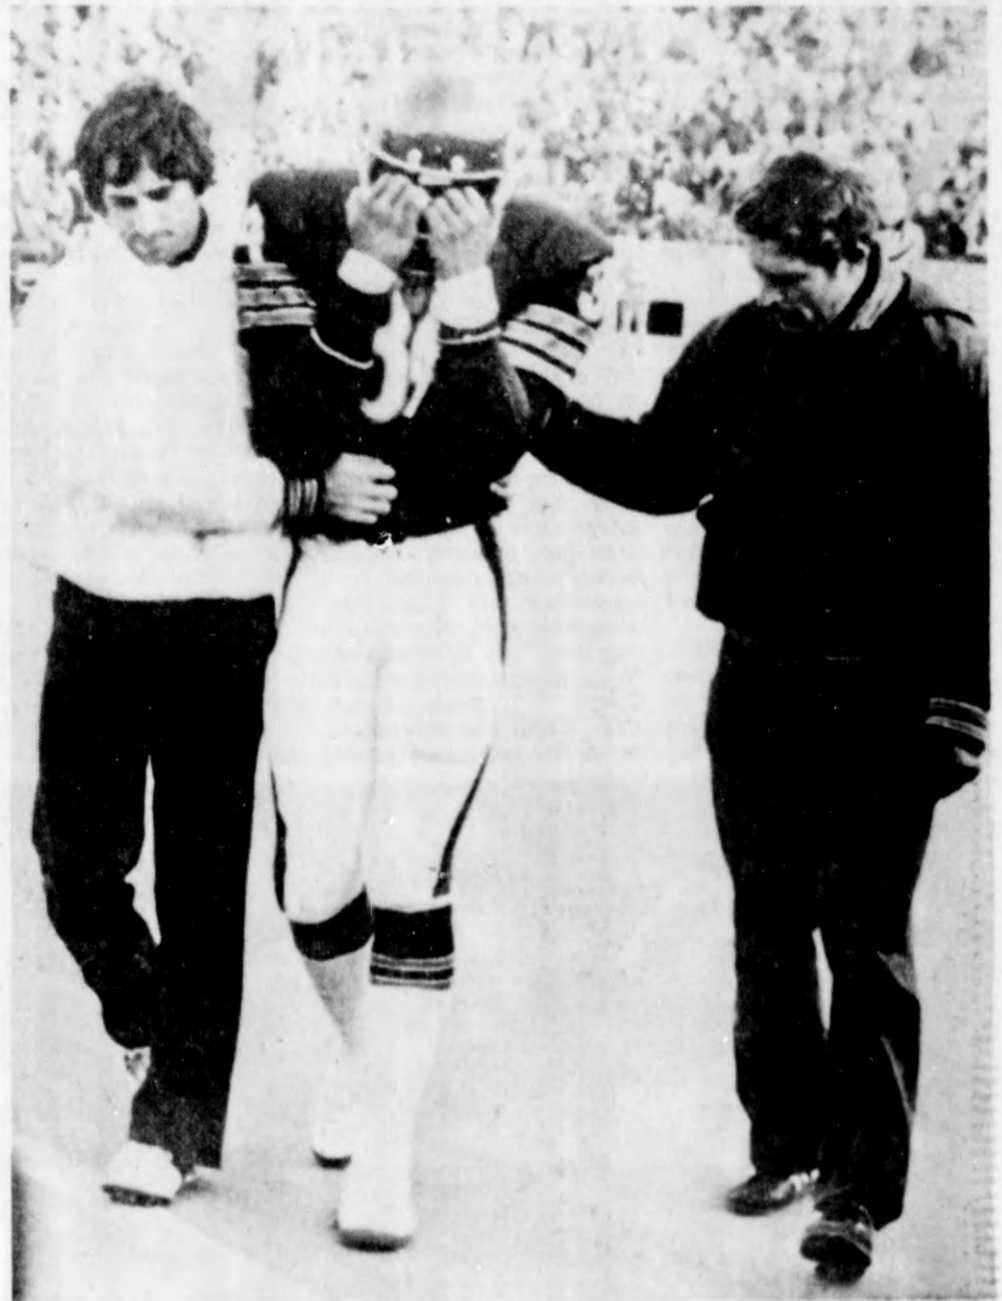

The Bengals, shut out of the playoffs when Pittsburgh won its ninth straight game Saturday, took out their frustration on the Jets. They broke the game open with three touchdowns in the second quarter, including an 85-yard bomb from Ken Anderson to Isaac Curtis. Cincinnati's defense picked off six New York passes, four off Joe Namath.

Ed Podolak scored three touchdowns and surpassed Abner Haynes to become Kansas City's all-time leading rusher.

Tom Sullivan rushed for 121 yards and two touchdowns and Mike Hogan ran for 104 yards for the Eagles, who snapped a five-game losing streak.

Randy Johnson engineered two fourth-quarter touchdown drives, Eric Torkelson getting the winning score for the Packers on a one-yard run with 2:20 left.

Rookie quarterback Scott Bull passed 20 yards to Gene Washington and ran 15 yards for another score for the 49ers.

END OF SEASON: Chicago Bears' running back Walter Payton wipes away tears while being aided from field by team assistants following third quarter ankle injury. The injury Sunday in game against Denver at Chicago ended Payton's hopes of beating out O.J. Simpson for the NFL rushing title. The Bears also lost the game 28-14. (AP Wirephoto)

O.J. Nips Payton For Rushing Title

BALTIMORE (AP) — After a season in which Buffalo won just two games, O.J. Simpson could find little solace in an individual title.

Simpson gained 171 yards Sunday against the Baltimore Colts to win his fourth National Football League rushing championship in five years. The yardage gave Simpson 1,503 yards for the season, beating Walter Payton of Chicago, who finished second with 1,390.

But like many of Simpson's personal accomplishments as a pro, this one came on a day when his team faltered. The Bills lost 58-20 to the playoff-bound Colts for a 2-12 campaign, and "The Juice" said even another rushing crown couldn't make up for that disappointment.

"In a losing year," he said,

"you can't have a good feeling about something like this. The only redeeming factor is that we, the offense, can look back and say, 'Hey, we did it.'"

"Our guys on defense need a lot of help. Management has dealt us some bad hands, and we've had to play with what we got. It's embarrassing. We have a positive thing (the rushing title), but it really doesn't make up for the season."

'The Franchise' Ends River Valley State Title Dream

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

KENTWOOD — The only thing which stood in the way of River Valley's quest for the Class B state girls basketball championship was The Franchise.

And she turned out to be a mountain no one could get around.

Doreen Grote, a 6-2 center, scored 25 points and thoroughly dominated the middle as Marine City topped the Mustangs 52-38 in the state title game Saturday night before about 2,000 fans at East Kentwood high school.

It was almost a dream come true for River Valley this season. The Mustangs won their first 23 ballgames but the imposing figure of Grote in the middle halted their hopes for a state crown.

"We knew we would have to contain her," stated a disappointed Fred Knutel, head coach of the Mustangs. "We knew she would get her points so we were going to try and hold her to 15, but it didn't work."

Knutel cooked up a special defense for the situation. "We played a collapsing man-to-man defense," he said. "We wanted our big gal to play in front of Grote and have the weak side forward help out underneath."

But the Mariners foiled that defensive strategy by lobbing the ball inside to Grote for the easy layup. On the night, she hit 12 of 18 field goal attempts, including seven of eight tries in the second half.

The Mustangs had their problems on offense, as they couldn't penetrate a tough 1-2-2 zone. "We had problems with that zone," Knutel said. "Maybe we weren't patient enough."

The zone forced River Valley to attempt more outside shots than Knutel would have liked to have seen. The Mustangs ended up making 17 of 36 field goal tries, a 47.2 average.

Marine City, getting inside frequently, made 24 of 38 shots for an amazing 63.2 percentage. Oddly enough, it was the outside shooting which kept River Valley close through three quarters. Ruth Simmons, a 5-3 guard, made five of nine field goal attempts and all came from the 15-foot range.

That hot shooting brought the Mustangs back from a 13-point deficit in the second quarter to trail by just five at 35-30 with 1:26 remaining in the third quarter. But then the roof fell in.

Marine City, which ends the season at 24-0, then scored the next 10 points to post a 45-30

lead. Deb Lundin notched River Valley's first point of the quarter with 3:09 left on a free throw. The Mustangs didn't score a field goal until 1:31 remained and the score was 48-31.

River Valley trailed at the end of the first quarter 16-8, at the half 25-16 and after three quarters 37-30.

Lundin led the Mustangs with 15 points, most of them coming from outside, while Simmons chipped in with 11 and Wendy Schwark had 10. Besides scoring 36 of the team's 38 points, those three starters also attempted 35 of the squad's 36 shots.

Debra Brown was the only other Mariner besides Grote to hit in double figures, getting 10 points.

Marine City held a 29-16 rebounding advantage with Grote getting eight, Vicki Sharrow seven and Brenda VanHuizen six.

Both teams were prone to turn the ball over as the Mariners had 23 miscues and River Valley 17.

After the game, Knutel sat dejectedly on the bench as Marine City received the winner's medals. "Our kids worked hard tonight," he said proudly. "They have nothing to be ashamed of."

"This is the end of the trail... and I'm glad it's over."

The girls segment, at least, is over for Knutel but he will still be involved with coaching for the next three months. Knutel is also the boys' junior varsity coach.

This team went farther than any other girls' squad in southwestern Michigan. The Mustangs won the Blossomland conference, beat Lakeshore in the district final and Parchment in the regional championship game.

In the quarterfinals, the Mustangs topped Columbia Central and then ran past Frankenmuth in the semifinals.

Knutel, who plans to come back and coach the girls next season, will have a large rebuilding job on his hands. The Mustangs will lose through graduation starters Lundin,

Schwark, Simmons, Lynda Mitchell and Peg De Morrow.

De Morrow didn't see action in the last three games of the season because of a severely sprained ankle. Her starting spot was taken by junior Julie Gnodtke.

Baltimore, meanwhile, clinched the home field advantage by routing Buffalo 38-20. That gave them the spot as AFC East winner and made New England, a 31-14 winner over Tampa Bay, the AFC wild card club.

In other games Sunday, the Cincinnati Bengals whipped the New York Jets 42-3, the Philadelphia Eagles beat the Seattle Seahawks 27-10, the Green Bay Packers trimmed the Atlanta Falcons 24-20, the Denver Broncos beat the Chicago Bears 28-14, the Kansas City Chiefs topped the Cleveland Browns 39-14, the San Francisco 49ers defeated the New Orleans Saints 27-7 and the Oakland Raiders blanked the San Diego Chargers 24-0.

On Saturday, Pittsburgh clinched a playoff berth with its ninth straight win, a 21-0 shutout of Houston. In other Saturday games, the Minnesota Vikings whipped the Miami Dolphins 29-7 and the Los Angeles Rams slipped past the Detroit Lions 20-17.

The Washington defense completely throttled Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, sacking him five times and limiting him to five completions in 22 attempts for 91 yards.

Billy Kilmer, arrested Saturday near his Virginia home on a charge of driving while intoxicated, completed 14 of 30 passes for 199 yards including a six-yard scoring pass to Jean Fugitt.

The Cards did what they had to do, beating the Giants, but it was not enough to make the playoffs. The running of Jim Otis and Steve Jones keyed the victory, Otis rambling for 119 yards and Jones scoring two touchdowns, including the game-winner in the fourth quarter.

Bert Jones passed for three touchdowns to lead Baltimore's offensive show, which came following four lackluster efforts.

The loss was the 10th straight for the Bills, but there was one bright spot: O.J. Simpson rambled for 171 yards on 28 carries to capture his fourth rushing title in five years.

Simpson, who started the game nine yards behind Walter Payton of the Chicago Bears, finished with 1,583, including 617 in his last three games.

Oakland closed out a 13-1 season with its first shutout and will try to avenge its only regular season loss, to New England, in the first round of the playoffs.

Passing ace Ken Stabler took the weekend off, so reserve Mike Rae threw three touchdown passes for the Raiders, and Mark van Eeghen rushed for 85 yards to finish with 1,012 for the season.

The Bengals, shut out of the playoffs when Pittsburgh won its ninth straight game Saturday, took out their frustration on the Jets. They broke the game open with three touchdowns in the second quarter, including an 85-yard bomb from Ken Anderson to Isaac Curtis. Cincinnati's defense picked off six New York passes, four off Joe Namath.

Ed Podolak scored three touchdowns and surpassed Abner Haynes to become Kansas City's all-time leading rusher.

Tom Sullivan rushed for 121 yards and two touchdowns and Mike Hogan ran for 104 yards for the Eagles, who snapped a five-game losing streak.

Randy Johnson engineered two fourth-quarter touchdown drives, Eric Turkelson getting the winning score for the Packers on a one-yard run with 2:20 left.

Rookie quarterback Scott Bull passed 20 yards to Gene Washington and ran 15 yards for another score for the 49ers.

END OF SEASON: Chicago Bears' running back Walter Payton wipes away tears while being aided from field by team assistants following third quarter ankle injury. The injury Sunday in game against Denver at Chicago ended Payton's hopes of beating out O.J. Simpson for the NFL rushing title. The Bears also lost the game 28-14. (AP Wirephoto)

O.J. Nips Payton For Rushing Title

BALTIMORE (AP) — After a season in which Buffalo won just two games, O.J. Simpson could find little solace in an individual title.

Simpson gained 171 yards Sunday against the Baltimore Colts to win his fourth National Football League rushing championship in five years. The yardage gave Simpson 1,503 yards for the season, beating Walter Payton of Chicago, who finished second with 1,390.

But like many of Simpson's personal accomplishments as a pro, this one came on a day when his team faltered. The Bills lost 38-20 to the playoff-bound Colts for a 2-12 campaign, and "The Juice" said even another rushing crown couldn't make up for that disappointment.

"In a losing year," he said,

"you can't have a good feeling about something like this. The only redeeming factor is that we, the offense, can look back and say, 'Hey, we did it.'"

"Our guys on defense need a lot of help. Management has dealt us some bad hands, and we've had to play with what we got. It's embarrassing. We have a positive thing (the rushing title), but it really doesn't make up for the season."

'The Franchise' Ends River Valley State Title Dream

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

KENTWOOD — The only thing which stood in the way of River Valley's quest for the Class B state girls basketball championship was The Franchise.

And she turned out to be a mountain no one could get around.

Doreen Grote, a 6-2 center, scored 25 points and thoroughly dominated the middle as Marine City topped the Mustangs 52-38 in the state title game Saturday night before about 2,000 fans at East Kentwood high school.

It was almost a dream come true for River Valley this season. The Mustangs won their first 23 ballgames but the imposing figure of Grote in the middle halted their hopes for a state crown.

"We knew we would have to contain her," stated a disappointed Fred Knutel, head coach of the Mustangs. "We knew she would get her points so we were going to try and hold her to 15, but it didn't work."

Knutel cooked up a special defense for the situation. "We played a collapsing man-to-man defense," he said. "We wanted our big gal to play in front of Grote and have the weak side forward help out underneath."

But the Mariners foiled that defensive strategy by lobbing the ball inside to Grote for the easy layup. On the night, she hit 12 of 18 field goal attempts, including seven of eight tries in the second half.

The Mustangs had their

The zone forced River Valley to attempt more outside shots than Knutel would have liked to have seen. The Mustangs ended up making 17 of 36 field goal tries, a 47.2 average.

Marine City, getting inside frequently, made 24 of 38 shots for an amazing 63.2 percentage. Oddly enough, it was the outside shooting which kept River Valley close through three quarters. Ruth Simmons, a 5-3 guard, made five of nine field goal attempts and all came from the 15-foot range.

That hot shooting brought the Mustangs back from a 13-point deficit in the second quarter to trail by just five at 35-30 with 1:26 remaining in the third quarter. But then the roof fell in.

Marine City, which ends the season at 24-0, then scored the next 10 points to post a 45-30

lead. Deb Lundin notched River Valley's first point of the quarter with 3:09 left on a free throw. The Mustangs didn't score a field goal until 1:31 remained and the score was 48-31.

River Valley trailed at the end of the first quarter 16-8, at the half 25-16 and after three quarters 37-30.

Lundin led the Mustangs with 15 points, most of them coming from outside, while Simmons chipped in with 11 and Wendy Schwark had 10. Besides scoring 36 of the team's 38 points, those three starters also attempted 35 of the squad's 36 shots.

Debra Brown was the only other Mariner besides Grote to hit in double figures, getting 10 points.

Marine City held a 29-16 rebounding advantage with Grote getting eight, Vicki Sharrow seven and Brenda Vanduzen six.

Both teams were prone to turn the ball over as the Mariners had 23 miscues and River Valley 17.

After the game, Knutel sat dejectedly on the bench as Marine City received the winner's medals. "Our kids worked hard tonight," he said proudly. "They have nothing to be ashamed of."

"This is the end of the trail, and I'm glad it's over."

The girls segment, at least, is over for Knutel but he will still be involved with coaching for the next three months. Knutel is also the boys' junior varsity cage coach.

This team went farther than any other girls' squad in southwestern Michigan. The Mustangs won the Blossomland conference, beat Lakeshore in the district final and Parchment in the regional championship game.

In the quarterfinals, the Mustangs topped Columbia Central and then ran past Frankenuith in the semifinals.

Knutel, who plans to come back and coach the girls next season, will have a large rebuilding job on his hands. The Mustangs will lose through graduation starters Lundin,

Schwark, Simmons, Lynda Mitchell and Peg De Morrow. De Morrow didn't see action in the last three games of the season because of a severely sprained ankle. Her starting spot was taken by junior Julie Goodlike.

Wildcat Rout Tribute To Rupp

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
At Kentucky, basketball is king — and Adolph Rupp is the crown prince.

They paid tribute to one of college basketball's most famous coaches Saturday night with the official opening of Rupp Arena at Lexington.

It was a night that Rupp will not forget for a long time. As a matter of fact, neither will Kansas Coach Ted Owens.

"I haven't seen all the great teams around the country, but Kentucky certainly has to rank among the best of them," said Owens after his Jayhawks suffered a 90-63 trouncing by the nation's fourth-ranked team.

The 27-point margin was even more impressive, considering that Kansas was undefeated in five games before Saturday and is one of the favorites to win the Big Eight Conference title.

"We were very impressed with Kansas, but our defense overpowered them," said Kentucky Wildcat Coach Joe Hall. "They could very well be the Big Eight champions this year."

Outside of the notable victory, another highlight for the fans was the presentation of the game ball to Rupp. It was used in the first half, then given to college basketball's greatest winner.

Elsewhere in college basketball Saturday, second-ranked Marquette walloped Penn State 79-49; No. 7 Notre Dame stunned No. 3 UCLA 66-63; fifth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas outscored San Diego State 118-113; sixth-ranked San Francisco defeated Utah 91-81 in the final of the Utah Classic after 15th-ranked Tennessee won the consolation game with a 99-90 beating of Seton Hall.

Also, No. 8 Cincinnati routed St. Joseph's of Indiana 122-78; No. 9 Arizona trimmed the University of Pacific 78-60; No. 12 North Carolina defeated Virginia Tech 81-77; Purdue upset No. 14 Louisville 72-70; No. 16 Clemson beat Tennessee Tech 83-78; Hofstra edged No. 18 Southern Illinois 67-66 in the final of the Pittsburgh Classic, and No. 20 Syracuse whipped Canisius 75-59. On Sunday, 17th-ranked Maryland beat No. 19 DePaul 92-74.

Jack Givens fired in 15 points, including four quick field goals early in the first half, helping Kentucky outclass Kansas. The fourth of Givens' field goals put Kentucky ahead 16-6 with 13:48 left in the first half and the Wildcats never were threatened after that.

James Lee added 14 points, while Rick Robey and Dwayne Casey had 13 apiece for the Southeastern Conference team. John Douglas led all scorers with 17 points for Kansas.

Butchlee's 18 points led Marquette to its easy victory over Penn State. Reserve guard Mark Rosenberger shredded Penn's State's zone defense early, hitting four 20-foot shots as the Warriors opened a 24-14 lead and improved that to a commanding 50-29 advantage with five minutes gone in the second half.

A 34-point performance by Sam Smith led Nevada-Las Vegas over San Diego State. Bill Cartwright scored 21 points, pacing San Francisco over Utah for the Utah Classic title. Mike Jackson and Ernie Grunfeld teamed for 60 points, leading Tennessee's victory over Seton Hall in the consolation game.

Brian Williams scored a career-high 29 points, leading Cincinnati past St. Joseph's of Indiana. Herman Harris and Phil Taylor each scored 22 points as Arizona beat Pacific.

Phil Ford connected for 24 points, including two clutch free

Late Notre Dame Rally Tops No. 3 UCLA, 66-63

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Digger Phelps has decided somebody up there likes the Irish, and Gene Bartow must think so, too.

"I guess somebody up there likes us ... because I'm not a saint," Phelps said following seventh-ranked Notre Dame's 66-63 upset over the third-ranked UCLA Bruins Saturday.

While the triumph may have seemed divinely inspired, a mere mortal, and a freshman at that, made the difference in the score by sinking a layup and two free throws in the last 45 seconds.

To add insult to injury, the freshman, Rich Branning, was a player out of UCLA's backyard, one that got away. The 6-foot-3 Branning is from Marina High in nearby Huntington Beach. He drove through the Bruins' defense for his layup and gave the Irish a 64-63 lead with just more than a half-minute left to play, then added his two free throws with one second remaining.

The Bruins, who never had lost a nonconference game at Pauley Pavilion in 115 games and 15 seasons, could not score in the late stages of the game.

UCLA, which now has lost just four games at Pauley, went the final 6:17 without scoring.

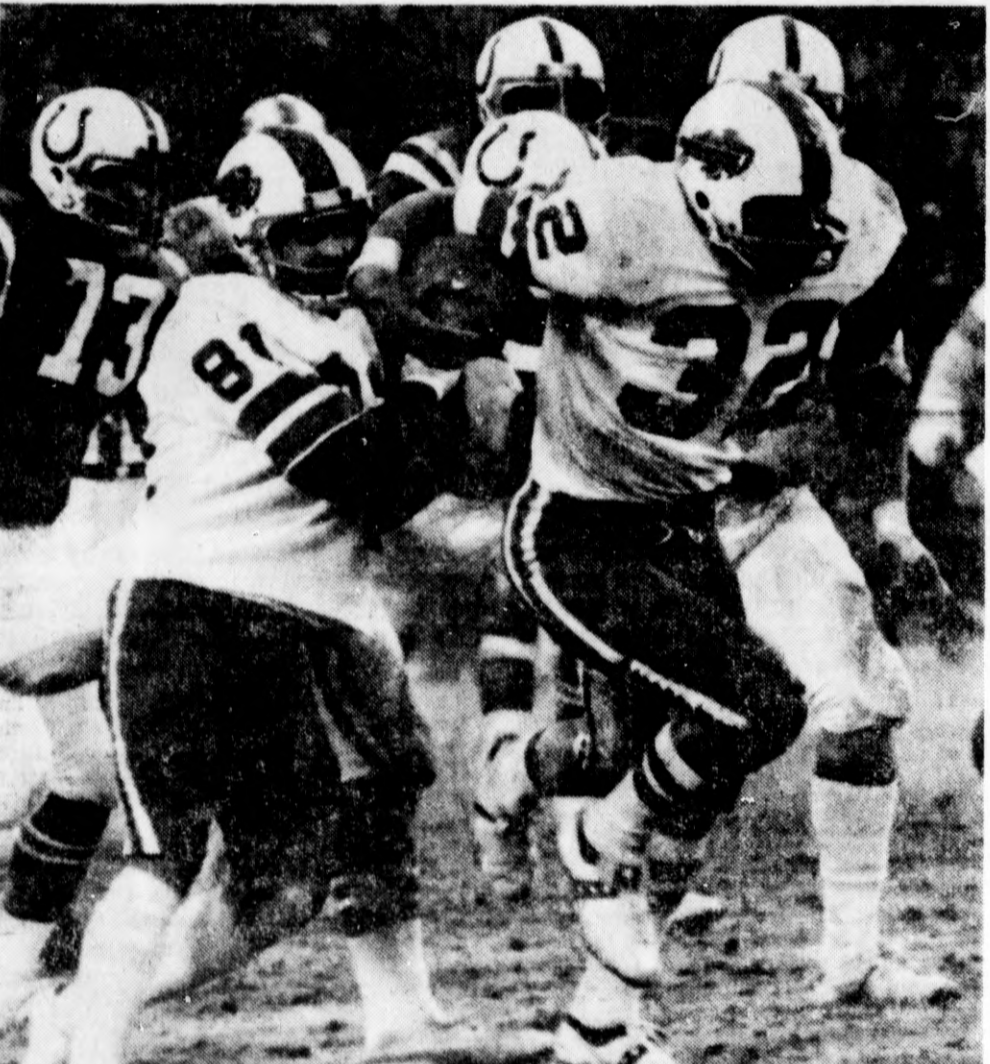

"If you don't shoot well against Notre Dame, you're going to have problems," said second-year Bruins Coach Gene Bartow. "They got a lot of breaks, especially those in-and-out shots that went in for them and rolled out for us."

Phelps could hardly believe that his team had finally whipped UCLA on the Bruins' home court after nine defeats there, and he was, in a word, ecstatic.

"There is no thrill to describe this one," he said.

GRABS REBOUND: Notre Dame forward Bill Hanzlik grabs a rebound away from the outstretched hands of Marques Johnson (54) of UCLA during the first half of Saturday's game at Pauley Pavilion. Toby Knight comes in to help Hanzlik during the Irish 66-63 upset win over the Bruins. The loss was only the fourth at home in 175 games for UCLA. (AP Wirephoto)

O.J. GOES ALL THE WAY: Buffalo Bills O.J. Simpson gives teammate Bob Chandler (81) an elbow while breaking through the Baltimore Colt line for a 44-yard touchdown run during their NFL game in Baltimore Sunday. O.J. Simpson won his fourth NFL rushing title in five seasons by gaining 171 yards in 28 carries against Baltimore, finishing the season with 1,503 yards. But even with Simpson's effort, Buffalo was unable to stop the Colts, dropping a 58-20 decision. (AP Wirephoto)

Indiana In Golden Spot Against Irish

Chapman Gives MSU Victory

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Indiana's Hoosiers, burdened with two losses in three starts, get a golden opportunity to redeem themselves in the early stages of the season.

Having lost to both Toledo and Kentucky, Indiana will take a 1-2 record to South Bend Tuesday night to face Notre Dame's undefeated Irish.

Notre Dame was ranked seventh nationally but that was before the Irish pulled the carpet from under third-ranked UCLA at Pauley Pavilion 66-63 last Saturday.

Chances are Coach Bobby Knight's Hoosiers aren't ready as yet to confront the powerful Irish at Notre Dame but the opportunity is there for Indiana.

Knight insisted before the start of the season that he was not set on a starting lineup except for All-American Kent Benson. Knight has sent forth a different starting five in each of Indiana's games.

Knight will give it his best shot at Notre Dame but his current task is to get his team ready for the Big Ten race which begins Jan. 6.

Big Ten teams, meanwhile, have compiled a 29-16 record against intersectional foes with Minnesota and Iowa remaining undefeated along with top-ranked Michigan.

Iowa made it 5-0 Friday night with a 94-73 victory over

California while Michigan and Minnesota were idle over the weekend.

Illinois, Purdue and Michigan State came up with home-floor victories Saturday. Wisconsin and Northwestern were losers on the road.

Freshman Levi Cobb scored six points in the last two minutes and finished with 16 to lead Illinois past Nebraska 67-63. The victory was the fourth in five starts for the defensive-minded Illini.

Eugene Parker's two free throws in the final minute of play enabled Purdue to squeeze past 14th-ranked Louisville 72-70. Parker led the Boilermakers with 19 points and freshman Joe Barry Carroll scored 15 and picked off 10 rebounds. Purdue is now 4-2.

Bob Chapman's 20-foot basket as the clock ran out in overtime gave Michigan State and new Coach Jud Heathcote their first victory of the season with a 54-52 decision over Eastern Michigan. Greg Kelsier led the Spartans with 20 points and 14 rebounds.

Bill Pearson scored 18 points for Wisconsin but it wasn't enough as Stanford belted the Badgers 70-66 and Billy McKinney scored 23 for Northwestern in a 92-78 defeat at Arizona State.

Two games are scheduled Monday night with Cleveland State at Illinois and Wisconsin at Northern Illinois.

Grable Hills Wins Tourney At Paw Paw

PAW PAW — Grable Hills Sales Inc. broke away from a 50-50 third-quarter deadlock to post a 75-67 win over Niles Chemical Plant and capture the second annual Paw Paw Men's Basketball League Invitational Tournament.

Former Bangor standout Bob Dentzman scored 23 for the winners. Mike Busby, who starred for Buchanan's Class C state champions last year, scored 16 for Niles.

Grable Hills and Niles each had to win a pair of games to reach the title game. Led by Dentzman, Grable Hills got by M & M Foods 82-69 and Burch Printers 89-72. Dentzman tossed in 22 points against M & M and had 21 against Burch Printers.

Bears, Payton Lose In Denver Finale

CHICAGO (AP) — The Broncos and the Bears, a pair of all-star teams, battled each other black and blue in the freezing cold at the close of disappointing National Football League seasons.

When it was over, Denver Coach John Ralston, fighting to hang onto his job, said he still didn't know. Jack Pardee, in his second year as coach at Chicago had yet to produce a winning season.

The final score was Denver 28, Chicago 14.

The only big distinction to fight for was the National Football League rushing title. Chicago's Walter Payton went into the match nine yards ahead of O.J. Simpson. But Payton was led from the field, his hands covering his face, complaining of an ankle injury and an inability to get by the Bronco defense.

Rookie quarterback Craig Penrose, getting a chance to show his merits, was intercepted by Alan Ellis for a touchdown on the first play of the game and had his bell rung by Wally Chambers on the Bronco's second possession. He was taken to Illinois Masonic Hospital for x-rays, which proved negative.

It was all part of a December day in Chicago.

"This is the holiday season," Noah Jackson, a 270-pound guard who has been leading

Payton on sweeps all year, said grimly. "You get busy with other things. There are families to think of and all that. Next year we'll remember that there are 14 games in an NFL season, not 13."

After Penrose was slammed to earth, Norris Weese, an old World Football League refugee who got cut by the Rams last season, trotted out, his breath blowing in big puffs into the 30-degree cold along the lakefront. He didn't do much in the first half but in the second he led Denver to all 28 of its points.

"Norris Weese played a very good game and Otis Armstrong made the big plays, and that was the key," Ralston said. Weese ran 12 times for 120 yards, including key first downs. His passing was far from spectacular — seven of 22 for 98 yards and four big interceptions, including three by Ross Brupbacher — but he got the job done. Armstrong charged for 116 yards and crashed through the 1,000-yard barrier with a season total of 1,008.

"They're going to make a lot of changes next year," Armstrong said afterward. "I don't know what changes they're going to make, that isn't what I'm paid for. But we've got to get tougher and get ready to beat the Oakland Raiders. If we don't stop them, they'll just go on and on and on." Changes? Ralston was asked about his status, possibly shaky despite a final record of 9-5, the best in Denver history.

"I don't know," he said. "The decision is up to the ownership. You'd be concerned, too, if you'd been around here in the the NFL for five years and didn't have a team in the playoffs. I feel disheartened about that."

"The biggest thing was to beat a good team on the road, and we felt we played a good team and we won," Ralston said. "This team has risen to the occasion before and they did again today."

Payton came out of the game in the third quarter after being stopped on a run and lying in agony in the cold. He was led from the field by the trainers, his hands covering his face. On the sidelines crumpled up on the bench in his hooded cape.

Later he would insist that he had asked to be taken out.

"I wanted to win the game more than anything, and that was the biggest disappointment," Payton said. "I figured the only way to maybe get things started was to maybe take me out of the game. That's why I suggested that, so they could see how Johnny (Musso) or Mike (Adamle), if they could get anything going, because I wanted to win the game more than anything."

Wildcat Rout Tribute To Rupp

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
At Kentucky, basketball is king — and Adolph Rupp is the crown prince.

They paid tribute to one of college basketball's most famous coaches Saturday night with the official opening of Rupp Arena at Lexington.

It was a night that Rupp will not forget for a long time. As a matter of fact, neither will Kansas Coach Ted Owens.

"I haven't seen all the great teams around the country, but Kentucky certainly has to rank among the best of them," said Owens after his Jayhawks suffered a 90-63 trouncing by the nation's fourth-ranked team.

The 27-point margin was even more impressive, considering that Kansas was undefeated in five games before Saturday and is one of the favorites to win the Big Eight Conference title.

"We were very impressed with Kansas, but our defense overpowered them," said Kentucky Wildcat Coach Joe Hall. "They could very well be the Big Eight champions this year."

Outside of the notable victory, another highlight for the fans was the presentation of the game ball to Rupp. It was used in the first half, then given to college basketball's greatest winner.

Elsewhere in college basketball Saturday, second-ranked Marquette walloped Penn State 79-49. No. 7 Notre Dame stunned No. 3 UCLA 66-63; fifth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas outscored San Diego State 118-113; sixth-ranked San Francisco defeated Utah 91-81 in the final of the Utah Classic after 15th-ranked Tennessee won the consolation game with a 99-90 beating of Seton Hall.

Also, No. 8 Cincinnati routed St. Joseph's of Indiana 122-78; No. 9 Arizona trounced the University of Pacific 78-60; No. 12 North Carolina defeated Virginia Tech 81-77; Purdue upset No. 14 Louisville 72-70; No. 16 Clemson beat Tennessee Tech 133-78; Hofstra edged No. 18 Southern Illinois 67-66 in the final of the Pittsburgh Classic; and No. 20 Syracuse whipped Canisius 75-59. On Sunday, 17th-ranked Maryland beat No. 19 DePaul 92-74.

Jack Givens fired in 13 points, including four quick field goals early in the first half, helping Kentucky outclass Kansas. The fourth of Givens' field goals put Kentucky ahead 18-6 with 13:48 left in the first half and the Wildcats never were threatened after that.

James Lee added 14 points, while Rick Robey and Dwayne Casey had 13 apiece for the Southeastern Conference team. John Douglas led all scorers with 17 points for Kansas.

Butcher's 18 points led Marquette to its easy victory over Penn State. Reserve guard Mark Rosenberger shredded Penn's State's zone defense early, hitting four 20-foot shots as the Warriors opened a 24-14 lead and improved that to a commanding 50-29 advantage with five minutes gone in the second half.

A 31-point performance by Sam Smith led Nevada-Las Vegas over San Diego State. Bill Cartwright scored 21 points, pacing San Francisco over Utah for the Utah Classic title. Mike Jackson and Ernie Grunfeld

teamed for 60 points, leading Tennessee's victory over Seton Hall in the consolation game.

Brian Williams scored a career-high 29 points, leading Cincinnati past St. Joseph's of Indiana. Herman Harris and Phil Taylor each scored 22 points as Arizona beat Pacific.

Late Notre Dame Rally Tops No. 3 UCLA, 66-63

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Digger Phelps has decided somebody up there likes the Irish, and Gene Bartow must think so, too.

"I guess somebody up there likes us ... because I'm not a saint," Phelps said following seventh-ranked Notre Dame's 66-63 upset over the third-ranked UCLA Bruins Saturday.

While the triumph may have seemed divinely inspired, a mere mortal, and a freshman at that, made the difference in the score by sinking a layup and two free throws in the last 45 seconds.

To add insult to injury, the freshman, Rich Branning, was a player out of UCLA's backyard, one that got away. The 6-foot-3 Branning is from Marina High in nearby Huntington Beach. He drove through the Bruins' defense for his layup and gave the Irish a 64-63 lead with just more than a half-minute left to play, then added his two free throws with one second remaining.

The Bruins, who never had lost a nonconference game at Pauley Pavilion in 115 games and 15 seasons, could not score in the late stages of the game.

UCLA, which now has lost just four games at Pauley, went the final 8:17 without scoring.

"If you don't shoot well against Notre Dame, you're going to have problems," said second-year Bruins Coach Gene Bartow. "They got a lot of breaks, especially those in-and-out shots that went in for them and rolled out for us."

Phelps could hardly believe that his team had finally whipped UCLA on the Bruins' home court after nine defeats there, and he was, in a word, ecstatic.

"There is no thrill to describe this one," he said.

Indiana In Golden Spot Against Irish

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Indiana's Hoosiers, burdened with two losses in three starts, get a golden opportunity to redeem themselves in the early stages of the season.

Having lost to both Toledo and Kentucky, Indiana will take a 1-2 record to South Bend Tuesday night to face Notre Dame's undefeated Irish.

Notre Dame was ranked seventh nationally but that was before the Irish pulled the carpet from under third-ranked UCLA at Pauley Pavilion 66-63 last Saturday.

Chances are Coach Bobby Knight's Hoosiers aren't ready as yet to confront the powerful Irish at Notre Dame but the opportunity is there for Indiana.

Knight insisted before the start of the season that he was not set on a starting lineup except for All-American Kent Benson. Knight has sent forth a different starting five in each of Indiana's games.

Knight will give it his best shot at Notre Dame but his current task is to get his team ready for the Big Ten race which begins Jan. 6.

Big Ten teams, meanwhile, have compiled a 29-16 record against sectional foes with Minnesota and Iowa remaining undefeated along with top-ranked Michigan.

Iowa made it 5-0 Friday night with a 94-73 victory over

California while Michigan and Minnesota were idle over the weekend.

Illinois, Purdue and Michigan State came up with home-floor victories Saturday. Wisconsin and Northwestern were losers on the road.

Freshman Levi Cobb scored six points in the last two minutes and finished with 16 to lead Illinois past Nebraska 67-63.

The victory was the fourth in five starts for the defensive-minded Illini.

Eugene Parker's two free throws in the final minute of play enabled Purdue to squeeze past 14th-ranked Louisville 72-71. Parker led the Boilermakers with 19 points and freshman Joe Barry Carroll scored 15 and picked off 10 rebounds. Purdue is now 4-2.

Bob Chapman's 20-foot basket as the clock ran out in overtime gave Michigan State and new Coach Jud Heathcote their first victory of the season with a 54-52 decision over Eastern Michigan. Greg Kelsler led the Spartans with 20 points and 14 rebounds.

Bill Pearson scored 18 points for Wisconsin but it wasn't enough as Stanford belted the Badgers 70-66 and Billy McKinney scored 23 for Northwestern in a 92-78 defeat at Arizona State.

Two games are scheduled Monday night with Cleveland State at Illinois and Wisconsin at Northern Illinois.

Bears, Payton Lose In Denver Finale

CHICAGO (AP) — The Broncos and the Bears, a pair of all-star teams, battled each other black and blue in the freezing cold at the close of disappointing National Football League seasons.

When it was over, Denver Coach John Ralston, fighting to hang onto his job, said he still didn't know. Jack Pardue, in his second year as coach at Chicago had yet to produce a winning season.

The final score was Denver 26, Chicago 14.

The only big distinction to fight for was the National Football League rushing title. Chicago's Walter Payton went into the match nine yards ahead of O.J. Simpson. But Payton was led from the field, his hands covering his face, complaining of an ankle injury and an inability to get by the Broncos defense.

Rookie quarterback Craig Penrose, getting a chance to show his merits, was intercepted by Alan Ellis for a touchdown on the first play of the game and had his bell rung by Wally Chambers on the Broncos' second possession. He was taken to Illinois Masonic Hospital for x-rays, which proved negative.

It was all part of a December day in Chicago.

"This is the holiday season," Noah Jackson, a 270-pound guard who has been leading

Payton on sweeps all year, said grimly. "You get busy with other things. There are families to think of and all that. Next year we'll remember that there are 14 games in an NFL season, not 13."

After Penrose was slammed to earth, Norris Weese, an old World Football League refugee who got cut by the Rams last season, trotted out, his breath billowing in big puffs into the 30-degree cold along the lakelore. He didn't do much in the first half but in the second he led Denver to all 28 of its points.

"Norris Weese played a very good game and Otis Armstrong made the big plays, and that was the key," Ralston said. Weese ran 12 times for 120 yards, including key first downs. His passing was far from spectacular — seven of 22 for 80 yards and four big interceptions, including three by Ross Broshar — but he got the job done. Armstrong charged for 118 yards and crashed through the 1,000-yard barrier with a season total of 1,008.

"They're going to make a lot of changes next year," Armstrong said afterward. "I don't know what changes they're going to make, that isn't what I'm paid for. But we've got to get tougher and get ready to beat the Oakland Raiders. If we don't stop them, they'll just go on and on and on."

Changes? Ralston was asked about his status, possibly shaky despite a final record of 9-5, the best in Denver history.

"I don't know," he said. "The decision is up to the ownership. You'd be concerned, too, if you'd been around here in the NFL for five years and didn't have a team in the playoffs. I feel disheartened about that."

"The biggest thing was to beat a good team on the road, and we felt we played a good team and we won," Ralston said. "This team has risen to the occasion before and they did again today."

Payton came out of the game in the third quarter after being stopped on a run and lying in agony in the cold. He was led from the field by the trainers, his hands covering his face. On the sidelines crumpled up on the bench in his hooded cape.

"I wanted to win the game more than anything, and that was the biggest disappointment," Payton said. "I figured the only way to maybe get things started was to maybe take me out of the game. That's why I suggested that, so they could see how Johnny (Muss) or Mike (Adamle), if they could get anything going, because I wanted to win the game more than anything."

Rams Nip Lancers On Getman Basket Winning Shot At Buzzer

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

SOUTH HAVEN — Unselfishness may be Roger Getman's number one quality.

So it would seem only fitting that the South Haven guard would score the winning basket Saturday night in the Rams' spine-tingling 68-66 win over Lakeshore here.

Getman, who averages eight assists a game, rebounded a missed shot by Mike Jones and put in a layup at the buzzer to give South Haven the hard-fought win.

"Roger is probably the best defensive player and best assist man we've got," South Haven coach M. H. White said. "I was glad to see him get a few points."

Getman, a 6-0 senior, hit on six of 10 shots from the floor and scored a career-high 15 points for the Rams, who upped their record to 3-1. But it was his hustle at the end which set up the winning basket.

Odell Brister's basket with only six seconds left had capped a brilliant Lakeshore comeback and tied the game at 66-66. The Rams called timeout to set up their final strategy.

Mike Grimes passed the ball inbound to guard Perry Palanca. Palanca, the South Haven quarterback in football, threw a full-court pass to Jones, who tossed up a 15-footer from the right lane. Jones' shot hit the rim and bounced off. But Getman was underneath for the rebound and put in the layup just before the buzzer.

"Our plan was to throw the long bomb to Jones," White said. "But we had wanted the long pass thrown sooner than it was. I was glad to see Getman running hard to put in the rebound."

Lakeshore, which fell to 1-3, had staged a brilliant comeback in the final two minutes even without standout center Tom Jager. Jager, who scored a game-high 25 points, fouled out with 2:27 left. Grimes connected on a pair of free throws at that point to give South Haven a 66-58 edge. But eight straight Lancer points tied the contest and set the stage for the hectic finish.

"We were fortunate to get out with a win," White said. "We shouldn't have even gotten in trouble. We should have sat on the ball a little more than we did in the last few minutes."

William Gamble paced the winners with 20 points on 10 of 18 from the floor. Grimes added 19.

Besides Jager's effort, which included 11 of 15 from the field, Lakeshore got 17 points from forward Larry Toth and 12 from Brister.

"Everybody played their hearts out," a dejected Lakeshore coach Lloyd MacTavish said. "We were down 10 at the half (44-34) and set a goal to trim the deficit to half of that after three quarters. And we did."

"Then we were down 12 with three minutes left (64-52) and came back. We showed a lot of determination and hustle."

"No question about it, it was our best effort to date. We went out and executed well. It's a hard loss, but it should be a learning experience in knowing what we can do. The real character was shown when we came back."

MacTavish was especially pleased with the front line work of Jager and Toth.

"Jager hit the boards harder and shot better," he said. "He was getting his points right where he should be getting them — inside."

"Toth played a whale of a ballgame. He was on Gamble all night and fouled him out of there. He did a great job on the boards and hustled well on defense. Even though Gamble scored 20 points, he did not have an uncontested shot. Larry made him work to get the ball."

South Haven scored the last 11 points of the first half to take the halftime lead of 44-34. But the Rams hit just four of 18 shots in the third quarter. The Lancers scored the last six points of the quarter to close to within 52-48.

South Haven upped the margin back to 64-52 with 3:18 left before Lakeshore began its comeback.

Lakeshore outshot South Haven, hitting on 29 of 59 for 49 per cent while the Rams could find the range on only 27 of 71 for 38 per cent.

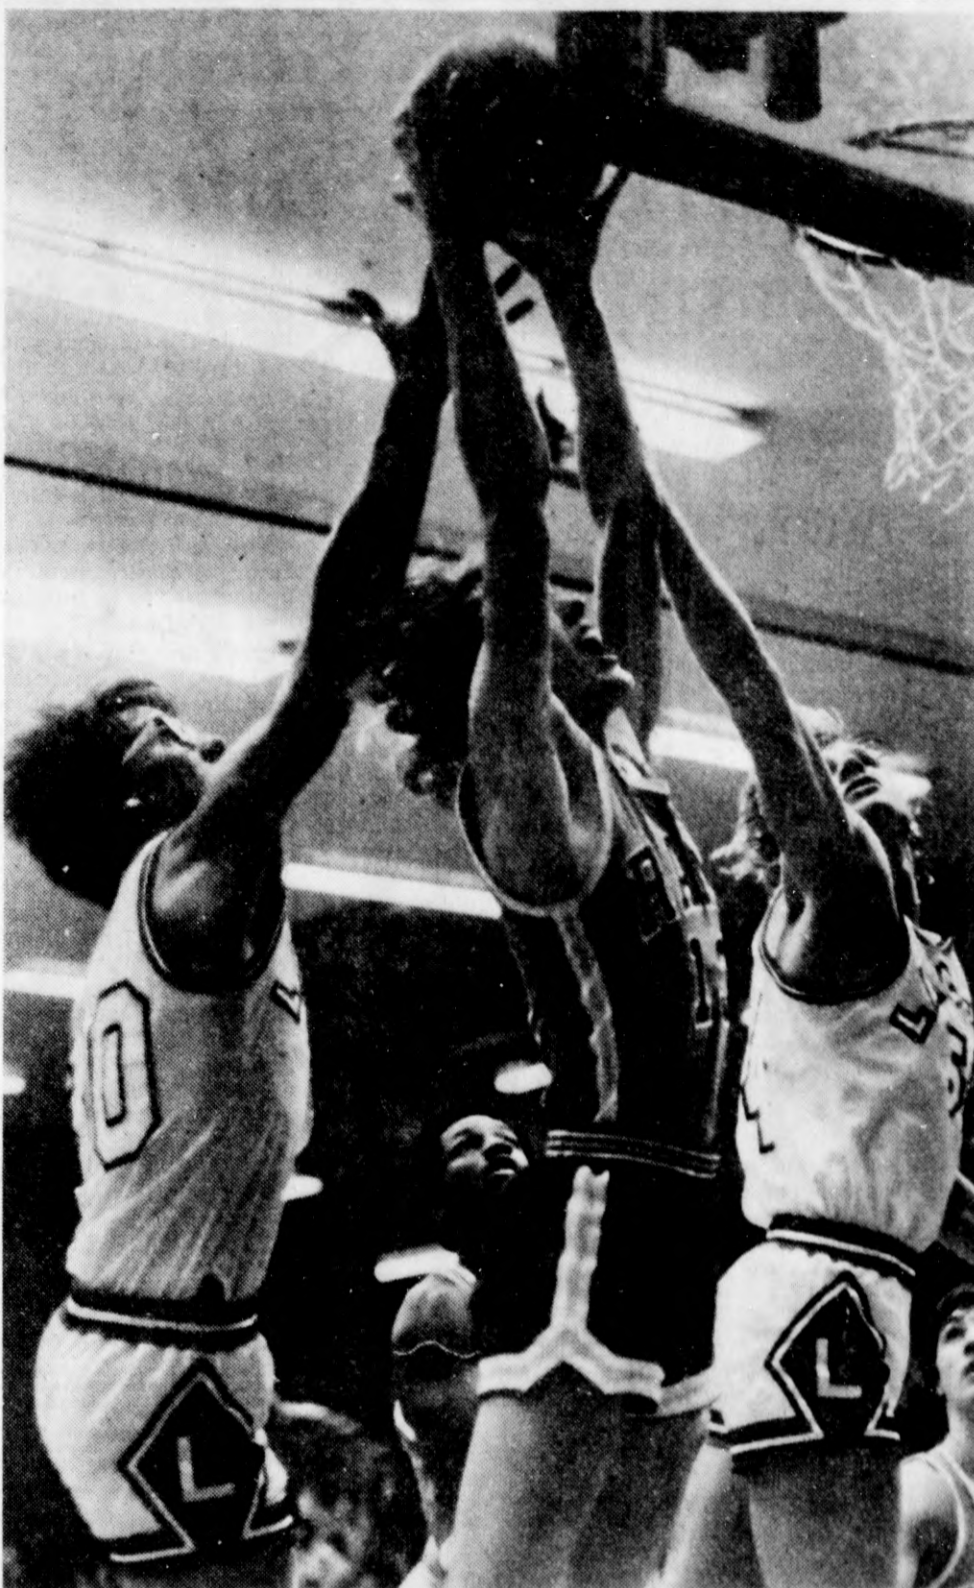

The Lancers also held a 49-38 board edge with Toth pulling down 14, Scott Lee 11 and Jager 10. Gamble grabbed 11 rebounds and Grimes 10 for South Haven.

Turnovers plagued Lakeshore more than anything else. The Lancers turned the ball over 28 times to only 15 for the Rams.

Sweet Win For Comets

Victory Over Lakers Ends Long Losing Streak

COLOMA — The sweet taste of victory finally came to Coloma here Saturday night.

A brilliant fourth-quarter rally helped the Comets edge Lake Michigan Catholic 61-56 in a non-league basketball game.

The win snapped a 14-game Coloma losing streak and was the first victory ever by the Comets against the Lakers.

"I was real pleased with the kids' effort," Coloma coach Sam Wright said. "We got balanced scoring for once. It was an overall team effort."

Joe Jones tossed in 16 points, Keith Penoyer added 14 and Don Arent added 13 for Coloma, now 1-3 on the year.

Tim Gentry scored 18, Mike Masini 15 and Clancy Rose 10 for the Lakers, who dropped to 0-6.

"It was really the first loss that we've had that I've been extremely disappointed in," Laker coach Al Nixon said. "We just handed it to them. They put a press on us and it rattled us. Once they caught up I think the kids just panicked. Even after we fell behind we had our chances but just could not capitalize."

"Phil Banks was out with an ankle injury, but we played good enough for three quarters without him. We shouldn't have to use that for an excuse."

Catholic held leads of 17-9, 36-28 and 44-36 at the first three quarter stops. But the Lakers came unraveled in the final period. After upping the margin to 49-38 early in the fourth quarter, the Lakers began to run into trouble with the Coloma press. "We started pressing in the second half and it finally paid off in the fourth quarter," Wright said. "It was a pretty aggressive game."

Coloma finally took the lead at 56-54 on a basket by Jones and clutch free throw shooting clinched the win. Stephen Page and Arent each hit one-and-one free throw chances to put the game out of reach.

"I was pleased that the kids were shooting well under pressure," Wright said.

For the game, Coloma hit on 25 of 65 from the floor for 38 per cent and the Lakers cashed in on just 18 of 47 also for 38 per cent. The Comets hit 11 of 19 from the foul line (58 per cent) and Catholic meshed 20 of 30 (67 per cent).

The Lakers held a 44-37 board edge with Brian Brown pulling down 17 and Masini 16. Jones came away with 15 rebounds for Coloma.

Turnovers played a big role with Coloma committing 23, but only nine coming in the second half. The Lakers turned the ball over 28 times with 10 coming in the final period.

Coloma won the junior varsity game.

Titans' Winning Record First In School History

Michigan Lutheran has its first winning record in history.

The Titans toppled Lawrence 44-28 Saturday night at the Lutheran Gym to run their record to 3-2 for the year. In its brief five-year history it marks the first time Lutheran has boasted a winning record.

This is the third year in which the Titans have played a full schedule with their best record to date being last year's 8-13 slate. But coach John Eggart is hoping defense will be the difference this time around.

"We set a goal this weekend of allowing only 90 points," Eggart said. "And we gave up just 76. We played super defense against Lawrence. I couldn't pick out one individual. It was a team effort."

Lawrence went 17 possessions without scoring during a period in the first half. And the Titans failed to score over a seven-minute period in the second half.

"We were changing zones on them," Eggart said. "The kids were really talking and helping each other out. I think they're starting to get some confidence in our defense."

Lutheran's Bob Guse was the only player to hit double digits on either team, scoring 15.

The Titans hit on 20 of 57 from the floor for 35 per cent, while holding Lawrence to just 10 of 44 for a measly 23 per cent.

Lutheran held a 36-34 board edge and turned the ball over just 16 times to 20 for the Titans.

About the only problem the Titans had was in shooting free throws. Lutheran found the range on only four of 18, a miserable 22 per cent. Lawrence hit eight of 16 for 50 per cent.

Beagan IHL 'Conscience'

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Bill Beagan is mindful of a new rule against ruffians when he terms himself "the International Hockey League's conscience."

The IHL commissioner searches daily for three-time losers under Rule 29, Section F. It's aimed at a player who has received a combination of three game or gross misconduct penalties.

Beagan keeps score in his IHL office in Windsor. When he finds a player with a third such offense, the player draws an automatic one-game suspension.

A fourth game or gross misconduct penalty is punishable by a two-game suspension, a fifth by a three-game layoff and onward and upward.

Before the IHL season was very old, in late November, Willie Trognitz of Columbus, Len Ircandia of Kalamazoo and Doug Mahood of Toledo already had reached the maximum of three such infractions.

Trognitz had been idled for one game, Ircandia for two and Mahood was the leader with a three-game suspension.

"I don't think we're inhibiting a player from fighting," said the IHL commissioner. "It's the conduct associated with fighting — the hair-pulling, spitting, pushing the referee, waving a stick in the penalty box — that's what we want to put the clamps on."

"There's no doubt this rule can have great consequences and some clubs are going to have to decide what they want."

Owners and coaches in the IHL worry if their team should have several players under suspension at the same time. The IHL already has a 16-player limit.

"They'll kill the game with rules like this," said Ted Garvin, coach and general manager at Toledo. "People here don't want European hockey. They want physical hockey. That's been proven by the way the Goaldiggers draw."

Mahood added, "I can see it being a good rule in junior hockey. But this is the pros. We're not teen-agers."

Bob McCammon, the coach at Port Huron, pondered, "If you end up with eight goons and seven players on your team, where are you? With this rule we'll come back to the game of hockey. We've been going away from it ever since the NHL (National Hockey League) expanded."

Bestie Leads Unbeaten Brandywine Past Marian

MISHAWAKA, Ind. — Greg Bestie dominated both ends of the floor here Saturday night as unbeaten Brandywine held off Mishawaka Marian 67-60 in a non-league basketball game.

The win was the fifth straight for the Bobcats, while Marian fell to 1-3.

Bestie tossed in 20 points to pace the balanced Brandywine attack. But more importantly, he held Marian forward Kip Wellin to just 12. Wellin had been averaging 21 per game.

"Bestie takes a lot of pride in his defense," Brandywine coach Frank Standley said. "He denied him the ball, put his hand in his face and just worked on him all night."

Final 6-8 Record Worst In Eight Years

Lion Loss Is More Of Same

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Lions went wrong somewhere early this National Football League season and neither Coach Rick Forzano nor his interim successor Tommy Hudspeth was able to find out why.

What appeared to be a likely 10-4 or maybe 9-5 season because of a seemingly easy schedule wound up being the team's worst season — 6-8 — in eight years.

The Lions' season ending 20-17 loss Saturday night at the Pontiac Silverdome to the playoff-bound Los Angeles Rams was fairly typical of Detroit games all season. The Lions looked like they could win, but instead they blew it in the second half.

Will Hudspeth be given the coaching position next season or will he return to his post as coordinator of personnel and scouting? How many of the Lions won't be around next year? Will Russ Thomas continue as general manager and, if so, will he finally make some big trades to shake up the franchise?

Statistics

	Rams	Lions
First downs	14	11
Rushes-yards	40-117	27-81
Passing yards	132	122
Return yards	86	54
Fumbles	12-22-2	12-21-3
Punts	5-43	8-36
Fumbles lost	0-0	2-0
Penalties-yards	4-30	10-75

These are questions that will be answered in the weeks ahead, some of them while other NFL teams are battling for this season's championship. Detroit sits at home for the 18th time in the last 19 years.

"This team has a nucleus," Hudspeth said. "We'll be evaluating a great deal this winter." He said he would confer with club owner William Clay Ford after Friday's North-South college all-star game at the Silverdome and a decision on his coaching status would likely come soon after.

One can't help but wonder whether Detroit would have been any better in recent years if former assistant Chuck Knox had replaced fired Coach Joe with the second half opening Schmidt four years ago. Instead, Knox took over at Los Angeles and the Rams have won four division crowns since. They finished 10-3-1 this year and open the playoffs next weekend at Dallas.

"I expect a typical, hard-nosed Dallas football team," Knox said. "We'll have to play our best game of the year."

They were far from their best against Detroit, but came back, often with second-stringers in the second half, to overcome a 17-3 halftime deficit with 17 points in the third-quarter.

James Harris began the barrage with a 27-yard touchdown pass to Harold Jackson to climax a 65-yard, 12-play drive kickoff. Soon afterward Tom Dempsey followed linebacker Isiah Robertson's interception of a Joe Reed pass with a 32-yard field goal. And a little after that, linebacker Jim Youngblood picked off another Reed aerial, raced 26 yards, and Cullen Bryant went over from the three for the score.

Reed had replaced Greg Landry at quarterback in the first quarter "for no particular reason," Hudspeth said.

Reed's first play was a 57-yard pass to Ray Jarvis that set-up Reed's four-yard touchdown run. He also hit Charlie Sanders with a nine-yard TD pass a minute before halftime, after Lem Barney intercepted a Harris pass and returned it 26 yards to the Lion 47.

Detroit's first score was a 19-yard field goal by Benny Ricardo after rookie James Hunter returned the opening kickoff 84 yards. Later Dempsey kicked a 35-yard field goal and also had a 27-yard try blocked by Billy Howard.

Americans Falter; Spain Cup Champ

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Manuel Pinero of Spain was busily thanking everybody — the tournament organizers, the press, the marshals, the drivers, waiters in the clubhouse. Everybody.

He paused and a shy, sly smile crossed his face. "And I'd like to thank the United States team, too," he said. "For making double bogey and bogey on the 17th hole."

That collapse by Jerry Pate and Dave Stockton dropped the Americans out of a one-stroke lead into a two-stroke deficit and enabled Pinero and his teammate Seve Ballesteros to gain the first team title for Spain in the World Cup International golf tournament.

The United States, the defending champion and winner of 13 of the 24 World Cups, was second.

"We sure as hell didn't want to lose it," said Stockton, the PGA national champion. "We gave it our best shot, but we're not at all happy with the results. It's hard for us to have our games in shape at this time of the year. Neither one of us had played much in the last two months. We're both really upset about losing the thing."

Pate, the United States Open champion, then advanced to the raised interview stand to offer his views. He tripped on the first step and sprawled headlong and face-down into a canvas chair.

"Well," he said, "that just shows you what kind of week it's been."

The key to the whole thing was the 17th. The United States was leading by one when they went to the tee on the par-three hole. Both caught bunkers. Stockton bogeyed. Pate came out 30 feet short and three-putted. It was over. Just that simply.

Pinero had a last-round 68 and the 20-year-old Ballesteros a 74. They finished with a team total of 574, two under par on the 7,181-yard Mission Hills Country Club course.

Pate matched par 72 in the bright sunshine, and Stockton had 73. The American total was 576. Taiwan was next among the two-man teams from 48 nations with 581, followed by Scotland 583 and Mexico and Japan tied at 584.

Ernesto Perez Acosta, a club pro in Mexico City and easily his country's best player, took the individual title with a last-round 70 for 282. The six-way tie for second at 285 included Pate, Pinero, Brian Barnes of Scotland, Simon Owen of New Zealand, Dale Hayes of South Africa and Kuo Chie-Hsiung of Taiwan. Kuo, the leader through the second and third rounds, had a 75, Owen 74, Barnes 68 and Hayes 71.

The victory was worth $1,000 and a spot in the 1977 World Series of Golf, which offers a total purse of $300,000.

St. Joseph was second at Lakeshore with the host school winding up third, Dowagiac tied with Coldwater for fourth, Berrien Springs was seventh and Coloma was eighth.

Marshall Scores 21 In Gael Loss

WESTVILLE, Ind. — Rick Wozniak tossed in 23 points here Saturday night as Westville tripped Gallen 75-59 in a non-league basketball game.

The hosts led at all three quarter steps, with margins of 16-12, 39-31 and 61-44. The Westville lead reached as big as 20 points, but the Gaels cut the deficit to 67-59 with two minutes to play. That was as close as Gallen could get.

Brad Marshall scored a career-high 21 points for Gallen, which fell to 2-4.

Gallen hit on 27 of 64 from the floor for 42 per cent. Westville, now 3-3 on the season, meshed 31 of 68 for 46 per cent.

At the free throw line, the Gaels could find the range on only five of 17 for a measly 29 per cent. Westville connected on 12 of 24 for 54 per cent.

The Gaels turned the ball over 31 times to only 28 for Westville.

Lion Loss Is More Of Same

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Lions went wrong somewhere early this National Football League season and neither Coach Rick Forzano nor his interim successor Tommy Hudspeth was able to find out why.

What appeared to be a likely 10-4 or maybe 8-5 season because of a seemingly easy schedule wound up being the team's worst season — 6-8 — in eight years.

The Lions' season ending 20-17 loss Saturday night at the Pontiac Silverdome to the playoff-bound Los Angeles Rams was fairly typical of Detroit games all season. The Lions looked like they could win, but instead they blew it in the second half.

Will Hudspeth be given the coaching position next season or will he return to his post as coordinator of personnel and scouting? How many of the Lions won't be around next year? Will Russ Thomas continue as general manager and, if so, will he finally make some big trades to shake up the franchise?

Statistics

First Downs	Runs-Yards	Passing Yards	Return Yards	Poses	Points	Fumbles-Lost	Penalties-Yards
12	40-117	122	122	12-22	5-36	0-0	10-75
11	36-112	122	122	12-22	5-36	0-0	10-75

These are questions that will be answered in the weeks ahead, some of them while other NFL teams are battling for this season's championship. Detroit sits at home for the 18th time in the last 19 years.

"This team has a nucleus," Hudspeth said. "We'll be evaluating a great deal this winter." He said he would confer with club owner William Clay Ford after Friday's North-South college all-star game at the Silverdome and a decision on his coaching status would likely come soon after.

One can't help but wonder whether Detroit would have been any better in recent years if former assistant Chuck Knox had replaced fired Coach Joe with the second half opening Schmidt four years ago. Instead, Knox took over at Los Angeles and the Rams have won four division crowns since. They finished 10-3-1 this year and open the playoffs next weekend at Dallas.

"I expect a typical, hard-nosed Dallas football team," Knox said. "We'll have to play our best game of the year."

They were far from their best against Detroit, but came back, often with second-stringers in the second half, to overcome a 17-3 halftime deficit with 17 points in the third quarter.

James Harris began the barrage with a 27-yard touchdown pass to Harold Jackson to climax a 63-yard, 12-play drive kickoff. Soon afterward Tom Dempsey followed linebacker Isiah Robertson's interception of a Joe Reed pass with a 32-yard field goal. And a little after that, linebacker Jim Youngblood picked off another Reed aerial, raced 26 yards, and Cullen Bryant went over from the three for the score.

Reed had replaced Greg Landry at quarterback in the first quarter "for no particular reason," Hudspeth said.

Reed's first play was a 37-yard pass to Ray Jarvis that set-up Reed's four-yard touchdown run. He also hit Charlie Sanders with a nine-yard TD pass a minute before halftime, after Lem Barney intercepted a Harris pass and returned it 26 yards to the Lion 47.

HIS LAST GAME? New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath shares his problems with interim coach Mike Holovak, who replaced resigned coach Lou Holtz for Sunday's game against the Cincinnati Bengals. Namath started the game but only played in the first half, leaving the game after a couple of interceptions turned into two touchdowns for the Bengals. Unofficial word was that the game could be the last one for Namath. Bengals won, 42-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Americans Falter; Spain Cup Champ

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Manuel Pinero of Spain was busily thanking everybody — the tournament organizers, the press, the marshals, the drivers, waiters in the clubhouse. Everybody.

He paused and a shy, sly smile crossed his face.

"And I'd like to thank the United States team, too," he said. "for making double bogey and lungey on the 17th hole."

That collapse by Jerry Pate and Dave Stockton dropped the Americans out of a one-stroke lead into a two-stroke deficit and enabled Pinero and his teammate Seve Ballesteros to gain the first team title for Spain in the World Cup International golf tournament.

The United States, the defending champion and winner of 13 of the 21 World Cups, was second.

"We sure as hell didn't want to lose it," said Stockton, the PGA national champion. "We gave it our best shot, but we're not at all happy with the results. It's hard for us to have our games in shape at this time of the year. Neither one of us had played much in the last two months. We're both really upset about losing the thing."

Pate, the United States Open champion, then advanced to the raised interview stand to offer his views. He tripped on the first step and sprawled headlong and face-down into a canvas chair.

"Well," he said, "that just shows you what kind of week it's been."

The key to the whole thing was the 17th. The United States was leading by one when they went to the tee on the par-three hole. Both caught bunkers. Stockton bogeyed. Pate came out 30 feet short and three-putted. It was over. Just that simply.

Pinero had a last-round 68 and the 20-year-old Ballesteros a 74. They finished with a team total of 374, two under par on the 7,181-yard Mission Hills Country Club course.

Pate matched par 72 in the bright sunshine, and Stockton had 73. The American total was 376. Taiwan was next among the two-man teams from 48 nations with 381, followed by Scotland 383 and Mexico and Japan tied at 384.

Ernesto Perez Acosta, a club pro in Mexico City and easily his country's best player, took the individual title with a last-round 70 for 282. The six-way tie for second at 283 included Pate, Pinero, Brian Barnes of Scotland, Simon Owen of New Zealand, Dale Hayes of South Africa and Kuo Chie-Hsiung of Taiwan. Kuo, the leader through the second and third rounds, had a 75, Owen 74, Barnes 68 and Hayes 71.

The victory was worth $1,000 and a spot in the 1977 World Series of Golf, which offers a total purse of $300,000.

Detroit's first score was a 19-yard field goal by Benny Ricardo after rookie James Hunter returned the opening kickoff 83 yards. Later Dempsey kicked a 35-yard field goal and also had a 27-yard try blocked by Billy Howard.

MSU Sweeps U-M

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Western Collegiate Hockey Association continues to be full of surprises.

This last weekend could be called the "weekend of the sweep."

While Notre Dame, Minnesota and Minnesota-Duluth took the weekend off, North Dakota, Colorado College and Michigan probably wish they would have done the same.

Wisconsin blasted North Dakota 11-6 Saturday night to complete its sweep, Michigan State tripped Michigan 6-5 in overtime and Denver nipped Colorado College 5-4.

In nonconference play, Michigan Tech also completed a sweep with a 6-3 victory over Lake Superior State.

Freshman Mark Johnson scored seven points on five assists and a pair of goals and Mike Meeker and Mike Eaves each scored three goals in Wisconsin's rout of North Dakota in a battle for first place in the WCHA.

The victory left the Badgers alone in first place at 11-3 while the Sioux dropped to 10-4.

Michigan State's double victory over arch-rival Michigan prevented the Wolverines from moving past North Dakota.

A goal by Tim McDonald at 4:14 of overtime gave Michigan State its sixth victory against eight losses in the league.

Michigan, now 9-5, was led by two Kris Manery goals.

Tom Zagac's goal at 2:49 in overtime lifted Denver, now 8-6 in conference play, over Colorado College, which dropped to 5-1 in the league.

Stu Younger's two goals led Tech, 8-8 overall, over Lake Superior State.

Wings And Rangers End Long Spells Of Frustration

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
It had been two years and one week, nine games to be exact, since the Detroit Red Wings had beaten the Bruins in Boston Garden.
It had been two years and eight months, nine games to be exact, since the New York Rangers had beaten the Montreal Canadiens anywhere.
That is, until Sunday night, when both teams ended long spells of frustration with victories. The Red Wings, despite blowing a penalty shot in the first period, beat the Bruins 5-3 at Boston, and the Rangers downed the Canadiens 5-2 at Madison Square Garden. Meanwhile, other streaks continued.

For example, the Philadelphia Flyers beat Toronto 7-4, extending their home unbeaten string over the Maple Leafs to 11 games going back to Dec. 19, 1971. And the Pittsburgh Penguins beat St. Louis 5-3, extending the Blues' winless skein to seven games.
In the other National Hockey League game, the New York Islanders beat the Chicago

Black Hawks 6-2.
Dennis Hextall scored two power play goals and set up two others, the decisive tallies in the third period, sending Detroit past Boston for the first time at Boston Garden since Dec. 5, 1974.
Bill Lochead was unsuccessful against Bruins goalie Gilles Gilbert on a penalty shot at 6:06 of the first period, but later converted a Hextall pass for the winning goal in the third period.
Bobby Sheehan and Dan Maloney had the other Detroit goals. Boston, which lost for the sixth time in eight games, got goals from Don Marcotte, Wayne Cashman and Johnny Bucyk.

The Rangers recorded their first triumph over Montreal since April 7, 1974 when Wayne Dillon scored twice and Rod Gilbert, playing in his 1,000th career game with New York, added three assists and took over second place among league scorers.
Bill Goldsworthy, Don Murdoch and Greg Polis also tallied for the Rangers, who ended a 10-game Montreal unbeaten string. Jim Roberts and Serge Savard hit for the Canadiens, who have lost only five times in 32 games this season.

Penguins 5, Blues 3 Jean Pronovost scored twice and Ron Shock highlighted a three-goal Pittsburgh third period by potting the game-winner as the Penguins beat the Blues. Bob Kelly and Mario Faubert added Penguins goals, while Bob MacMillan, Garry Unger and Larry Patey were the St. Louis marksmen.

Orest Kindrachuk and Don Saleski scored within 20 seconds in the second period, breaking a 2-2 tie in the Flyers' success. Philadelphia extended its unbeaten string to 11 games.
Clark Gillies scored twice and added an assist, lifting the Islanders past injury-riddled Chicago. The Black Hawks, with six regulars out of the lineup, got goals from Kirk Bowman and Alain Daigle. J.P. Parise also had two for New York.

Simpson Sparks Piston Victory Rockets End Sonic Streak

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
For a change, Tom Nissalke was on the winning side in Seattle Sunday night ... and for a change the SuperSonics were not.
Nissalke, dismissed several years ago when the Sonics were chronic losers, returned as coach of the Houston Rockets, who registered a 96-92 triumph, ending Seattle's 29-game home winning streak, seven short of the National Basketball Association record.
"We made Seattle play our tempo and it's something not many teams have been able to do in Seattle," said Nissalke. "This game was not that much of an emotional game for me and I just took it as another game."
Moses Malone grabbed a key rebound and followed with a pair of free throws, clinching the triumph. Mike Newlin hit a 22-foot shot with 32 seconds remaining, putting Houston ahead 92-90. Seattle's Fred Brown missed a shot, Malone cleared the boards with 20 seconds to play and was fouled in the backcourt. He made the free throws and Newlin went the length of the court to score after Seattle's Leonard Gray missed a shot.

Rudy Tomjanovich led Houston with 22 points and Calvin Murphy added 18, becoming the club's all-time leading scorer. Malone had 20 rebounds.
In other NBA games, the Philadelphia 76ers outlasted the Milwaukee Bucks 107-102, the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Denver Nuggets 112-83, the Detroit Pistons downed the Kansas City Kings 110-104 and the Phoenix Suns burned the Atlanta Hawks 106-91.
George McGinnis' 27 points led Philadelphia, 15-9, to an unexpectedly tough victory over 4-24 Milwaukee. Bob Dandridge scored 30 points as the Bucks tied the score 10 times in the third quarter and occasionally took the lead. But dunk shots by Julius Erving and Caldwell Jones helped Philadelphia to a 101-92 lead with 4:11 left.

The hot shooting of Lucius Allen and aggressive defense by Kermit Washington led a first-half Los Angeles assault. The Lakers led 33-22 at the quarter and 60-39 at the half. Allen had 14 points in the first half and 18 for the game, while Washington, who did not start, added 10 points and six rebounds in the first half.
Denver star David Thompson hit just one of 11 shots in the first half and finished with 12 points, 14 under his average.
Ralph Simpson scored 12 of his 20 points in the fourth quarter and the Pistons' tall front line wore down the Kings. Kansas City lost momentum after rookie Rich Washington fouled out with 5:04 remaining. Washington finished with 19 points and 14 rebounds and led the Kings to an 86-79 lead after three periods.

Paul Westphal and Ricky Sobers each scored five points as Phoenix broke open a close game in the third quarter.
Although the Suns never trailed after taking a 19-18 lead on Alvan Adams' jumper midway through the first period, the game was close until the third quarter when the Suns went on an 18-4 spree for an 83-66 lead. Westphal scored 28 points, his season high, and Adams added 19.

Tulsa Favored Tonight In Independence Bowl

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Tulsa's Golden Hurricane is favored over short-handed McNeese State in tonight's Independence Bowl, a new postseason college football game.
The game is expected to attract only about 15,000 fans to the 50,000-seat State Fair Stadium, even with prices of some tickets marked down as low as $1.50.
McNeese got into the game by winning the Southland Conference title. However, 16 McNeese players who helped the Cowboys go 9-2 this year will not play.
Ten McNeese seniors were declared ineligible for the game because they were redshirted their freshman year. Six more were dismissed from the team for having had a girl in their dormitory.
The 10 former redshirts who will not play include Barry Kimbell, an All-Southland Conference guard, and three second-team all-conference performers.

The six who were disciplined for the dorm incident include all-conference running back Bobby Wilson, who led McNeese in rushing with 875 yards on 213 carries.
However, McNeese Coach Jack Doland said, "Our football team is alive and well ... We feel we'll represent our conference well. If Tulsa takes us lightly, they will lose the game."
But Doland conceded that his team lacked the depth to withstand a large number of injuries in the game.
Tulsa will have quarterback Rod Hickerson in the lineup for the first time since he suffered a broken thumb Nov. 13. Hickerson led the Missouri Valley Conference with 1,558 yards passing.
Meanwhile, Texas A&I and Montana State won national championships and South Carolina State earned a 26-10 victory over Norfolk State in the Bicentennial Bowl in Saturday's only college football action.
Texas A&I claimed the NAIA championship for the third consecutive year with a 26-0 decision over Central Arkansas, extending the nation's longest college football winning streak to 39.
Montana State captured the NCAA Division II title, beating Akron 24-13 in the Pioneer Bowl.

Junior tailback Larry Collins picked up 195 yards rushing and scored twice, leading the Texas A&I offense. The victory gave the Javelinas the NAIA record for consecutive victories and left them eight short of the collegiate record of 47 set by Oklahoma in the 1950s.
Sophomore quarterback Paul Denney completed a five-yard touchdown pass to Ron McCullough, starting Montana State toward a 17-0 lead and the Bobcats withstood a pair of Akron touchdowns that followed a pass interception and fumble recovery.
Fullback Ricky Anderson raced for 187 yards and scored two touchdowns for South Carolina State as the Bulldogs recorded their first bowl triumph in four consecutive appearances.

Wings And Rangers End Long Spells Of Frustration

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

It had been two years and one week, nine games to be exact, since the Detroit Red Wings had beaten the Bruins in Boston Garden.

It had been two years and eight months, nine games to be exact, since the New York Rangers had beaten the Montreal Canadiens anywhere.

That is, until Sunday night, when both teams ended long spells of frustration with victories. The Red Wings, despite blowing a penalty shot in the first period, beat the Bruins 5-3

at Boston, and the Rangers downed the Canadiens 5-2 at Madison Square Garden. Meanwhile, other streaks continued.

For example, the Philadelphia Flyers beat Toronto 7-4, extending their home unbeaten string over the Maple Leafs to 11 games going back to Dec. 19, 1971. And the Pittsburgh Penguins beat St. Louis 5-3, extending the Blues' winless skid to seven games.

In the other National Hockey League game, the New York Islanders beat the Chicago

Black Hawks 6-2.

Dennis Hextall scored two power play goals and set up two others, the decisive tallies in the third period, sending Detroit past Boston for the first time at Boston Garden since Dec. 5, 1974.

Bill Lochead was unsuccessful against Bruins goalie Gilles Gilbert on a penalty shot at 8:06 of the first period, but later converted a Hextall pass for the winning goal in the third period.

Bobby Sheehan and Dan Maloney had the other Detroit goals. Boston, which lost for the sixth time in eight games, got goals from Don Marcotte, Wayne Cashman and Johnny Bucyk.

The Rangers recorded their first triumph over Montreal since April 7, 1974 when Wayne Dillon scored twice and Rod Gilbert, playing in his 1,000th career game with New York, added three assists and took over second place among league scorers.

Bill Goldsworthy, Don Murdoch and Greg Polis also tallied for the Rangers, who ended a 10-game Montreal unbeaten string. Jim Roberts and Serge Savard hit for the Canadiens, who have lost only five times in 32 games this season.

Penguins 5, Blues 3 Jean Pronovost scored twice and Ron Shock highlighted a three-goal Pittsburgh third period by putting the game-winner as the Penguins beat the Blues. Bob Kelly and Mario Fauriol added Penguins goals, while Bob MacMillan, Garry Unger and Larry Patey were the St. Louis marksmen.

Orest Kindrachuk and Don Saleski scored within 20 seconds in the second period, breaking a 2-2 tie in the Flyers' success. Philadelphia extended its unbeaten string to 11 games.

Clark Gillies scored twice and added an assist, lifting the Islanders' past injury-riddled Chicago. The Black Hawks, with six regulars out of the lineup, got goals from Kirk Bowman and Alain Dangle. J.P. Parise also had two for New York.

Simpson Sparks Piston Victory

Rockets End Sonic Streak

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

For a change, Tom Nissalke was on the winning side in Seattle Sunday night ... and for a change the SuperSonics were not.

Nissalke, dismissed several years ago when the Sonics were chronic losers, returned as coach of the Houston Rockets, who registered a 96-92 triumph, ending Seattle's 29-game home winning streak, seven short of the National Basketball Association record.

"We made Seattle play our tempo and it's something not many teams have been able to do in Seattle," said Nissalke. "This game was not that much of an emotional game for me and I just took it as another game."

Moses Malone grabbed a key rebound and followed with a pair of free throws, clinching the triumph. Mike Newlin hit a 22-foot shot with 32 seconds remaining, putting Houston ahead 92-90. Seattle's Fred Brown missed a shot, Malone cleared the boards with 20 seconds to play and was fouled in the backcourt. He made the free throws and Newlin went the length of the court to score after Seattle's Leonard Gray missed a shot.

Rudy Tomjanovich led Houston with 22 points and Calvin Murphy added 18, becoming the club's all-time leading scorer. Malone had 20 rebounds.

In other NBA games, the Philadelphia 76ers outlasted the Milwaukee Bucks 107-102, the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Denver Nuggets 112-83, the Detroit Pistons downed the Kansas City Kings 110-104 and the Phoenix Suns burned the Atlanta Hawks 106-91.

George McGinnis' 27 points led Philadelphia, 19-8, to an unexpectedly tough victory over 4-21 Milwaukee. Bob Dandridge scored 30 points as the Bucks tied the score 10 times in the third quarter and occasionally took the lead. But dunk shots by Julius Erving and Caldwell Jones helped Philadelphia to a 101-92 lead with 4:11 left.

The hot shooting of Lucius Allen and aggressive defense by Kermit Washington led a first-half Los Angeles assault. The Lakers led 33-22 at the quarter and 60-39 at the half. Allen had 14 points in the first half and 18 for the game, while Washington, who did not start, added 10 points and six rebounds in the first half.

Denver star David Thompson hit just one of 11 shots in the first half and finished with 12 points, 14 under his average.

Ralph Simpson scored 12 of his 20 points in the fourth quarter and the Pistons' tall front line wore down the Kings. Kansas City lost momentum after rookie Rich Washington fouled out with 5:04 remaining. Washington finished with 19 points and 14 rebounds and led the Kings to an 86-79 lead after three periods.

Paul Westphal and Ricky Sobers each scored five points as Phoenix broke open a close game in the third quarter.

Although the Suns never trailed after taking a 19-18 lead on Alvan Adams' jumper midway through the first period, the game was close until the third quarter when the Suns went on an 18-4 spree for an 83-66 lead. Westphal scored 28 points, his season high, and Adams added 18.

Stocks Ahead Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices pushed ahead again today.

After opening trades, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up more than a point.

Advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange outnumbered those declining by a 3-2 margin.

As trading began, several more major banks announced reductions in their prime lending rates.

Widespread cuts in the prime rate were attributed with giving the stock market a boost late last week. The lower rates underscore declining interest rates in general.

Lower rates tend to make stocks relatively more attractive than such investments as bonds, which compete with stocks for investment funds.

Early prices today included Royal Industries, up 1/4 at 10 1/2; American Telephone & Telegraph, up 1/4 at 64; and Bristol Myers, up 1/4 at 67 1/4.

On Friday, the Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.41 to 973.15, extending the week's advance to 22.60 points.

Advancing NYSE issues led those declining by a 3-2 margin. Volume on the Big Board totaled 25.96 million shares.

The exchange's composite index of all its listed common stocks gained .12 to 36.33.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .40 to 103.20.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Insiders Don't Need Stock Options

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I feel you were wrong in a recent column advising a reader who was angered by options to insiders to vote down these plans. You should have explained that, theoretically, these stock options provide additional incentive for the executives to run the business more profitably. You should have pointed out also that without these benefits, corporations would have difficulty in attracting or keeping top-grade executives. Furthermore, your statement that there is little democracy in the corporate set-up is wrong. No one is forced to buy the shares in the first place.

A. I won't deny that your option position has considerably support — especially among corporate executives. But I'm not sure I understand why an executive who is already rewarded to the point where he is paying a 50 per cent or so income tax rate should also be awarded a tax gimmick in order to keep him interested. If you want him to benefit from better profits via an increase in the price of the stock, there is no reason he can't buy the stock the same way outside investors do.

It seems to me that if a worker in the ranks is paid $10,000 or $20,000, or whatever, to do the type of job he or she can do best, the employer has the right to expect he or she will do the best job possible. If additional monetary reward is warranted, it should be paid as salary. But I can't see why anyone is entitled to additional tax shelter, which — whether you know it or not — is the main (and, most often, the only) incentive behind the stock option plan.

And finally, the fact that an investor buys shares of XYZ Corp. of his own volition does NOT justify his interests being ignored thereafter by insiders. He may have been careless in buying before investigating — but that does not justify his handedness on the part of management.

Q. I am retired, 72. In 1968 I invested $4,000 in a mutual fund. Should I hold on or redeem the shares? I get nothing from it except a year-end statement about the amount of taxes I must pay the government on the dividends, which are always reinvested in additional shares.

A. Your problem is that at 72 you continue to "put" and not "take."
Hasn't anyone told you that you should ask the fund to send you the dividends in cash? Why are you reinvesting money you evidently need to meet living expenses? If you have a substantial amount invested you can even ask the fund to send you a monthly check for about 6 per cent (or even more) of your total investment value. If you take too much more, of course, you run the risk of running down your investment. But by all means take at least the regular dividends and see whether that helps out.

Q. I recently sold some stock at a heavy loss. There have been no dividends for the last 10 years. May I consider the non-payment of dividends as a loss to be added to my capital loss for tax purposes?

A. No — by no means. Your loss for tax purposes is the difference between what you paid for the shares and what you received in the sale.
Dividends are taxable when received — but NOT deductible when omitted.

MR. SHULSKY welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers through the column.

Dow Says It'll Buy Own Stock

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. has announced it was authorized by its board of directors to purchase 1.5 million shares of Dow common stock during calendar year 1977.

The purchases will be made to cover shares issued to employees through stock-option and payroll deduction stock purchase plans this year, said G.J. Williams, Dow financial vice president.

Williams said the shares would be bought on the open market or through negotiated purchases and added that the move continued a long-time practice of the company.

Granadas, Monarchs Recalled

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is recalling nearly 123,000 Granadas and Monarchs in two safety campaigns involving potentially defective shoulder belts and suspensions, the firm said today.

The first recall involves 86,600 of the 1976 and 1977 two-door models, built between May 15 and Oct. 22, which may have misaligned shoulder belt anchor nuts.

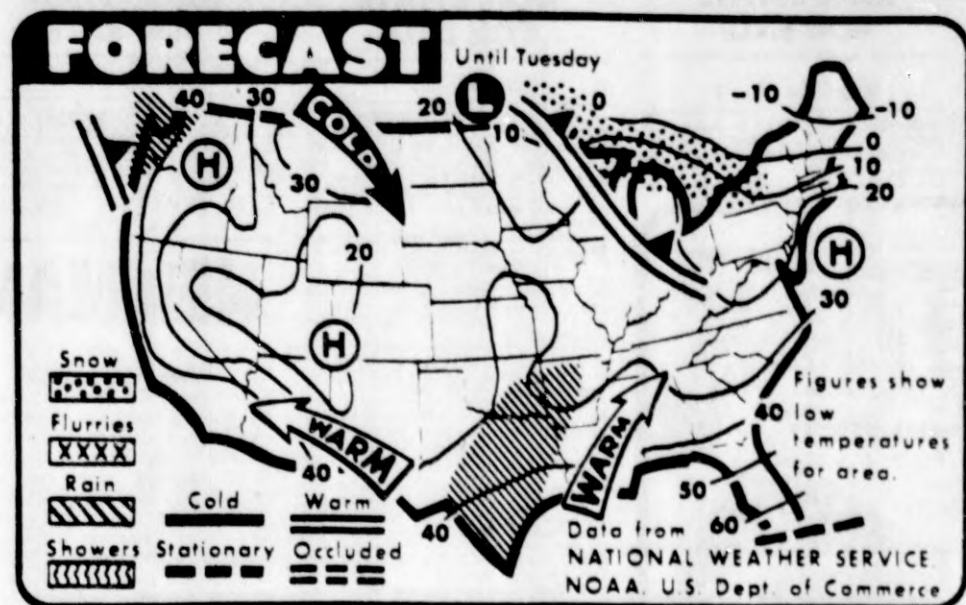

The defect could allow the shoulder belt to tear loose if extreme force is exerted, such as during an accident, the company said.

The second campaign involves 36,100 two-and four-door 1976 models which may have been built with incorrect fastener nuts securing the front suspension upper arms to the body structure.

The improper nuts could cause cracks to develop at the upper arm mounting-bolt holes after extended mileage, Ford said, causing a steering pull, a change in alignment, and eventually — if the problem is unattended — a separation of the upper arm suspension assembly.

The company said the problems were detected in laboratory testing and there have been no reports of either condition from owners of the vehicles.

Ford added that all vehicles involved in the recalls will be inspected and correct parts will be installed if necessary at no charge to the owner. About 8,700 of the cars involved are in Canada and overseas.

INSIDERS' GUIDE

Black Firm Will Move Into City

DETROIT (AP) — Womac Industries, a black-owned manufacturer of metal tubing used by the automotive industry, says it will vacate its suburban plant for a facility within the city.

The firm is leaving the 16,000 square-foot plant in Pontiac "because we've outgrown it," company president Joel Mallory said.

Now five years old, Womac has 80 employees. The company speculated the move to a 60,000 square-foot plant in Detroit could result in hiring of up to 120 more employees and a $1.5 million payroll next year.

Detroit Bank Prime Rate Now Is 6.25%

DETROIT (AP) — The National Bank of Detroit said it will roll back its prime interest rate from 6 1/2 to 6 1/4 per cent.

The decrease is effective today, bank officials said.

LMC Coeds Get All-Star Recognition In Volleyball

Two Lake Michigan College coeds have been given athletic recognition for their college volleyball performance during the regular season and in tournaments.

Chris Knuth, a St. Joseph sophomore, received an All-State rating by the Michigan volleyball coaches of the National Junior College Athletic Association for her playing ability throughout the season. She was one of 12 women from two-year colleges across Michigan picked as All-State on the basis of their all-around play in every aspect of the sport.

A 1974 graduate of St. Joseph high school and a participant in only one year of high school volleyball, Miss Knuth is the first LMC coed to be awarded All-State honors for athletic competition, according to Liz Miller, LMC coach and physical education instructor.

Janet Hess, an LMC freshman and a graduate of Buchanan high school, was named All-Region for her playing skill at the Regional tournament in November at Schoolcraft Community College, Livonia, Mich. Teams at the tournament from whom All-Region players were selected by a committee of three judges were from two-year colleges in Ohio and Michigan. Twelve women were selected by the committee for the All-Region designation.

Miss Hess graduated from high school in 1976 after three years of volleyball playing as a member of the high school team.

The two LMC honors represent the first to come from the college's volleyball program.

Rough Toledo Is Winner In Penalty-Filled Game

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
If you don't think crime pays, you should hang around Toledo when the Goaldiggers are playing hockey.

The Goaldiggers, who admit they like their hockey rough and tumble, muscled their way to a 5-1 International Hockey League victory over Columbus in a game marred by 133 minutes in penalties Sunday night.

In other IHL action, the Flint General blasted the Dayton Gems, 9-4; the Saginaw Gears trounced the Fort Wayne Komets, 8-2, and the Port Huron Flags defeated the Muskegon Mohawks, 5-2.

"People here don't want European hockey," Goaldigger coach and general manager Ted Garvin said before the game. "They want physical hockey. That's been proven by the way the Goaldiggers draw."

Don Westbrook had a pair of goals for Toledo while Jim Johnston, Jerry Badiuk, and Brian McKenzie had one each.

Bill Bennett scored the only goal for the Owls.

The victory put Toledo one percentage point ahead of Columbus and permitted the Goaldiggers to replace the Owls in second place in the IHL's South Division.

Defenseman Mike Ruest scored three goals as Saginaw trounced Fort Wayne. Wayne Zuk and Dennis Desrosiers each scored twice for the Gears. Dave Westner has a single goal.

Jim Koleff chalked up three goals and Mike Clarke and Mike Powers added two apiece as the Flint blasted Dayton.

Mike McDougal and Len Fontaine each contributed two goals as the Flags shot down Muskegon.

Ernie Moser and Garth MacGuigan tallied solo goals for the Mohawks, who fell to 12-13-3.

Miami Tunes Up For Clash With Cincy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Something has to give this week. Miami's Mid-American Conference basketball favorites brace for neighborhood rival Cincinnati, the nation's

Roadrunner Win Paced By Skibbe

DOWAGIAC — Joel Skibbe scored 24 points to lead Southwestern Michigan College to a 91-69 win over Triton College here Saturday night.

Skibbe, with his best night of the year, hit 66 per cent from the floor, including seven of nine field goals made in the second half.

Also in double figures for the Roadrunners, now 3-5 on the season, were Jerry Thomas with 19 and Mel Carpenter and Paul Daniels with 10 each.

Pacing the 5-4 Triton team were Manuel Wilborn with 19, Keith Anderson scored 15 and Bill Stanley notched 12.

Southwestern made 41 of 83 shots from the field for a credible 49.4 per cent. Triton connected on just 29 of 65 for 44.6 per cent.

Carpenter pulled down nine rebounds and Dave Barnes eight to lead SMC in that department.

SMC opens defense of their Western Collegiate Conference crown Wednesday night, hosting Kellogg Community College.

Both tuned up for their summit meeting Wednesday night with impressive decisions Saturday, preserving their unbeaten status. Cincinnati is 5-0, Miami 4-0.

Miami's forwards, Archie Aldridge and Randy Ayers, combined for 45 points as the Redskins skipped by New Orleans 73-71. Another forward, Brian Williams, reached a career high 29 points, leading Cincinnati to a 122-78 lesson on St. Joseph's, Ind.

Elsewhere in the MAC Saturday, Central Michigan thumped Oakland 120-64, Ohio University whipped neighboring Marietta 75-62, Eastern Michigan lost at the overtime buzzer to Michigan State 54-52 and Ball State was an 80-69 cropper against Indiana State.

Those were all nonconference rumbles ahead of the first MAC game of the season Tuesday night, Toledo at defending champion Western Michigan.

Aldridge scored 23 points and Ayers 22 while Rich Babcock's two free throws wrapped up the Miami decision. For Cincinnati, the 6-foot-6 Williams sank 12 of 21 floor shots to help the Bearcats register their fourth verdict by 30 or more points.

"We had a chance to put them away," Ohio Coach Dale Bandy said of Marietta, "but we were impatient offensively. We weren't sharp coming off final exams week."

The 2-1 Bobcats wrapped up the decision by sinking 31 of 35 free throws. Steve Skaggs had 31 points and 13 rebounds for Ohio. Gary Hursey hit 23 for Marietta.

Jim Holstein, the coach of 1-3 Ball State, had just watched Indiana State's Larry Bird score 25 points, saying, "Their defense and Bird won the ball game. We are offensively."

Robert Sims had 18 for Ball State, no closer than 49-43 in the second half.

Ben Poquette equaled his career high with 30 points to lead Central Michigan, 4-2, to its school record decision over Oakland. The Chippewas' previous single game scoring mark was 117 against Ohio two seasons ago.

Jerry McCain matched a personal best for Central Michigan with 22 points, hitting all nine of his second-half shots.

Meanwhile, Dayton, once among the best of the nation's independents that had fallen on bad times, is on the comeback trail. The Flyers are 4-0 for the first time since 1968-69 after walloping Los Angeles Loyola 71-48.

"We played very well with the lead," said Flyers' Coach Don Donohue. "We kept our poise."

Xavier, another major Ohio independent, wasn't as fortunate. The 2-2 Musketeers took a 63-61 consolation loss from Seattle in the Brigham Young tournament.
